Warren Is Sworn As 14th Chief of U.S.SupremeCourt

President, Mrs. Eisenhower Attend Ceremony in Washington; Court Then Convenes

Washington, Oct. 5 (AP)—Earl Warren became the 14th chief justice of the United States at 12:06 p. m. today.

President Eisenhower looked on as the former California governor raised his right hand and took an oath to give justice impartially to the poor and to the rich—and thus became the nation's highest judicial officer.

Was With President

Mrs. Eisenhower was with the President.

Mrs. Warren was also there, in a blue suit which had small red dots and a flat red hat. On her shoulder was a large lavender orchid.

She beamed through the brief ceremony.

While the eight associate justices and the audience stood, Warren raised his hand and read the oath standing before the court clerk, Harold B. Willey.

Huben Is Elected New President of NY Sports Council

Edward M. Huben of Rosendale, executive director of the Ulster-Greene Counties Vacationland area and also active in the New York State Travel Council, was elected president of the New York State Winter Sports Council at its annual conference held Friday and Saturday at Lake Placid. Huben had served as vice president.

The New York State Winter Sports Council has promoted winter sports activities of the state for the past ten years, particularly the interests of the ski centers and areas located throughout the state.

Elected first vice president was James M. Muiry, superintendent of the Whiteface Mountain Ski Center; second vice president is E. Maltbie Schupp of the East Orange County Ski Center of Newburgh; secretary is Arthur G. Draper, superintendent of the Belleayre Mountain Ski Center at Pine Hill; treasurer is Robert L. Carr of the New York State Education Department at Albany and the executive secretary is Joseph J. Horan, director of the New York State Travel Bureau at Albany.

Promotion Discussed

At the conference numerous issues were discussed and plans laid for promoting skiing in the state areas. Skiing in the Ulster

GOP Unity Cracks At High Levels

President May Take Action to Restore Harmony in Washington

Washington, Oct. 5 (AP) — Republican unity gave signs of developing cracks at high levels today, with some indications that President Eisenhower may have to take a hand to restore harmony.

Sen. Bridges (R.-N.H.) jolted administration officials with a weekend announcement that the Senate Appropriations Committee probably will call Foreign Operations Administrator Harold E. Stassen on the carpet to explain what Bridges called "capricious" job firings in his agency.

Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP floor leader, made it clear on his return from a world tour that he will oppose a proposal by Sen. Capehart (R.-Ind.) to make the chairmen of 15 regular legislative committee members of the Senate Republican policy committee.

Republican Endorsement

Bridges' statement, issued through his office here, gave something of a Republican endorsement to frequently voiced Democratic complaints that dismissals of federal employes—as Bridges put it—"worked inequities on personnel and had impaired the efficiency of the organization."

Stassen's aides replied that in firing workers they were only fol-

Holy Name Rally Is Held at Stadium; Asks Funds for Christianity

Kingston's Municipal Stadium was transformed into a setting for a gigantic religious pageant Sunday afternoon, when the Most Rev. Bishop Fulton J. Sheen addressed approximately 10,000 men, women and children of all faiths, touching on world peace through prayer and propagation of the Roman Catholic faith through missionaries and religious orders.

The big athletic field looked like an open-air cathedral with a specially built altar of blue and gold that glistened in the bright October sunshine that favored the occasion sponsored by Ulster and Sullivan Counties Division of the Archdiocesan Holy Name Union.

A crowd of laymen and those in religious life filled the spacious grandstand that holds 2,300, bleachers on the opposite side of the field accommodated 1,300, special seats for members of the clergy covered a large part of the baseball diamond, and several thousand standees jammed the portion of the grounds near the altar. Many who rode to the stadium in cars remained in their vehicles parked around the top of the bank that overlooks the field.

Receives Ovation

Bishop Sheen, the nation's leading commentator on radio and television, received a great ovation from the assemblage when he was introduced by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury, VF, pastor

Navy's New Plane Regains Measured Course Record

Thermal, Calif., Oct. 5 (AP)—Streaking an average of 753.4 M.P.H., the navy's new F4D Skyway interceptor has won back the world's measured course record for the United States and now will be given further tests at sea.

Lt. Cmdr. James B. Verdin, 35, youthful looking combat hero of both World War 2 and Korea, piloted the jet flying type Douglas plane to the new record Saturday about 150 feet above the hot sands along Southern California's Salton Sea.

The Skyway is designed for use of carriers to protect the fleet from attack and is now scheduled for sea duty aboard a flat top for further tests.

On each of his four arrow straight passes over the 3 kilometer (1.863 mile) course, Verdin averaged each mile in less than five seconds. His fastest pass—761.414 M.P.H.—was only 31 less than the speed of sound along the course where the mercury read 98.5 degrees. Sonic speed varies with temperature and altitude.

Verdin and the Skyway erased the 737.3 M.P.H. record set by British Cmdr. Mike Lithgow in a Vickers Supermarine Swift at Libya only last Sept. 25. In recapturing the record from Britain, Verdin also set a tough mark for competitors both in this country and abroad. Under the Federation Aeronautique Internationale rules, a new record must surpass the old by one per cent or more. Thus to take the title from the Skyway, a plane must average almost 761 M.P.H.

Considered probable challengers are North American Aviation's F100 Super Sabre, the British Hawker Hunter and the Supermarine Swift.

In becoming the first carrier plane ever to hold the record, the Skyway nosed into the abrupt drag rise area of compressibility

Allied Command Asked to Start Work Upon Facilities; Could Start in Week

Panmunjom, Oct. 5 (AP) — The Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission moved today to get underway the long-delayed explanations to some 22,600 anti-Red war prisoners why they should return home.

The NNRC asked the allied command to start work on both temporary and permanent facilities where Red representatives will try to talk the 7,900 Koreans and 14,700 Chinese into returning to communism.

The interviews could begin within a week at the temporary site.

The truce agreement called for the interviews to begin by Sept. 26 and end 90 days later—Dec. 24.

Lost in Haggling

However, the target date was lost in a flurry of haggling over the interview buildings.

The Communists have demanded 32 permanent-type structures, which are to be built by the UN command.

They, in turn, were building sites for the allies to interview 359 allied POWS — including 23 Americans and 1 Briton — who have refused to return home.

The Indian command, which is in charge of the balky POWS of both sides, Monday took over 10 structures built by the Reds for UNC interviewers.

Apparently No Hurry

Although the UNC, too, probably could begin interviews within a week, it apparently is in no hurry. An allied high officer said explanations probably would not start before two weeks.

Communist newsman Wilfred Burchett, sometimes an unofficial Red spokesman, told reporters Monday the Communists presumably would begin their explanations in a week provided its temporary centers are ready.

Meanwhile, South Korea's acting foreign minister, Cho Chung Whan, threatened again Monday that his government would order the ROK army "to fight them (the Indians) if they continue to act hostile to us."

Cho threatened Saturday "to drive the irresponsible Indian troops out of Korea" by armed force if the NNRC and the Indians "do not rectify immediately the acts being committed."

Indian guards have killed 3 POWs and wounded 10 in camp disturbances.

Clean-Cut Evidence

Cho said "the acts . . . are clean cut evidence of their (the NNRC and the Indians) pro-Communist character."

Cho's threat Saturday was an official protest to Indian Maj. Gen. S. P. P. Thorat, relayed through Gen. Maxwell Taylor, U. S. 8th Army commander. His second warning was given before the National Assembly in Seoul.

The allied command pinned all blame for the delay in explanations on the Reds.

The UNC said Monday it had an explanation site built to Indian specifications completed four days before the interviews were to begin Sept. 26. It said that on Sept. 27 the NNRC requested more facilities, which were started the same day, but work was halted one day later at the request of the NNRC.

Designs Submitted

The allies said in their statement the NNRC last Friday submitted designs for three new explanation areas and were told

Gail Is Stationary

Miami, Fla., Oct. 5 (AP)—Hurricane Gail hung almost stationary far out over the Atlantic today, nearly 2,500 miles southeast of the Florida mainland. "Present reports are that the storm has moved very little over the weekend," said Cecil Gentry, storm warning forecaster in the Miami Weather Bureau. A hurricane hunter plane was to fly into the tropical disturbance during the day but its departure from San Juan, Puerto Rico, was delayed by mechanical difficulty.

Long Island Man Had Heart Attack

Cairo, Oct. 5 (AP)—State police said that Henry Jans, 52, of Rego Park, L. I., died of a heart attack Saturday seconds before his automobile left Route 23 near this Greene county village.

Jans' wife, a passenger in the car, was not injured in the accident.

Dr. Vincent Tuzio, a coroner's physician, said Jans died from natural causes.

ClarenceMcCarthy Dies at Hospital; Was Noted Artist

CLARENCE J. McCARTHY

Woodstock, Oct. 5—Clarence J. McCarthy, 65, Woodstock artist, who had known this community through nearly all of its years as an artists' colony, died Saturday afternoon at the Benedictine Hospital.

"Mac," as he was affectionately known here, and among his professional associates in New York and elsewhere, began his career when American illustrators were setting new standards to inspire young men who entered the field. He achieved top notice within a few years after his start as an illustrator in New York, for many years illustrated for the nation's outstanding fiction writers, and then decided upon a career of high art.

Along the way, Mac's career had been as colorful and interesting as a man would want. As a student, and for some time later, he worked as a model. He posed for many illustrators, who were famous before he began, including Charles Dana Gibson, creator of the Gibson Girl of the pre-World-War-1 days. Mac also, in those years, had a turn at motion picture acting and professional dancing.

Artist on Paper

A native of Rochester, he began as a teen-ager preparing himself for the career that was to come. Before leaving to study in New York, he became proficient enough to serve as a staff artist for the Rochester Herald and he had also found time to become an expert photo engraver.

Woodstockers, who have known Mac through the years, recall him as one of the first few men who came to the community when the Art Students League opened its first school only a few years after Woodstock began as an art colony in 1902. Since those early years he always kept contact with Woodstock, and within the past 20 years he returned to become a permanent resident.

Mac handled any medium well to produce his portraits and landscapes, but in recent years devoted most of his time to painting in oils. The community knew him as a worker in his studio and again for his willingness and unselfish efforts to help along any worthy cause. These efforts included the benefit or fund-raising shows and organization and promotion of fund-raising shows and many in-

Says Wagner Proved 'Real Flop' in Office

Following is the text of the telegram sent today by Lt. Gov. Arthur H. Wicks to Robert F. Wagner, Jr.:

Robert F. Wagner, Jr.
Borough Hall
New York

I am answering your impertinent demand that I resign solely for the purpose of getting certain facts upon the record.

First, I shall not resign any position I now hold.

Second, I never interceded with anyone for a good conduct certificate for Thomas Luchese. All that I did in connection with the Luchese matter was to cause an investigation to be made regarding him, his friends and associates and to send the result of the investigation to the Parole Board. I made no request or recommendation whatsoever. The record will bear me out in this regard.

No Track Connections

Third, I have had no connection with the Yonkers and Roosevelt Raceways and your attempt to indicate otherwise is typical of the smear tactics you have always employed.

For your information, I visited Joseph Fay for the sole purpose of serving the best interests of the working people in my district. I did not create the deplorable condition that permits a convict to continue to be a power in labor circles even though he is serving a prison term. The coddling of labor racketeers by the New Deal and the Fair Deal created that condition and permitted convicts and thugs to gain and keep control of many labor unions to the detriment of honest working men.

'What Have You Done?'

Now, let's talk about you. What have you done during your four year term as Borough President of Manhattan?

The racketeers are in control of the New York Docks, Waterfronts and other vital industries. You have done absolutely nothing about correcting this condition, even though it has been a matter of great public interest and concern during your term of office.

I have known you since your days in the State Assembly where you succeeded in accomplishing nothing. Your career in the Assembly and every other public office you have ever held marks you as a real flop. You have earned a reputation for incompetency that has few equals in political history. It strains my credulity to understand how a major political party can attempt to foist a man so lacking in ability upon the people of your great city as their mayor.

Death Car Hits Tree At Road Intersection

Four Kingston residents were killed when the car in which they were riding crashed head-on into a tree at Palenville early Sunday morning.

The dead:

James Joseph Milano, 27, of 89 West Union street, listed by state police as driver of the automobile.

Harry R. Playford, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Playford of 58 Ann street.

Rose Marie Bohan, 17, daughter of Mary Drumm Bohan and the late Patrick Bohan of 48 Broadway.

Agnes Gillespie, 15, daughter of Dorothy Bailey LaRocco of 44 Post street.

State police of the Catskill station reported the four local persons were pinned in the 1948 sedan after it failed to make a right curve after passing under the traffic signal at the intersection of Routes 23A and 32A at Palenville in Greene county and crashed inta a large maple tree.

Milano Last to Die

All except Milano were killed instantly, troopers said. He died a few minutes after being removed from the wreckage.

State police reported the automobile apparently had been traveling downgrade at a high rate of speed. The car was demolished, and its motor thrown 50 feet from the chasis, the troopers said. Hubcaps were found 300 feet away.

Verdicts of accidental death were issued by Greene County Coroner Mahlon Atkinson. He said Milano died of internal injuries, Miss Bohan of a fractured neck, Playford and Miss Gillespie of fractured skulls.

The two men were riding in the front seat and the two girls in the rear, according to the report.

Investigating Officers

Investigating with Coroner Atkinson were Corporals F. C. Knight, BCI, and C. J. Crommie and Troopers H. T. Smetana and C. R. Smith, all of Catskill.

The bodies were removed to the Millspaugh Funeral Home in Catskill and later transferred to Kingston.

A double funeral is planned for Thursday morning for Miss Bohan and Miss Gillespie. The funeral will be at 8:45 a. m. Thursday from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home, and from St. Mary's Church at 9:30 a. m., where a

TrackLicenseesMustAnswer Questionnaires Under Oath

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—All eight licensees of trotting tracks in New York state will be required by the State Harness Racing Commission to answer detailed financial questionnaires under oath.

The questionnaires will be sent out tonight or tomorrow morning and they must be returned within one week after receipt, according to a source close to the commission track investigations who declined use of his name.

If the licensees don't answer, "they'll be in trouble," the source said.

The questionnaires, revealed yesterday, are part of the commission's statewide investigation of harness race tracks which has been centered so far on Yonkers Raceway and Roosevelt Raceway.

Westchester County District Attorney Samuel Faile today opens his own investigation of Yonkers Raceway at suburban Yonkers. Atwood C. Wolf, vice president and executive secretary of the raceway, is scheduled to be the first witness.

Nassau County District Attorney Frank A. Gulotta said 75 to 100 more present and former employes of Roosevelt Raceway at Westbury would be questioned today in his continuing investigation of that track.

Gulotta issued an appeal to the public to report to him anything they might know about corruption at the track.

The statewide questionnaires of the Harness Race Commission will cover any kickbacks by operators or employes to union leaders or public officials; any payments to "labor trouble shooters" and payments by concessionaires.

Also covered will be the origin of track ownerships even before

Denies Any Intercession for Luchese, Declares Democrats Cause of 'Deplorable' System

"I shall not resign any position I now hold," Lt. Gov. Arthur H. Wicks declared in a telegram today answering Manhattan Borough President Robert F. Wagner's "impertinent demand" that Wicks quit his post because of his visits to convicted extortioner Joseph Fay in Sing Sing Prison.

Wicks charged that it was the "coddling of labor racketeers by the New Deal and the Fair Deal" which created the condition which permitted Fay to continue to be a power in labor circles even though he is serving a prison term.

Wicks had stated previously that he visited Fay on several occasions to help prevent labor troubles on highway and water supply projects in this Senatorial district.

The telegram addressed to Wagner, Democratic candidate for mayor of New York, was dispatched through the Kingston office of Western Union at 12:15 p. m. today. Its text was released simultaneously to the press by Lt. Gov. Wicks at his office in this city.

Charges Are Hurled

The telegram also hurled several counter-charges at Wagner, whom Wicks accused of doing "absolutely nothing" during his four years as borough president of Manhattan about correcting a condition in which "racketeers are in control of the New York docks, waterfronts and other vital industries."

"Your career in the Assembly and every other public office you have ever held marks you as a flop," Wicks' telegram to Wagner stated.

No Luchese Request

Wicks also contended he made no request or recommendation concerning Thomas Luchese and never interceded with anyone for a good conduct certificate for him. All he did, Wicks said, was to cause an investigation to be made and send the result of the investigation to the Parole Board.

The Kingston Republican leader also denied having any connection with the Yonkers and Roosevelt Raceways.

Derides Balch Statement

In a statement earlier to The Associated Press, Wicks commented on a declaration by Richard H. Balch, Democratic state chairman, that Wicks had "destroyed the faith of the people in him" by his visits to Fay.

"If Mr. Balch thinks I have shaken the faith of my people, he ought to come into my district and see how the people feel about me," Wicks said.

Balch, after echoing Wagner's demand for Wick's resignation from the lieutenant governor post, went on to demand an investigation of what made Fay a power in labor circles while serving a prison term.

Asks Probe of System

Wicks, in his reply this morning to a telephone call from the Associated Press, said the thing requiring investigation "is the system that made it necessary for me to go down there. These labor leaders never got their power under Republicans—they got it under Democrats, and all for votes."

The furore which has had repercussions in two states — New York and New Jersey—broke out last week with the disclosure of 80 names, topped by that of Lt.

In a legal notice published in The Freeman September 24 announcing a special election of the qualified voters of the Accord Fire District of the Town of Rochester to be held October 8, the amount of the serial bonds was listed in error by The Freeman. Under the title, Proposition, it was stated that the resolution authorizing the construction and equipment of the proposed fire hall provided for the issuance of $25,000,000 worth of serial bonds. Balch, after echoing Wagner's demand for Wick's resignation from the lieutenant governor post, went on to demand an investigation of what made Fay a power in labor circles while serving a prison term.

Asks Probe of System

Wicks, in his reply this morning to a telephone call from the Associated Press, said the thing requiring investigation "is the system that made it necessary for me to go down there. These labor leaders never got their power under Republicans—they got it under Democrats, and all for votes."

The furore which has had repercussions in two states — New York and New Jersey—broke out last week with the disclosure of 80 names, topped by that of Lt.

Warren Is Sworn As 14th Chief of U.S.SupremeCourt

President, Mrs. Eisenhower Attend Ceremony in Washington; Court Then Convenes

Washington, Oct. 5 (AP)—Earl Warren became the 14th chief justice of the United States at 12:06 p. m. today.

President Eisenhower looked on as the former California governor raised his right hand and took an oath to give justice impartially to the poor and to the rich—and thus became the nation's highest judicial officer.

Was With President

Mrs. Eisenhower was with the President.

Mrs. Warren was also there, in a blue suit which had small red dots and a flat red hat. On her shoulder was a large lavender orchid.

She beamed through the brief ceremony.

While the eight associate justices and the audience stood, Warren raised his hand and read the oath standing before the court clerk, Harold B. Willey.

Huben Is Elected New President of NY Sports Council

Edward M. Huben of Rosendale, executive director of the Ulster-Greene Counties Vacationland area and also active in the New York State Travel Council, was elected president of the New York State Winter Sports Council at its annual conference held Friday and Saturday at Lake Placid. Huben had served as vice president.

The New York State Winter Sports Council has promoted winter sports activities of the state for the past ten years, particularly the interests of the ski centers and areas located throughout the state.

Elected first vice president was James M. Muiry, superintendent of the Whiteface Mountain Ski Center; second vice president is E. Maltbie Schupp of the East Orange County Ski Center of Newburgh; secretary is Arthur G. Draper, superintendent of the Belleayre Mountain Ski Center at Pine Hill; treasurer is Robert L. Carr of the New York State Education Department at Albany and the executive secretary is Joseph J. Horan, director of the New York State Travel Bureau at Albany.

Promotion Discussed

At the conference numerous issues were discussed and plans laid for promoting skiing in the state areas. Skiing in the Ulster

GOP Unity Cracks At High Levels

President May Take Action to Restore Harmony in Washington

Washington, Oct. 5 (AP) — Republican unity gave signs of developing cracks at high levels today, with some indications that President Eisenhower may have to take a hand to restore harmony.

Sen. Bridges (R.-N.H.) jolted administration officials with a weekend announcement that the Senate Appropriations Committee probably will call Foreign Operations Administrator Harold E. Stassen on the carpet to explain what Bridges called "capricious" job firings in his agency.

Sen. Knowland of California, the GOP floor leader, made it clear on his return from a world tour that he will oppose a proposal by Sen. Capehart (R.-Ind.) to make the chairmen of 15 regular legislative committee members of the Senate Republican policy committee.

Republican Endorsement

Bridges' statement, issued through his office here, gave something of a Republican endorsement to frequently voiced Democratic complaints that dismissals of federal employes—as Bridges put it—"worked inequities on personnel and had impaired the efficiency of the organization."

Stassen's aides replied that in firing workers they were only fol-

Holy Name Rally Is Held at Stadium; Asks Funds for Christianity

Kingston's Municipal Stadium was transformed into a setting for a gigantic religious pageant Sunday afternoon, when the Most Rev. Bishop Fulton J. Sheen addressed approximately 10,000 men, women and children of all faiths, touching on world peace through prayer and propagation of the Roman Catholic faith through missionaries and religious orders.

The big athletic field looked like an open-air cathedral with a specially built altar of blue and gold that glistened in the bright October sunshine that favored the occasion sponsored by Ulster and Sullivan Counties Division of the Archdiocesan Holy Name Union.

A crowd of laymen and those in religious life filled the spacious grandstand that holds 2,300, bleachers on the opposite side of the field accommodated 1,300, special seats for members of the clergy covered a large part of the baseball diamond, and several thousand standees jammed the portion of the grounds near the altar. Many who rode to the stadium in cars remained in their vehicles parked around the top of the bank that overlooks the field.

Receives Ovation

Bishop Sheen, the nation's leading commentator on radio and television, received a great ovation from the assemblage when he was introduced by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. Martin J. Drury, VF, pastor

Navy's New Plane Regains Measured Course Record

Thermal, Calif., Oct. 5 (AP)—Streaking an average of 753.4 M.P.H., the navy's new F4D Skyway interceptor has won back the world's measured course record for the United States and now will be given further tests at sea.

Lt. Cmdr. James B. Verdin, 35, youthful looking combat hero of both World War 2 and Korea, piloted the jet flying type Douglas plane to the new record Saturday about 150 feet above the hot sands along Southern California's Salton Sea.

The Skyway is designed for use of carriers to protect the fleet from attack and is now scheduled for sea duty aboard a flat top for further tests.

On each of his four arrow straight passes over the 3 kilometer (1.863 mile) course, Verdin averaged each mile in less than five seconds. His fastest pass—761.414 M.P.H.—was only 31 less than the speed of sound along the course where the mercury read 98.5 degrees. Sonic speed varies with temperature and altitude.

Verdin and the Skyway erased the 737.3 M.P.H. record set by British Cmdr. Mike Lithgow in a Vickers Supermarine Swift at Libya only last Sept. 25. In recapturing the record from Britain, Verdin also set a tough mark for competitors both in this country and abroad. Under the Federation Aeronautique Internationale rules, a new record must surpass the old by one per cent or more. Thus to take the title from the Skyway, a plane must average almost 761 M.P.H.

Considered probable challengers are North American Aviation's F100 Super Sabre, the British Hawker Hunter and the Supermarine Swift.

In becoming the first carrier plane ever to hold the record, the Skyway nosed into the abrupt drag rise area of compressibility

Death Car Hits Tree At Road Intersection

Four Kingston residents were killed when the car in which they were riding crashed head-on into a tree at Palenville early Sunday morning.

The dead:

James Joseph Milano, 27, of 89 West Union street, listed by state police as driver of the automobile.

Harry R. Playford, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roscoe Playford of 58 Ann street.

Rose Marie Bohan, 17, daughter of Mary Drumm Bohan and the late Patrick Bohan of 48 Broadway.

Agnes Gillespie, 15, daughter of Dorothy Bailey LaRocco of 44 Post street.

State police of the Catskill station reported the four local persons were pinned in the 1948 sedan after it failed to make a right curve after passing under the traffic signal at the intersection of Routes 23A and 32A at Palenville in Greene county and crashed inta a large maple tree.

Milano Last to Die

All except Milano were killed instantly, troopers said. He died a few minutes after being removed from the wreckage.

State police reported the automobile apparently had been traveling downgrade at a high rate of speed. The car was demolished, and its motor thrown 50 feet from the chasis, the troopers said. Hubcaps were found 300 feet away.

Verdicts of accidental death were issued by Greene County Coroner Mahlon Atkinson. He said Milano died of internal injuries, Miss Bohan of a fractured neck, Playford and Miss Gillespie of fractured skulls.

The two men were riding in the front seat and the two girls in the rear, according to the report.

Investigating Officers

Investigating with Coroner Atkinson were Corporals F. C. Knight, BCI, and C. J. Crommie and Troopers H. T. Smetana and C. R. Smith, all of Catskill.

The bodies were removed to the Millspaugh Funeral Home in Catskill and later transferred to Kingston.

A double funeral is planned for Thursday morning for Miss Bohan and Miss Gillespie. The funeral will be at 8:45 a. m. Thursday from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home, and from St. Mary's Church at 9:30 a. m., where a

TrackLicenseesMustAnswer Questionnaires Under Oath

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—All eight licensees of trotting tracks in New York state will be required by the State Harness Racing Commission to answer detailed financial questionnaires under oath.

The questionnaires will be sent out tonight or tomorrow morning and they must be returned within one week after receipt, according to a source close to the commission track investigations who declined use of his name.

If the licensees don't answer, "they'll be in trouble," the source said.

The questionnaires, revealed yesterday, are part of the commission's statewide investigation of harness race tracks which has been centered so far on Yonkers Raceway and Roosevelt Raceway.

Westchester County District Attorney Samuel Faile today opens his own investigation of Yonkers Raceway at suburban Yonkers. Atwood C. Wolf, vice president and executive secretary of the raceway, is scheduled to be the first witness.

Nassau County District Attorney Frank A. Gulotta said 75 to 100 more present and former employes of Roosevelt Raceway at Westbury would be questioned today in his continuing investigation of that track.

Gulotta issued an appeal to the public to report to him anything they might know about corruption at the track.

The statewide questionnaires of the Harness Race Commission will cover any kickbacks by operators or employes to union leaders or public officials; any payments to "labor trouble shooters" and payments by concessionaires.

Also covered will be the origin of track ownerships even before

$25,000 Bond Issue

In a legal notice published in The Freeman September 24 announcing a special election of the qualified voters of the Accord Fire District of the Town of Rochester to be held October 8, the amount of the serial bonds was listed in error by The Freeman. Under the title, Proposition, it was stated that the resolution authorizing the construction and equipment of the proposed fire hall provided for the issuance of $25,000,000 worth of serial bonds. This figure should have been listed as $25,000.

Salvation Army Week Proclaimed

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk today issued a proclamation in behalf of Salvation Army Week from Oct. 5 to 11.

Since the Salvation Army during 50 years in Kingston has "befriended, aided and given new hope to thousands of Kingstonians," and now appeals for funds, the mayor said, "I, Oscar V. Newkirk, Mayor of the City of Kingston, do hereby proclaim the week of Oct. 5 to Oct. 11 as Salvation Army Week."

The mayor noted that the Salvation Army has served the nation in peace and in war, and he urged all of the people of the city to support its "great program of humanitarian service."

of St. Mary's Church, and dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties.

His magnetic personality captivated the crowd immediately as he opened his address in a humorous vein that made his listeners feel as though they had known him a long time, and his gifted manner of delivery impressed the audience with the importance of his message.

As national director for the Society for Propagation of the Faith, Bishop Sheen urged donations for promotion of Christianity, and remarked that Catholics in the United States last year gave on the average of only 20 cents, or less than the price of a pack of cigarettes for the cause.

Pleading for donations to missionary causes, the Bishop stressed that "the church must grow proportionately all over the world," if the Holy Father is to carry on as the Vicar of Christ and observe His directive to "teach all nations."

Missionaries Are Needed

Bishop Sheen said more missionaries are needed to spread the Gospel and emphasized that those who have labored in foreign lands had planted the seed of Christianity so deeply that religion is one of the strongest weapons against Communism, even in China where many have clung to their church in spite of the concentrated efforts to spread the Red doctrine.

"Every family should have a priest, nun or brother," he said, and suggested that if religious vocations are lacking, there is a means of "adopting someone," who has been endowed with "the Divine call" to spread the faith.

Bishop Sheen advised that his listeners be generous in donating to the cause of propagating the faith on Mission Sunday, Oct. 18, when collections will be made in Catholic churches to be sent to the Holy Father to assist in educating those with religious vocations.

Tht Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph A. McCaffrey, PA, also urged interest in propagation of the faith in his remarks as director of the Archdiocesan Holy Name Union.

Children in Procession

Preliminaries to the address by Bishop Sheen included a procession of children dressed in the garb of various religious orders, led by the Port Ewen Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps and the Color Guard from Kingston Post, 150, American Legion. Brief histories of the communities for priests, nuns and brothers were read by Richard McCarthy, radio commentator, who was narrator for the program.

Also in the procession were the Fourth Degree Assembly of Kingston Council, 275, Knights of Columbus, members of the clergy and altar boys.

The Rev. Joseph D. Ostermann, formerly of St. Peter's Church, sang the National Anthem, and led in community singing of hymns. The Rev. John D. Simmons of St. Joseph's Church, chairman of committees, was assisted by other priests of the area in directing activities at the stadium, the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, Kingston; the Rev. James Dunnigan, Sawkill; the Rev. James L. Riordan, Woodstock; the Rev. Ambrose Murphy, Wilbur; the Rev. Vincent D. Mulry, Rosendale and the Rev. Joseph A. Wall, CSsR, Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus.

Bishop Sheen celebrated solemn benediction as the concluding feature at the altar which was erected and decorated by Mr. and Mrs. Tomas Penning of Woodstock.

Three Are Injured

Three persons were injured, apparently none seriously, in a two-car collision in St. Remy at 11:15 a. m. today, the sheriff's office reported. Nathan L. Feldman, 58, of 110 Wall street, was taken to Kingston Hospital for a physical check-up, sheriff's men said, and John Letus, 43, of Rifton and his daughter, Marion, 4, were to be treated by their own physician. Both automobiles were considerably damaged when they collided in St. Remy at the Union Center road intersection, according to Deputy Sheriff Arthur B. Smith, who investigated.

Man Killed, 12 Hurt In Mare Island Fire

Vallejo, Calif., Oct. 5 (AP)—More than 1,000 men fought a stubborn fire yesterday at Mare Island Navy Yard that caused one death, injured 12, and caused damage estimated at $200,000.

Shooting flames visible for miles, the spectacular blaze flared uncontrolled for hours after it was discovered well under way at a tar-soaked pier. The fire gutted 900 feet of pier and one navy tug and damaged three barges and three other tugs.

The damage estimate was made by navy spokesmen.

dividual efforts in behalf of a friend.

During the past few years he had handled both publicity and advertising for the Woodstock Playhouse and within those same years he was an instructor of fine and advertising arts at the Sexton Fells School in Kingston. He also held his own classes of instruction at his Woodstock studio.

Listed in Who's Who

McCarthy has been listed in Who's Who in Art for the past 30 years, and during his years as an illustrator in New York, his work appeared regularly in such top magazines as the Saturday Evening Post, The Ladies' Home Journal, Red Book, and other top periodicals.

A charter member of the Woodstock Country Club, he had also held membership in the Society of Illustrators, Artists and Writers and other clubs in New York open to professional men.

Helped With Club Shows

Mac had helped with shows for the country club and in 1948, he was the director of the highly successful "Don't Worry Mac" given for the benefit of the Woodstock Foundation at the Woodstock Playhouse. During recent years he has had several one-man shows at various galleries in Woodstock, the last of which was in 1952. He also assisted others in the showing of their works and during some of these efforts, it was found that Mac had a talent in the kitchen where he produced a special variety of hors d'oeuvres.

Surviving are several nieces and nephews. A requiem Mass will be offered at the St. Joan of Arc Chapel, Woodstock, Tuesday at 10 a. m., by the Rev. James L. Riordan. Burial in the Woodstock Cemetery will be private.

KPA Members Help Remove Stricken Man

Members of the Kingston Powerboat Association assisted in removing a man from an oil tanker in the Hudson river after local police were notified Sunday that the man was ill.

The report at 10:45 a. m., said police headquarters was notified from New York that the man was ill on the tanker near the Rondout lighthouse.

Police relayed the message to the powerboat association and Harry Jump's boat with Cleon Jump and his wife, a registered nurse, Harry Jump and Ray Radel went to the tanker and in 28 minutes had the man on his way to a marine hospital in New York, the report said.

Motor Sailboat Runs Aground Off Saugerties

A large motor sailboat ran aground about 11 p. m. Saturday in the Hudson river off the Old Long Dock in Saugerties, state police reported.

The boat, The Wanderer, out of Albany, was crewed by its owner, Robert Strickland of Washington avenue, Albany, his wife and a friend, Robert Sisson, state police said. They were removed last night by U. S. Coast Guard men from the Saugerties Light Station.

It was reported at the light station this noon that the light attendants have gone to the boat to see whether it can be freed.

Candidate Declines Esopus Designation

Joseph Zoda, who received the Democratic designation as candidate for supervisor of the town of Esopus, has filed a declination, the Board of Elections said today.

Since Saturday was the last day for filling vacancies, the fact that Zoda declined to run on the Democratic ticket leaves Edward R. Eckert, present supervisor and Republican candidate for re-election, unopposed for the office, unless notification is received by the Board of Elections postmarked on Saturday that a candidate had been named by the Democratic party.

Hearing Is Adjourned

Monticello, Oct. 5 (AP)—The hearing in the case of three Bronx men, indicted for the Labor Day slaying of Brooklyn butcher Israel Present, was adjourned today until Oct. 13 at the request of the defense. Charged with first degree murder are Raymond Rico, 23, Matthew Terrigno, 21, and Thomas O'Hara, 17. Present, 48, head of the Brooklyn Kosher Butcher Assn., was found dead near his summer cottage last Sept. 7. An autopsy report said he had been beaten and strangled by a gag.

Students Reinstated

The two Kingston High School students who were suspended for participation in rowdyism during the Kingston-Highland football game in the municipal stadium Sept. 27, have been reinstated, it was announced following a hearing at the high school this morning.

London Official To Tell of Fire Bombs During War

A first-hand account of the fire bombing of London during World War 2 will be given at an open meeting Tuesday night at the George Washington School by Chief Arthur Johnstone of the Surrey County Fire Brigade.

The Surrey County Brigade includes within its jurisdiction a large portion of the greater City of London.

Arrangements for Chief Johnstone's talk here were made by Ulster County Fire Coordinator Arthur C. Chipp, who also is deputy director for fire of the Ulster-Kingston Civil Defense, assisted by Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy of Kingston, chairman of the Ulster County Fire Advisory Board. Chief B. Richter Townsend of the Bureau of Fire, New York State Division of Safety, the Civil Defense Commission, the Ulster-Kingston Office of Civil Defense and the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association cooperated in the arrangements.

The speaker was one of the organizers and senior commanders of the fire fighting forces of London during the Blitz and fire raids. He came to this country to be the principal speaker at the conference of international fire chiefs, to be held in Toronto, and to address the annual convention of fire inspectors at Buffalo. Now returning to England, he has agreed to stop off in Kingston on Tuesday and tell of his experiences.

Open to Public

Invitations have been extended to fire and Civil Defense authorities in the surrounding counties of Greene, Dutchess, Orange and Sullivan to take advantage of this opportunity to hear this authority on combatting conflagrations resulting from enemy attack.

The public at large is also invited to attend.

The meeting will start at 8:30 p. m., and the doors will be opened at 7:30 o'clock. No admission charge will be made.

Lt. Echer, Family Escape Injury as Car Brakes Lock

Avon, Conn., Oct. 5 (AP)—Army Lieut. Donald C. Ecker, 30, of Kingston, N. Y., and his family escaped serious injury early today when the brakes locked as their car, pulling a 41-foot trailer, was headed down Avon Mountain.

Ecker, his wife, Vera, and their four children were riding in the tow car, the family sedan, when the brakes suddenly jammed.

Skidded Into Back of Car

State Police Officer James Duane said the trailer skidded into the back of the sedan, twisted, then slammed on its side, dragging the car off the road and smashing it into a fence.

The children, Donald, 9; Donna, 10; David, 8 and Daniel, 4, and their mother were taken to St. Francis Hospital, Hartford, where they were treated for bruises and cuts and released.

Lieut. Ecker recently transferred from Fort Devens, Mass., was headed for Fort Dix, N. J., when the accident occurred.

Death Car

high Mass of requiem will be offered. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery. Friends may call from Monday evening on.

The funeral of Harry R. Playford will also be held from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home, the time being Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be in Montrepose Cemetery. Friends may call from Monday evening on.

Milano's funeral will be held from the M. A. Galietta Funeral Home, 650 Delaware avenue, at 9 a. m. Wednesday, thence to St. Mary's Church, where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul at 9:30 a. m. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

James Joseph Milano, 89 West Union street, is survived by his wife, Jean Curtis Milano; a daughter, Deborah Ann; a son, James Russell Milano; his mother, Mrs. John Milano; four brothers, Leo and Patsy Milona of New York and Carman and Michael Milano of Kingston; and by five sisters, Mrs. Lino Grillo of New York, Mrs. Munson Clearwater, Mrs. John North, Mrs. James Scott and Mrs. Holmes Finch of Kingston. During World War 2, Milano served overseas with the U. S. Army and was a member of the American Legion.

Harry R. Playford is survived by his parents, Roscoe and Emma Ferguson Playford; and by brothers William, George, Roscoe and Robert Playford and a sister, Marie Playford.

Agnes Gillespie is survived by her mother, Dorothy Bailey LaRocco; two brothers, John and Anthony, and two sisters, Almeda and Barbara Ann.

Rose Marie Bohan is survived by her mother, Mrs. Mary Drumm Bohan, and three brothers, Lawrence, Eugene and Joseph Bohan.

Unit Moves

they would take one to four weeks to complete.

Apparently two of the three were the temporary and permanent sites for which the Indians gave the go-ahead Monday.

Red China's Peiping radio Monday again charged the "Americans" with "deliberately delaying the beginning . . . by continuing to refuse to provide the required facilities."

The broadcast accused the "American side" of "scheming to scuttle the explanation work . . ."

Meanwhile, time was running out in the scheduled 90-day explanation period, and the Indian chairman of the five-nation NNRC said he would make no further requests to the UNC for an extension.

Late Bulletin

Tompkins Corners, Oct. 5 (AP)—State police said two unidentified bodies have been found in the burning wreckage of a small plane which crashed today in a heavily wooded area near here. The search for the craft began after several persons called police and reported seeing a wing fall off a burning plane which plummeted earthward. No other details were immediately available.

Yanks Lead 3-0 In Third Inning

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—Dark clouds offered a threat of rain for the sixth World Series game today as the New York Yankees returned to Yankee Stadium, needing only one more victory over Brooklyn to win their fifth straight championship.

The lineups:

N. Y. Yankees	Dodgers
Woodling, lf	Gilliam, 2b
Collins, 1b	Reese, ss
Bauer, rf	Robinson, lf
Berra, c	Campanella, c
Mantle, cf	Hodges, 1b
Martin, 2b	Snider, cf
McDougald, 3b	Furillo, rf
Rizzuto, ss	Cox, 3b
Ford, p	Erskine, p

Dodgers First Inning

Gilliam popped to Collins near first base.

Reese cracked a long single to left.

Robinson bounced to Martin who tagged Reese coming down to second.

Campanella smashed a hard ground single through the center of the diamond, Robinson stopping at second.

Hodges hit a low liner right into the hands of Rizzuto.

No runs, two hits, no errors, two left.

First inning Yankees

Woodling walked on full count

Collins went down swinging.

Bauer singled past Reese into left field, Woodling stopping at second.

Berra's hot smash bounced off Furillo's glove into right field stands for ground rule double. Woodling scored on hit and Bauer moved to third.

Mantle was given an intentional base on balls to load bases.

Gilliam allowed Martin's hot smash to bounce off shoe tops for error enabling Bauer to score and other runners to advance base. It was run batted in for Martin.

Cox grabbed McDougald's hot smash, threw to Gilliam forcing Martin at second and Gilliam's throw to Hodges doubled up McDougald. It was the first Dodger double play of series. Both runs were earned.

Two runs, two hits, one error, two left.

Second inning Dodgers

Snider struck out swinging.

It was getting quite dark now.

Furillo blooped single over first inside right field line but was out trying to stretch it into double, Collins to Rizzuto.

Cox missed a low fast ball for third strike.

No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

Second Inning Yankees

Woodling flied to Robinson in shallow left and Rizzuto scored after catch as Robinson's throw went to second base.

Collins took a half swing and tapped ball down third base line. Erskine's throw to first was wild and rolled to field boxes enabling Ford to go to third, Collins to reach second. It was ruled a single for Collins, an error for Erskine.

Bauer walked on four pitches, filling bases.

Berra flied deep to Snider in right center. Collins, who was on second, tagged up and ran to third after catch, but Ford failed to leave third until he saw Collins almost on top of him. He made a belated dash for the plate but was an easy out when Gilliam took Snider's throw and relayed to Campanella at the plate.

Apparently Ford started to leave third before the catch, had to retrace steps which accounted for mixup. It was ruled a double play.

One run, three hits, one error, two left.

BPW Okays Bond Issue for Work

The Board of Public Works approved a bond issue of $39,186.55 for street and sewer work at a special meeting this morning, and approved the $2,500 bid of the Colonial Construction Company for the razing of the former emergency housing development in Loughran Park.

Of the $39,186.55 which the board asks the Common Council to approve, $34,571.84 is earmarked for the building of the street and curbing in Colonial Gardens, the city's housing project, and $4,614.71 is for construction of a section of sanitary sewer line on Broadway between Delaware avenue and East Chester street.

Drivers Arrest Each Other After Crash Hurting 2

Drivers of two cars, in which two persons wer injured when they collided Saturday night at Smith avenue and Garden street, arrested each other.

Robert Strausser, 24, of 30 East Pierpont street, was arrested by John W. Schussler, of 80 Florence street, on a reckless driving charge and the latter was arrested by Strausser for alleged failure to observe a stop-sign. Both cases were put over to until Oct. 13 by Special City Judge Harry Gold this morning.

Police were notified of the mishap at 7:40 p. m., and while Officers Louis Sapp, Jr., and Edward Edwards were on their way to the accident, they arrested Joseph Ranur, 62, of 213 Grand street, Hoboken, N. J., on charges of reckless driving and having no operator's license.

The officers stopped Ranur on Broadway near Grand street. He was operating a sedan owned by A. T. Vettre, of Bergenfield, N. J. Judge Gold fined him $5 on the charge of driving without a license and the reckless driving charge was adjourned to Oct. 7.

Reported injured in the mishap at Smith avenue and Garden street were Kathleen Strusser, 23, who suffered lacerations and abrasions of the forehead and face; and Marie Schussler, 45, who suffered contusions and abrasions of right knee and left leg and injuries of the lower back. Both were treated at Kingston Hospital.

Karl Nonn, 56, of RD, Kingston, was charged with continuing without stopping after the car of Sidney Rafalowsky, of 120 Linderman avenue, was struck while it was parked on Albany avenue. The police report at 6:05 p. m., said Officers Sapp and Edwards observed the collision and apprehended Nonn on North Front street. The case was put over to Oct. 15 when he appeared today before Judge Gold.

Salvation Army Week Proclaimed

Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk today issued a proclamation in behalf of Salvation Army Week from Oct. 5 to 11.

Since the Salvation Army during 50 years in Kingston has "befriended, aided and given new hope to thousands of Kingstonians," and now appeals for funds, the mayor said, "I, Oscar V. Newkirk, Mayor of the City of Kingston, do hereby proclaim the week of Oct. 5 to Oct. 11 as Salvation Army Week."

The mayor noted that the Salvation Army has served the nation in peace and in war, and he urged all of the people of the city to support its "great program of humanitarian service."

of St. Mary's Church, and dean of Ulster and Sullivan counties.

His magnetic personality captivated the crowd immediately as he opened his address in a humorous vein that made his listeners feel as though they had known him a long time, and his gifted manner of delivery impressed the audience with the importance of his message.

As national director for the Society for Propagation of the Faith, Bishop Sheen urged donations for promotion of Christianity, and remarked that Catholics in the United States last year gave on the average of only 20 cents, or less than the price of a pack of cigarettes for the cause.

Pleading for donations to missionary causes, the Bishop stressed that "the church must grow proportionately all over the world," if the Holy Father is to carry on as the Vicar of Christ and observe His directive to "teach all nations."

Missionaries Are Needed

Bishop Sheen said more missionaries are needed to spread the Gospel and emphasized that those who have labored in foreign lands had planted the seed of Christianity so deeply that religion is one of the strongest weapons against Communism, even in China where many have clung to their church in spite of the concentrated efforts to spread the Red doctrine.

"Every family should have a priest, nun or brother," he said, and suggested that if religious vocations are lacking, there is a means of "adopting someone," who has been endowed with "the Divine call" to spread the faith.

Bishop Sheen advised that his listeners be generous in donating to the cause of propagating the faith on Mission Sunday, Oct. 18, when collections will be made in Catholic churches to be sent to the Holy Father to assist in educating those with religious vocations.

Tht Rt. Rev. Msgr. Joseph A. McCaffrey, PA, also urged interest in propagation of the faith in his remarks as director of the Archdiocesan Holy Name Union.

Children in Procession

Preliminaries to the address by Bishop Sheen included a procession of children dressed in the garb of various religious orders, led by the Port Ewen Fife, Drum and Bugle Corps and the Color Guard from Kingston Post, 150, American Legion. Brief histories of the communities for priests, nuns and brothers were read by Richard McCarthy, radio commentator, who was narrator for the program.

Also in the procession were the Fourth Degree Assembly of Kingston Council, 275, Knights of Columbus, members of the clergy and altar boys.

The Rev. Joseph D. Ostermann, formerly of St. Peter's Church, sang the National Anthem, and led in community singing of hymns. The Rev. John D. Simmons of St. Joseph's Church, chairman of committees, was assisted by other priests of the area in directing activities at the stadium, the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, Kingston; the Rev. James Dunnigan, Sawkill; the Rev. James L. Riordan, Woodstock; the Rev. Ambrose Murphy, Wilbur; the Rev. Vincent D. Mulry, Rosendale and the Rev. Joseph A. Wall, CSsR, Mt. St. Alphonsus, Esopus.

Bishop Sheen celebrated solemn benediction as the concluding feature at the altar which was erected and decorated by Mr. and Mrs. Tomas Penning of Woodstock.

Three Are Injured

Three persons were injured, apparently none seriously, in a two-car collision in St. Remy at 11:15 a. m. today, the sheriff's office reported. Nathan L. Feldman, 58, of 110 Wall street, was taken to Kingston Hospital for a physical check-up, sheriff's men said, and John Letus, 43, of Rifton and his daughter, Marion, 4, were to be treated by their own physician. Both automobiles were considerably damaged when they collided in St. Remy at the Union Center road intersection, according to Deputy Sheriff Arthur B. Smith, who investigated.

Man Killed, 12 Hurt In Mare Island Fire

Vallejo, Calif., Oct. 5 (AP)—More than 1,000 men fought a stubborn fire yesterday at Mare Island Navy Yard that caused one death, injured 12, and caused damage estimated at $200,000.

Shooting flames visible for miles, the spectacular blaze flared uncontrolled for hours after it was discovered well under way at a tar-soaked pier. The fire gutted 900 feet of pier and one navy tug and damaged three barges and three other tugs.

The damage estimate was made by navy spokesmen.

dividual efforts in behalf of a friend.

During the past few years he had handled both publicity and advertising for the Woodstock Playhouse and within those same years he was an instructor of fine and advertising arts at the Sexton Fells School in Kingston. He also held his own classes of instruction at his Woodstock studio.

Listed in Who's Who

McCarthy has been listed in Who's Who in Art for the past 30 years, and during his years as an illustrator in New York, his work appeared regularly in such top magazines as the Saturday Evening Post, The Ladies' Home Journal, Red Book, and other top periodicals.

A charter member of the Woodstock Country Club, he had also held membership in the Society of Illustrators, Artists and Writers and other clubs in New York open to professional men.

Helped With Club Shows

Mac had helped with shows for the country club and in 1948, he was the director of the highly successful "Don't Worry Mac" given for the benefit of the Woodstock Foundation at the Woodstock Playhouse. During recent years he has had several one-man shows at various galleries in Woodstock, the last of which was in 1952. He also assisted others in the showing of their works and during some of these efforts, it was found that Mac had a talent in the kitchen where he produced a special variety of hors d'oeuvres.

Surviving are several nieces and nephews. A requiem Mass will be offered at the St. Joan of Arc Chapel, Woodstock, Tuesday at 10 a. m., by the Rev. James L. Riordan. Burial in the Woodstock Cemetery will be private.

KPA Members Help Remove Stricken Man

Members of the Kingston Powerboat Association assisted in removing a man from an oil tanker in the Hudson river after local police were notified Sunday that the man was ill.

The report at 10:45 a. m., said police headquarters was notified from New York that the man was ill on the tanker near the Rondout lighthouse.

Police relayed the message to the powerboat association and Harry Jump's boat with Cleon Jump and his wife, a registered nurse, Harry Jump and Ray Radel went to the tanker and in 28 minutes had the man on his way to a marine hospital in New York, the report said.

Motor Sailboat Runs Aground Off Saugerties

A large motor sailboat ran aground about 11 p. m. Saturday in the Hudson river off the Old Long Dock in Saugerties, state police reported.

The boat, The Wanderer, out of Albany, was crewed by its owner, Robert Strickland of Washington avenue, Albany, his wife and a friend, Robert Sisson, state police said. They were removed last night by U. S. Coast Guard men from the Saugerties Light Station.

It was reported at the light station this noon that the light attendants have gone to the boat to see whether it can be freed.

Candidate Declines Esopus Designation

Joseph Zoda, who received the Democratic designation as candidate for supervisor of the town of Esopus, has filed a declination, the Board of Elections said today.

Since Saturday was the last day for filling vacancies, the fact that Zoda declined to run on the Democratic ticket leaves Edward R. Eckert, present supervisor and Republican candidate for re-election, unopposed for the office, unless notification is received by the Board of Elections postmarked on Saturday that a candidate had been named by the Democratic party.

Hearing Is Adjourned

Monticello, Oct. 5 (AP)—The hearing in the case of three Bronx men, indicted for the Labor Day slaying of Brooklyn butcher Israel Present, was adjourned today until Oct. 13 at the request of the defense. Charged with first degree murder are Raymond Rico, 23, Matthew Terrigno, 21, and Thomas O'Hara, 17. Present, 48, head of the Brooklyn Kosher Butcher Assn., was found dead near his summer cottage last Sept. 7. An autopsy report said he had been beaten and strangled by a gag.

Students Reinstated

The two Kingston High School students who were suspended for participation in rowdyism during the Kingston-Highland football game in the municipal stadium Sept. 27, have been reinstated, it was announced following a hearing at the high school this morning.

London Official To Tell of Fire Bombs During War

A first-hand account of the fire bombing of London during World War 2 will be given at an open meeting Tuesday night at the George Washington School by Chief Arthur Johnstone of the Surrey County Fire Brigade.

The Surrey County Brigade includes within its jurisdiction a large portion of the greater City of London.

Arrangements for Chief Johnstone's talk here were made by Ulster County Fire Coordinator Arthur C. Chipp, who also is deputy director for fire of the Ulster-Kingston Civil Defense, assisted by Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy of Kingston, chairman of the Ulster County Fire Advisory Board. Chief B. Richter Townsend of the Bureau of Fire, New York State Division of Safety, the Civil Defense Commission, the Ulster-Kingston Office of Civil Defense and the Ulster County Volunteer Firemen's Association cooperated in the arrangements.

The speaker was one of the organizers and senior commanders of the fire fighting forces of London during the Blitz and fire raids. He came to this country to be the principal speaker at the conference of international fire chiefs, to be held in Toronto, and to address the annual convention of fire inspectors at Buffalo. Now returning to England, he has agreed to stop off in Kingston on Tuesday and tell of his experiences.

Open to Public

Invitations have been extended to fire and Civil Defense authorities in the surrounding counties of Greene, Dutchess, Orange and Sullivan to take advantage of this opportunity to hear this authority on combatting conflagrations resulting from enemy attack.

The public at large is also invited to attend.

The meeting will start at 8:30 p. m., and the doors will be opened at 7:30 o'clock. No admission charge will be made.

Lt. Echer, Family Escape Injury as Car Brakes Lock

Avon, Conn., Oct. 5 (AP)—Army Lieut. Donald C. Ecker, 30, of Kingston, N. Y., and his family escaped serious injury early today when the brakes locked as their car, pulling a 41-foot trailer, was headed down Avon Mountain.

Ecker, his wife, Vera, and their four children were riding in the tow car, the family sedan, when the brakes suddenly jammed.

Skidded Into Back of Car

State Police Officer James Duane said the trailer skidded into the back of the sedan, twisted, then slammed on its side, dragging the car off the road and smashing it into a fence.

The children, Donald, 9; Donna, 10; David, 8 and Daniel, 4, and their mother were taken to St. Francis Hospital, Hartford, where they were treated for bruises and cuts and released.

Lieut. Ecker recently transferred from Fort Devens, Mass., was headed for Fort Dix, N. J., when the accident occurred.

Death Car

high Mass of requiem will be offered. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery. Friends may call from Monday evening on.

The funeral of Harry R. Playford will also be held from the James M. Murphy Funeral Home, the time being Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock. Burial will be in Montrepose Cemetery. Friends may call from Monday evening on.

Milano's funeral will be held from the M. A. Galietta Funeral Home, 650 Delaware avenue, at 9 a. m. Wednesday, thence to St. Mary's Church, where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul at 9:30 a. m. Burial will be in St. Mary's Cemetery.

James Joseph Milano, 89 West Union street, is survived by his wife, Jean Curtis Milano; a daughter, Deborah Ann; a son, James Russell Milano; his mother, Mrs. John Milano; four brothers, Leo and Patsy Milona of New York and Carman and Michael Milano of Kingston; and by five sisters, Mrs. Lino Grillo of New York, Mrs. Munson Clearwater, Mrs. John North, Mrs. James Scott and Mrs. Holmes Finch of Kingston. During World War 2, Milano served overseas with the U. S. Army and was a member of the American Legion.

Harry R. Playford is survived by his parents, Roscoe and Emma Ferguson Playford; and by brothers William, George, Roscoe and Robert Playford and a sister, Marie Playford.

Agnes Gillespie is survived by her mother, Dorothy Bailey LaRocco; two brothers, John and Anthony, and two sisters, Almeda and Barbara Ann.

Rose Marie Bohan is survived by her mother, Mrs. Mary Drumm Bohan, and three brothers, Lawrence, Eugene and Joseph Bohan.

Unit Moves

they would take one to four weeks to complete.

Apparently two of the three were the temporary and permanent sites for which the Indians gave the go-ahead Monday.

Red China's Peiping radio Monday again charged the "Americans" with "deliberately delaying the beginning . . . by continuing to refuse to provide the required facilities."

The broadcast accused the "American side" of "scheming to scuttle the explanation work . . ."

Meanwhile, time was running out in the scheduled 90-day explanation period, and the Indian chairman of the five-nation NNRC said he would make no further requests to the UNC for an extension.

Late Bulletin

Tompkins Corners, Oct. 5 (AP)—State police said two unidentified bodies have been found in the burning wreckage of a small plane which crashed today in a heavily wooded area near here. The search for the craft began after several persons called police and reported seeing a wing fall off a burning plane which plummeted earthward. No other details were immediately available.

Yanks Lead 3-0 In Third Inning

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—Dark clouds offered a threat of rain for the sixth World Series game today as the New York Yankees returned to Yankee Stadium, needing only one more victory over Brooklyn to win their fifth straight championship.

The lineups:

N. Y. Yankees	Dodgers
Woodling, lf	Gilliam, 2b
Collins, 1b	Reese, ss
Bauer, rf	Robinson, lf
Berra, c	Campanella, c
Mantle, cf	Hodges, 1b
Martin, 2b	Snider, cf
McDougald, 3b	Furillo, rf
Rizzuto, ss	Cox, 3b
Ford, p	Erskine, p

Dodgers First Inning

Gilliam popped to Collins near first base.

Reese cracked a long single to left.

Robinson bounced to Martin who tagged Reese coming down to second.

Campanella smashed a hard ground single through the center of the diamond, Robinson stopping at second.

Hodges hit a low liner right into the hands of Rizzuto.

No runs, two hits, no errors, two left.

First inning Yankees

Woodling walked on full count

Collins went down swinging.

Bauer singled past Reese into left field, Woodling stopping at second.

Berra's hot smash bounced off Furillo's glove into right field stands for ground rule double. Woodling scored on hit and Bauer moved to third.

Mantle was given an intentional base on balls to load bases.

Gilliam allowed Martin's hot smash to bounce off shoe tops for error enabling Bauer to score and other runners to advance base. It was run batted in for Martin.

Cox grabbed McDougald's hot smash, threw to Gilliam forcing Martin at second and Gilliam's throw to Hodges doubled up McDougald. It was the first Dodger double play of series. Both runs were earned.

Two runs, two hits, one error, two left.

Second inning Dodgers

Snider struck out swinging.

It was getting quite dark now.

Furillo blooped single over first inside right field line but was out trying to stretch it into double, Collins to Rizzuto.

Cox missed a low fast ball for third strike.

No runs, one hit, no errors, none left.

Woodling flied to Robinson in shallow left and Rizzuto scored after catch as Robinson's throw went to second base.

Collins took a half swing and tapped ball down third base line. Erskine's throw to first was wild and rolled to field boxes enabling Ford to go to third, Collins to reach second. It was ruled a single for Collins, an error for Erskine.

Bauer walked on four pitches, filling bases.

Berra flied deep to Snider in right center. Collins, who was on second, tagged up and ran to third after catch, but Ford failed to leave third until he saw Collins almost on top of him. He made a belated dash for the plate but was an easy out when Gilliam took Snider's throw and relayed to Campanella at the plate.

Apparently Ford started to leave third before the catch, had to retrace steps which accounted for mixup. It was ruled a double play.

One run, three hits, one error, two left.

BPW Okays Bond Issue for Work

The Board of Public Works approved a bond issue of $39,186.55 for street and sewer work at a special meeting this morning, and approved the $2,500 bid of the Colonial Construction Company for the razing of the former emergency housing development in Loughran Park.

Of the $39,186.55 which the board asks the Common Council to approve, $34,571.84 is earmarked for the building of the street and curbing in Colonial Gardens, the city's housing project, and $4,614.71 is for construction of a section of sanitary sewer line on Broadway between Delaware avenue and East Chester street.

Drivers Arrest Each Other After Crash Hurting 2

Drivers of two cars, in which two persons wer injured when they collided Saturday night at Smith avenue and Garden street, arrested each other.

Robert Strausser, 24, of 30 East Pierpont street, was arrested by John W. Schussler, of 80 Florence street, on a reckless driving charge and the latter was arrested by Strausser for alleged failure to observe a stop-sign. Both cases were put over to until Oct. 13 by Special City Judge Harry Gold this morning.

Police were notified of the mishap at 7:40 p. m., and while Officers Louis Sapp, Jr., and Edward Edwards were on their way to the accident, they arrested Joseph Ranur, 62, of 213 Grand street, Hoboken, N. J., on charges of reckless driving and having no operator's license.

The officers stopped Ranur on Broadway near Grand street. He was operating a sedan owned by A. T. Vettre, of Bergenfield, N. J. Judge Gold fined him $5 on the charge of driving without a license and the reckless driving charge was adjourned to Oct. 7.

Reported injured in the mishap at Smith avenue and Garden street were Kathleen Strusser, 23, who suffered lacerations and abrasions of the forehead and face; and Marie Schussler, 45, who suffered contusions and abrasions of right knee and left leg and injuries of the lower back. Both were treated at Kingston Hospital.

Karl Nonn, 56, of RD, Kingston, was charged with continuing without stopping after the car of Sidney Rafalowsky, of 120 Linderman avenue, was struck while it was parked on Albany avenue. The police report at 6:05 p. m., said Officers Sapp and Edwards observed the collision and apprehended Nonn on North Front street. The case was put over to Oct. 15 when he appeared today before Judge Gold.

Accord Will Vote On Proposed New $25,000 Firehouse

Taxpayers of the Accord Fire District will vote on a proposed $25,000 firehouse from 7 to 10 p. m. Thursday, Oct. 8, it was announced today by William Anderson, chairman of the board of fire commissioners.

There will be an open meeting at 8 p. m. Tuesday, Oct. 6, to discuss the proposition.

Those qualified to vote are persons who have resided in the fire district for 30 days previous to the date of election and who own property on the 1952 assessment roll.

The proposed building would be approximately 40 feet deep and 10 feet high with a frontage of 60 feet. It would be one-story and would contain space for two trucks with working room around them, heating plant, toilets, water, lighting, meeting room and kitchen.

It would be built on land donated by the fire company and would be owned by the fire district.

The district, organized 13 years ago, is the only one without its own firehouse, Anderson pointed out. He said the structure would be the smallest possible to meet district requirements.

It is estimated that one-third of the world's trade is carried on in pounds sterling.

Ulster County Is Free Of New Polio Cases

No new cases of polio have occurred in Ulster county, either in residents or non-residents, since the last case reported on Sept. 9, the Ulster County Health Department said today.

The incidence of polio throughout the state has continued to rise, but not sharply. The trend for the United States as a whole appears to be downward and health authorities are hopeful that the peak of this summer's incidence has passed, according to a health department bulletin.

A total of 1,550 cases were reported in New York state between Jan. 1 and Sept. 26 of this year. Of these, five cases were Ulster county residents, including three children and two adults. One of the resident cases resulted in death.

There will be an open meeting at 8 p. m. Tuesday, Oct. 6, to discuss the proposition.

Those qualified to vote are persons who have resided in the fire district for 30 days previous to the date of election and who own property on the 1952 assessment roll.

The proposed building would be approximately 40 feet deep and 10 feet high with a frontage of 60 feet. It would be one-story and would contain space for two trucks with working room around them, heating plant, toilets, water, lighting, meeting room and kitchen.

It would be built on land donated by the fire company and would be owned by the fire district.

The district, organized 13 years ago, is the only one without its own firehouse, Anderson pointed out. He said the structure would be the smallest possible to meet district requirements.

It is estimated that one-third of the world's trade is carried on in pounds sterling.

Ulster County Is Free Of New Polio Cases

No new cases of polio have occurred in Ulster county, either in residents or non-residents, since the last case reported on Sept. 9, the Ulster County Health Department said today.

The incidence of polio throughout the state has continued to rise, but not sharply. The trend for the United States as a whole appears to be downward and health authorities are hopeful that the peak of this summer's incidence has passed, according to a health department bulletin.

A total of 1,550 cases were reported in New York state between Jan. 1 and Sept. 26 of this year. Of these, five cases were Ulster county residents, including three children and two adults. One of the resident cases resulted in death.

Warren Is Sworn

Warren then shook hands with Willey.

Warren then seated himself in the high backed Chief Justice's chair in the center of the long bench.

Leave at 12:07

At 12:07 p. m., the President and Mrs. Eisenhower left the court room as the justices and the audience stood.

They had been in the court room a total of 11 minutes.

They arrived in the court chamber at 11:56 a. m.

The justices came into the high ceiling chamber at 12:01 p. m., and Justice Black announced "with deep sorrow" the death of Chief Justice Fred Vinson on Sept. 8.

After Warren came into the court room Willey read his commission while Warren sat at the left hand side of the clerk's desk.

Black, in announcing the death of Vinson and Warren's succession, said that Vinson had spent most of his life "in fine public service for his state and his nation, both of which he loved and served with passionate devotion."

WE CAN . . . IF WE WILL

Every fire hits you right in the pocketbook—no matter whether it's in your house, next door, in the next county or in a distant city elsewhere in the country. The price of everything we buy includes a fire tax—the cost to America for rebuilding the homes, farms, factories, schools, and hospitals that fire destroyed.

What can we do about it? These are the facts. The fire loss in 1952 was $896,000,000, an all-time high, says the National Fire Protection Association, national sponsors of Fire Prevention Week. This is just the direct out-of-pocket loss with no allowance for replacement cost, lost production, lost wages . . . or loss of life, or for injuries and heartache.

The fire loss during the first 6 months of 1953 was running ahead of 1952, promising an even higher fire tax for everyone this year.

Some may be consoled by the fact that inflation of property values accounts for a substantial part of the increase, and also that the post-war building boom means there is a great deal more for us to burn. This is true, but the important fact is this . . . 90 per cent of the fires that killed 12,535 people and burned property valued at $896,000,000 in 1952 were actually due to our tragic lack of interest in our own personal safety habits. The NFPA says we burned up ourselves!

We can do a great deal about this if we will. For example: We can stop smoking in bed; certainly not smoke near combustible materials and always heed "No Smoking" signs. We can clean out closets, attics, basements—get rid of the kind of fuel that multiplies fire danger in the home . . . papers, magazines and similar materials that are waiting to feed sparks. Hundreds of small children burn to death because of their fascination with matches—keep matches out of the reach of small children and teach older ones how to use them properly. We can use only non-flammable cleaning fluids in the home—but it's much safer to send things to the cleaners. We should keep buildings in repair and recover combustible wood shingle roofs with spark-resistant roofing such as asphalt shingles. We can have a competent electrician check electric circuits for overloading; and we can make sure that we are using electrical appliances properly and safely. We must have furnaces, space heaters and chimneys inspected periodically and kept clean and in good working order.

We can do these things if we will and when we do, the fire safety of our homes will be greatly increased. It's the surest way to cut the fire tax—both in terms of heartbreak and the pocketbook.

We read with interest of the explorers who found four lost tribes in Africa. We can seldom manage to find the person we have an appointment with on a street corner.

SLOWDOWN SUCCESS

Eleven states from Maine to Maryland recently reported on the results of a traffic slowdown program they conducted through three months of this summer. The report showed that deaths from automobile accidents in those states decreased three per cent from the number in the same three-month period of 1952. States cooperating in the slowdown program were: Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware.

Travel over the highways in the eleven states was at an all-time summer high. Despite this, 41 fewer people were killed in automobile accidents. Convictions on traffic violation counts were increased in all of the states and safety authorities credit this increase with the increase in safety.

Many accidents are caused by factors other than speeding. But speeding does figure in a very high percentage of accidents, particularly the killing ones. The eleven-state experiment is proof that a strictly enforced program against speeding can produce good results. Every state is interested in reducing the number of traffic accidents and the report of what was accomplished in the coordinated slowdown will assist safety officials in all the others.

'These Days'

By GEORGE SOKOLSKY

THE OFFENSIVE

It is curious that Europeans and Asiatics continue to talk about the change of attitude of the Russians, the new policy of Malenkov, the prospect of a more peaceful solution of the problems arising between the United States and Soviet Russia.

Yesterday's disappointments are readily forgotten in the hopes of tomorrow. Actually nothing has occurred since Stalin's death even to indicate a revolutionary change in the perspective of Soviet Russia in its relationship with other countries. There have been words, but no actions. There has been propaganda, but no implementation.

The Korean truce gives the impression of being a tremendous Russian step toward peace, but the methods employed by the Chinese and Korean Communists, under Russian direction, are the same old game of procrastination, delay and postponement. The Russians know that the United States is obligated to open the Political Conference by October 28, but Vishinsky continues to try every trick in his bag to confuse the situation, to raise false issues, to arouse the hopes of small nations to play big parts, realizing that the United States cannot and will not agree to any changes in the procedural arrangement already voted in the General Assembly of the United Nations. Everything is done to delay.

The war in Indo-China continues, and the Russians conduct an agitation in France that it is the United States which insists that the war there continue. They are advertising it as an American war against an Asiatic people. Yet, it was the Kremlin that ordered that war against France. One would imagine, from the Russian statements concerning the Indo-Chinese war, that that country had not been a French colonial area since 1862 and continues to be to this day.

The confusions raised by these Russian agitations may be brilliant psychological warfare, but they are not indicative of any change of Russian policy or tactics since the death of Stalin, or for that matter since the death of Lenin in 1924.

The fact is that Soviet Russia is following a continuous permanent policy of world conquest which is essential in the Marxist concept of One World—a world that is nationless, raceless, classless, centering in the Kremlin and governed by a Marxist elite. There can be no question that at long last those in control of the American foreign policy, President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, have grasped the essential nature of the Marxist goal and they understand that a step back, for a moment, even for a good reason, is a rest only to gather strength to make two steps forward, if possible. Lenin made the retreat a tactical method in the strategy of world conquest. It was for this reason that John Foster Dulles abandoned the "Containment Policy" as inadequate and impractical. It is impossible to contain a country determined upon a universal empire, short of war.

Yet, nothing stands still. The abandonment of a policy, long held and implemented, by a series of actions, even involving limited wars, must be replaced by some other policy because the challenge of events requires immediate responses. And such challenges are accelerated by the very existence of the United Nations, which affords member and now even non-member states a forum to state their cases and to attack, if they choose, their opponents and their betters.

The Eisenhower Administration is meeting these numerous challenges by taking a position that is more positive, more nationalistic, more coherent in the philosophic sense than this country has witnessed in two decades. This attitude has encountered considerable opposition in Europe, as witness Clement Attlee's anti-American speech in the course of which he tried to convey the impression that the United States was the international trouble-maker.

Yet, actually those nations with whom we have to do business are better off in their relations with the United States because they have a clearer idea of what American purposes and policies are.

The role of Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., in the United Nations is a case in point. He speaks up and although some of his European colleagues have ridiculed him for his lack of diplomacy, actually Lodge has presented his country as tough-minded, conciliatory but not compromising, clear as to intentions but willing to help the cause of peace. He represents a stronger position than his American predecessors in the United Nations.

DOING SOMETHING FOR THE DISABLED

Notwithstanding wars, rumors of wars, and upset world conditions, there are individuals and groups of individuals who go about their daily tasks and yet find, or make, time to help their fellow men. One such organization is the Public Affairs Pamphlets (Public Affairs Committee), a nonprofit educational organization whose purpose is to make available in summary and inexpensive form the results of research in economic and social problems to aid in the understanding and development of American policy.

Their latest publication is "Doing Something for the Disabled." The pamphlet uses a true story to show the type of work being done by Public Affairs Committee, Incorporated. In it is described a man, 23 years old, married, with 3 children, who finally had to give up his work (driving a tractor) because of a bad hip resulting from an injury received in playing leapfrog at age of three. The pain was so severe that he went to see the industrial nurse to get something to kill the pain. The nurse gave him a sympathetic hearing and then told him that there were lots of jobs that a man with a bad hip could do besides wheeling a tractor. She told him there were job specialists who spent their lives helping fellows like him to work out programs to meet their individual needs. There was a state organization called the Vocational Rehabilitation Agency. The next day he went for an interview with the representative of this agency, laid all the facts of his life and work before him and expressed his desire to learn something useful so as to support his wife and three children.

Aptitude tests showed that there were many jobs he could do. Later, a job was available for him after he had undergone an operation on his hip which would free him from his pain. While in hospital and before he could go back to work, the Department of Public Welfare helped him over the hump with his family's expenses through their program of Aid to Dependent Children and the Rehabilitation Agency took care of his medical expenses, job training, and a small maintenance to keep him going.

The pamphlet states that the experience of this young man, doomed to a life of pain, worry and dependence on others, transformed to a life free of pain and ability to be equipped to do useful work and earn a living for his family, "is being duplicated thousands of times every day in America." The pamphlet also tells the story of the rehabilitation of disabled miners through the program of the United Mine Workers of America Welfare and Retirement Fund.

This pamphlet may be obtained by sending 25 cents to the Public Affairs Committee, Inc., 22 East 38th street, New York 16, N. Y.

Just an Old Muscovite Trick

Larsen's Washington News Notebook

Washington (NEA)—Some form of the door-to-door canvass by Internal Revenue Service agents is almost sure to be adopted on a nation-wide basis. The idea is to make sure that everybody pays their income taxes.

The results of the experiment in New England with that procedure are now being studied by top IRS officials. But it had such obviously good results, from the U. S. Treasury's point of view, that it's considered a cinch to be a standard IRS operation.

The studies are concentrating on removing the bugs and possible abuses.

Wilbur A. Gallahan, IRS commissioner of the New England region and veteran employe of the agency, was in charge of the test. He gives these details on the way it works:

The agent knocks on the door and shows his credentials, which include his picture. Residents are cautioned to check the credentials carefully. One of the possible abuses is a phony agent using this means of getting into a house.

Want Proof of Payment

First question the agent asks is whether or not the resident has filed all of his federal tax forms. If the resident says, "yes," the agent then asks him to show either a canceled check, copy of the form, or treasury receipt for the payment.

If the person can produce one of the papers and it's in order that's all there is to the visit. His name is checked off and the agent goes about his business.

If the householder or resident hasn't fixed his forms, or if he has some question about his federal taxes, the agent seeks to get the matter straightened out then and there. In this way the canvass purports to be a service.

When the resident claims he has paid all of his taxes, but can't produce proof, the agent makes a note of it and then checks the official files later. If the files don't produce evidence of payment the agent makes another call to that house. This situation occurs most frequently, it has been found. Sometimes it's because the taxpayer hasn't been a taxpayer.

If the latter case is found to be true, the agent moves in with the regular delinquent collection procedure.

Those New England residents who have had calls from IRS men have been very cooperative, Gallahan claims. He says many of them who have been found to have tax difficulties consider it a favor to have an agent come around and straighten the whole thing out.

Only a Few Are Indignant

Only a few agents have doors slammed in their faces by indignant householders who feel their rights are being trampled in this procedure. When it happens, the agent makes it a first order of business next day to check that person in the central file.

There have been isolated reports that IRS agents in other parts of the country have been intentionally even tough on taxpayers, with an eye to embarrassing the Republican administration. The story goes that these agents have said that their toughness was a specific order from the White House.

If this sort of thing was widespread in the service, the door-to-door canvass would lend itself very well to such a means of political sabotage. Service officials, however, while they admit having heard of such cases periodically during the past months, claim that it's not serious enough to wreck the canvass idea. Gallahan claims that there was no report of it in the New England test.

Gallahan's agents were pounding the pavement two days per month on this task. In the first go-round they collected $445,000 in delinquent taxes at a cost of $10,000. Succeeding tests collected proportionate revenue for cost.

The profit is obviously the big attraction.

'Unimpeachable Source' Gives Story of What Occurred Between President and Durkin

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 5—The true story of what happened between President Eisenhower and Martin Durkin, former Secretary of Labor, has been obtained by this correspondent from an unimpeachable source.

It would have been unnecessary to disclose all the facts concerning the circumstances that led to Mr. Durkin's resignation as Secretary of Labor if it had not been for the manner in which the American Federation og Labor's official publication, entitled "News Reporter," has just cast doubt on President Eisenhower's good faith in telling his press conference that he never in his life knowingly broke agreement with anybody.

The AFL's publication now says in its current issue that a speech made recently by Vice President Nixon at the AFL convention "fully confirmed the truth of Martin Dudkin's charges that the President had broken an agreement" with respect to the submission to Congress of a message on changes in the Taft-Hartley Act.

The AFL periodical selected as its "proof" a passage from Mr. Nixon's speech in which he said that he had nothing to do with the substance of te message but only with its "timing." From this the AFL publication infers that there was a "message," the text of which had been agreed upon by the President and Mr. Durkin, and that Mr. Eisenhower was dissuaded from sending the document to Congress one day at its last session only because of the death of Senator Taft and because it was deemed perhaps disrespectful to transmit such a message at that time. The claim is made by labor leaders that Mr. Eisenhower changed his mind about sending the message as it had been agreed upon and thereby broke his "agreement." What are the facts?

Fact number one: Mr. Eisenhower never saw or read the so-called "message" which was really a "working draft" admittedly prepared by members of his secretariat at the White House after various consultations with Mr. Durkin and others inside and outside the administration and Congress.

Fact number two: Vice President Nixon never saw or read the "message or any papers, drafts or memoranda pertaining to the message before the text of the so-called "message" was published in the newspapers.

Fact number three: Vice President Nixon did hear at Capitol Hill rumors that a message of some kind was being prepared about the Taft-Hartley Act and he did telephone a member of the White House staff to find out if it was true and, if so, to urge that such a message be held up for a while out of deference to Senator Taft who was one of the authors of the law about to be revised.

Fact number four: At the time Vice President Nixon talked over the phone to a member of the White House staff he did not know anything about the contents of the "message" and hence could not, as labor leaders allege, have argued against the transmission of the document on the ground that certain of its provisions were objectionable to him. It was to dispel such an accusation that Mr. Nixon mentioned the subject in his address to the AFL.

Fact number five: Mr. Durkin, immediately after his resignation as secretary of labor, told a press conference that he had no personal commitment from President Eisenhower concerning the proposed 19 amendments contained in the "message," but that he had had an "agreement" with members of the President's staff about them.

Fact number six: Mr. Durkin told the AFL convention subsequently that Mr. Eisenhower, in a personal meeting he had had with him in New York city, had agreed to send the "message" to Congress even after its text had been published and after various criticisms of its contents had reached the President.

Fact number seven: Mr. Durkin was closeted with the President alone in New York city for only about ten to fifteen minutes and there obviously was no time for a detailed discussion of the 19 amendments but only for some general ideas.

Fact number eight: Mr. Eisenhower assumed that Mr. Durkin knew that, of course, after the amendments had been fully studied by his associates and brought to him in final form the administration would naturally submit it to Congress. To this day, however, these studies and discussions have not been completed. There surely will be a message sent to the next session of Congress embodying the administration's views on the Taft-Hartley Act.

Fact number nine: Vice President Nixon familiarized himself with all the facts concerning the resignation of Mr. Durkin and told the American Federation of Labor convention that there had been a "misunderstanding." This was intended to be a tactful way of preventing the spread of any accusation that the President was questioning the good faith of Mr. Durkin.

Fact number ten: Mr. Durkin favored the draft of the "message" and wanted the administration to approve all 19 of the proposed amendments but the leaders of the AFL and the CIO now say they repudiate these same proposals as inadequate and unsatisfactory.

From the above set of facts it is plain that Messrs. George Meany and Walter Reuther, presidents of the AFL and CIO respectively, and the AFL in its weekly publication have deliberately for purposes of politics or legislative strategy impugned the good faith of the President of the United States by accusing him of breaking an "agreement" and hence now owe him a public apology.

Do You Remember

By SOPHIE MILLER

In mentioning Dr. Kennedy coming to Kingston some half century ago and making his million right here in Rondout brought various responses from readers. One reader brought me a 1902 Kingston City Directory in which on Page 63 appears a full page advertisement which reads as follows: "Cal-cura Solvent dissolves and swiftly removes stone and gravel from the kidney or bladder, thus relieving the pain of kidney colic and avoiding the use of the surgeon's knife. Cal-cura Solvent prevents the formation of uric acid in the blood and corrects those conditions of the stomach which produce gout poisoning, rheumatism and constant headaches. Cal-cura Solvent is Dr. Kennedy's new medicine. It was recently discovered by the well known physician and surgeon, Dr. David Kennedy, Kennedy Row, Rondout, Kingston, New York."

The advertisement also states: "Remember, no other Dr. David Kennedy has ever lived in Rondout, or Kingston. Many years ago he originated "Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy" and other medicines, but he ceased to prepare these in 1898, and they are now made only by the Dr. David Kennedy Corporation, of Rondout. Since 1898, Dr. Kennedy introduced his new medicine, Cal-cura Solvent, and several other new preparations. Cal-cura Solvent is the product of Dr. Kennedy's ripe experience and represents his best efforts. He has said of it: "Cal-cura Solvent is the outcome of my long experience as a physician and surgeon, and I consider it the greatest achievement of my life." I have seen buildings all over Kingston with Cal-cura Solvent painted on them with large letters, and often wondered what it was. I always thought that Dr. Kennedy's Favorite Remedy was his greatest achievement in his financial success in Rondout.

Looking through this 1902 directory, I see back in those days they had two telephone systems, the Citizens' Standard Telephone Company, corner Wall and John and 44 Hasbrouck avenue. The Hudson River Telephone Company was at 54 John street, corner Wall and had an office down at 40 Broadway. I see they had some 12 wagon makers. I bet that was interesting to watch as the wheels were put on, and perhaps the painting was done there also. Down at 44 Ann street, Louis H. Kolts had his shop. There was John M. Meyer's shop at 35-37 Mill street. John E. Burhans had his place at 642 Broadway. Ambrose Slusser made wagons at his shop corner Pine and Franklin street. There were also wagon and sleigh dealers such as John H. Gray, who were successors to the Kingston Carriage Co. at 520 Broadway.

Under the heading of "artists" I see the name of Mrs. Julia Dillon of 109 Pearl street whose paintings are still adorning the homes of local residents. Lionel R. Delisser also is listed, as I remember he was the artistic photographer who wrote and photographed pictures for Picturesque Kingston and other nearby communities. They say he went out with a horse and buggy and what he saw that interested him he wrote about or took photos of and that went into his many books which are owned by our libraries and many homes in this section. I have a few of his books.

AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Last spring, Dave Beck, the president of the Teamsters' Union, got away with a brazen stickup all over the United States in which practically all the freight trucks in the country were canvassed by his agents for the purpose of determining whether the drivers had joined his union. This was done under a pretext, which most of the press carelessly fell for, that this great labor statesman of a new and highly desirable type, was promoting safety on the highways.

The falsity of this propaganda was established last July 3 in Kansas City by testimony elicited from O. L. Ring, secretary of a council of teamsters' locals covering 12 states, president of a "joint council" and president also of Local 541 in Kansas City. Ring was responsible for a great tie-up of armament projects in that area which greatly delayed completion and retarded production of explosives for Korea and wings for planes.

Congressman Clare Hoffman, of Michigan, was examining Ring who, by the way, has since been indicted on charges of robbery, felonious assault and embezzlement. He was a high official of the union under Beck's command and the condition which he created by abuse of the power thus conferred on him was notorious. He terrorized officials and members of other unions as well as employers progressively until the whole area shut down.

Ring maintained that the purpose of the stoppage of the trucks was to determine whether the equipment was safe. However, he could not produce a single scrap of paper to prove this whereas Hoffman put into the record documentary evidence from the union's own correspondence showing that its interest stopped when the drivers had shown their union credentials and proof that they were paid up.

Hoffman showed Ring an official "check-card" which had blanks for a number of purposes including a space for the number of the driver's dues book, the number of his local and this item "dues? Okay——."

Ring was requested to read this card aloud and he did so.

"Obviously," Mr. Hoffman said, "there is not a single word which would give the ones who sent out the card any information about brakes, tires, anything that would have to do with safe operation, is there?"

Ring stalled and, when Hoffman insisted on a direct answer, said: "There was more to be made out which doesn't show there."

"Have you got one of those? Can you get one?"

"I don't know whether I could or not."

This was followed by an incoherent statement which revealed no information. Hoffman then called Ring's attention to the issue of the Teamsters' monthly magazine, published mostly to glorify Beck and other paid officials. He said it was strange that an official card bearing the blanks for the data to be taken from the drivers and inserted in the magazine did not carry any mention of safety.

Congressman Wint Smith, of Kansas, the chairman of the subcommittee, showed Ring a letter from Austin O. Morrison, secretary of Local 696, which went to a truck-owner. It said: "You are doubtless aware that under instructions from our National Trade Division we will check from coast to coast and border to border each driver of over-the-road and general trucking equipment to

WE CAN . . . IF WE WILL

Every fire hits you right in the pocketbook—no matter whether it's in your house, next door, in the next county or in a distant city elsewhere in the country. The price of everything we buy includes a fire tax—the cost to America for rebuilding the homes, farms, factories, schools, and hospitals that fire destroyed.

What can we do about it? These are the facts. The fire loss in 1952 was $896,000,000, an all-time high, says the National Fire Protection Association, national sponsors of Fire Prevention Week. This is just the direct out-of-pocket loss with no allowance for replacement cost, lost production, lost wages . . . or loss of life, or for injuries and heartache.

The fire loss during the first 6 months of 1953 was running ahead of 1952, promising an even higher fire tax for everyone this year.

Some may be consoled by the fact that inflation of property values accounts for a substantial part of the increase, and also that the post-war building boom means there is a great deal more for us to burn. This is true, but the important fact is this . . . 90 per cent of the fires that killed 12,535 people and burned property valued at $896,000,000 in 1952 were actually due to our tragic lack of interest in our own personal safety habits. The NFPA says we burned up ourselves!

We can do a great deal about this if we will. For example: We can stop smoking in bed; certainly not smoke near combustible materials and always heed "No Smoking" signs. We can clean out closets, attics, basements—get rid of the kind of fuel that multiplies fire danger in the home . . . papers, magazines and similar materials that are waiting to feed sparks. Hundreds of small children burn to death because of their fascination with matches—keep matches out of the reach of small children and teach older ones how to use them properly. We can use only non-flammable cleaning fluids in the home—but it's much safer to send things to the cleaners. We should keep buildings in repair and recover combustible wood shingle roofs with spark-resistant roofing such as asphalt shingles. We can have a competent electrician check electric circuits for overloading; and we can make sure that we are using electrical appliances properly and safely. We must have furnaces, space heaters and chimneys inspected periodically and kept clean and in good working order.

We can do these things if we will and when we do, the fire safety of our homes will be greatly increased. It's the surest way to cut the fire tax—both in terms of heartbreak and the pocketbook.

We read with interest of the explorers who found four lost tribes in Africa. We can seldom manage to find the person we have an appointment with on a street corner.

SLOWDOWN SUCCESS

Eleven states from Maine to Maryland recently reported on the results of a traffic slowdown program they conducted through three months of this summer. The report showed that deaths from automobile accidents in those states decreased three per cent from the number in the same three-month period of 1952. States cooperating in the slowdown program were: Maine, New Hampshire, Vermont, Massachusetts, Rhode Island, Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and Delaware.

Travel over the highways in the eleven states was at an all-time summer high. Despite this, 41 fewer people were killed in automobile accidents. Convictions on traffic violation counts were increased in all of the states and safety authorities credit this increase with the increase in safety.

Many accidents are caused by factors other than speeding. But speeding does figure in a very high percentage of accidents, particularly the killing ones. The eleven-state experiment is proof that a strictly enforced program against speeding can produce good results. Every state is interested in reducing the number of traffic accidents and the report of what was accomplished in the coordinated slowdown will assist safety officials in all the others.

'These Days'

THE OFFENSIVE

It is curious that Europeans and Asiatics continue to talk about the change of attitude of the Russians, the new policy of Malenkov, the prospect of a more peaceful solution of the problems arising between the United States and Soviet Russia.

Yesterday's disappointments are readily forgotten in the hopes of tomorrow. Actually nothing has occurred since Stalin's death even to indicate a revolutionary change in the perspective of Soviet Russia in its relationship with other countries. There have been words, but no actions. There has been propaganda, but no implementation.

The Korean truce gives the impression of being a tremendous Russian step toward peace, but the methods employed by the Chinese and Korean Communists, under Russian direction, are the same old game of procrastination, delay and postponement. The Russians know that the United States is obligated to open the Political Conference by October 28, but Vishinsky continues to try every trick in his bag to confuse the situation, to raise false issues, to arouse the hopes of small nations to play big parts, realizing that the United States cannot and will not agree to any changes in the procedural arrangement already voted in the General Assembly of the United Nations. Everything is done to delay.

The war in Indo-China continues, and the Russians conduct an agitation in France that it is the United States which insists that the war there continue. They are advertising it as an American war against an Asiatic people. Yet, it was the Kremlin that ordered that war against France. One would imagine, from the Russian statements concerning the Indo-Chinese war, that that country had not been a French colonial area since 1862 and continues to be to this day.

The confusions raised by these Russian agitations may be brilliant psychological warfare, but they are not indicative of any change of Russian policy or tactics since the death of Stalin, or for that matter since the death of Lenin in 1924.

The fact is that Soviet Russia is following a continuous permanent policy of world conquest which is essential in the Marxist concept of One World—a world that is nationless, raceless, classless, centering in the Kremlin and governed by a Marxist elite. There can be no question that at long last those in control of the American foreign policy, President Eisenhower and Secretary of State John Foster Dulles, have grasped the essential nature of the Marxist goal and they understand that a step back, for a moment, even for a good reason, is a rest only to gather strength to make two steps forward, if possible. Lenin made the retreat a tactical method in the strategy of world conquest. It was for this reason that John Foster Dulles abandoned the "Containment Policy" as inadequate and impractical. It is impossible to contain a country determined upon a universal empire, short of war.

Yet, nothing stands still. The abandonment of a policy, long held and implemented, by a series of actions, even involving limited wars, must be replaced by some other policy because the challenge of events requires immediate responses. And such challenges are accelerated by the very existence of the United Nations, which affords member and now even non-member states a forum to state their cases and to attack, if they choose, their opponents and their betters.

The Eisenhower Administration is meeting these numerous challenges by taking a position that is more positive, more nationalistic, more coherent in the philosophic sense than this country has witnessed in two decades. This attitude has encountered considerable opposition in Europe, as witness Clement Attlee's anti-American speech in the course of which he tried to convey the impression that the United States was the international trouble-maker.

Yet, actually those nations with whom we have to do business are better off in their relations with the United States because they have a clearer idea of what American purposes and policies are.

The role of Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., in the United Nations is a case in point. He speaks up and although some of his European colleagues have ridiculed him for his lack of diplomacy, actually Lodge has presented his country as tough-minded, conciliatory but not compromising, clear as to intentions but willing to help the cause of peace. He represents a stronger position than his American predecessors in the United Nations.

DOING SOMETHING FOR THE DISABLED

Notwithstanding wars, rumors of wars, and upset world conditions, there are individuals and groups of individuals who go about their daily tasks and yet find, or make, time to help their fellow men. One such organization is the Public Affairs Pamphlets (Public Affairs Committee), a nonprofit educational organization whose purpose is to make available in summary and inexpensive form the results of research in economic and social problems to aid in the understanding and development of American policy.

Their latest publication is "Doing Something for the Disabled." The pamphlet uses a true story to show the type of work being done by Public Affairs Committee, Incorporated. In it is described a man, 23 years old, married, with 3 children, who finally had to give up his work (driving a tractor) because of a bad hip resulting from an injury received in playing leapfrog at age of three. The pain was so severe that he went to see the industrial nurse to get something to kill the pain. The nurse gave him a sympathetic hearing and then told him that there were lots of jobs that a man with a bad hip could do besides wheeling a tractor. She told him there were job specialists who spent their lives helping fellows like him to work out programs to meet their individual needs. There was a state organization called the Vocational Rehabilitation Agency. The next day he went for an interview with the representative of this agency, laid all the facts of his life and work before him and expressed his desire to learn something useful so as to support his wife and three children.

Aptitude tests showed that there were many jobs he could do. Later, a job was available for him after he had undergone an operation on his hip which would free him from his pain. While in hospital and before he could go back to work, the Department of Public Welfare helped him over the hump with his family's expenses through their program of Aid to Dependent Children and the Rehabilitation Agency took care of his medical expenses, job training, and a small maintenance to keep him going.

The pamphlet states that the experience of this young man, doomed to a life of pain, worry and dependence on others, transformed to a life free of pain and ability to be equipped to do useful work and earn a living for his family, "is being duplicated thousands of times every day in America." The pamphlet also tells the story of the rehabilitation of disabled miners through the program of the United Mine Workers of America Welfare and Retirement Fund.

This pamphlet may be obtained by sending 25 cents to the Public Affairs Committee, Inc., 22 East 38th street, New York 16, N. Y.

Just an Old Muscovite Trick

Larsen's Washington News Notebook

Washington (NEA)—Some form of the door-to-door canvass by Internal Revenue Service agents is almost sure to be adopted on a nation-wide basis. The idea is to make sure that everybody pays their income taxes.

The results of the experiment in New England with that procedure are now being studied by top IRS officials. But it had such obviously good results, from the U. S. Treasury's point of view, that it's considered a cinch to be a standard IRS operation.

The studies are concentrating on removing the bugs and possible abuses.

Wilbur A. Gallahan, IRS commissioner of the New England region and veteran employe of the agency, was in charge of the test. He gives these details on the way it works:

The agent knocks on the door and shows his credentials, which include his picture. Residents are cautioned to check the credentials carefully. One of the possible abuses is a phony agent using this means of getting into a house.

Want Proof of Payment

First question the agent asks is whether or not the resident has filed all of his federal tax forms. If the resident says, "yes," the agent then asks him to show either a canceled check, copy of the form, or treasury receipt for the payment.

If the person can produce one of the papers and it's in order that's all there is to the visit. His name is checked off and the agent goes about his business.

If the householder or resident hasn't fixed his forms, or if he has some question about his federal taxes, the agent seeks to get the matter straightened out then and there. In this way the canvass purports to be a service.

When the resident claims he has paid all of his taxes, but can't produce proof, the agent makes a note of it and then checks the official files later. If the files don't produce evidence of payment the agent makes another call to that house. This situation occurs most frequently, it has been found. Sometimes it's because the taxpayer hasn't been a taxpayer.

If the latter case is found to be true, the agent moves in with the regular delinquent collection procedure.

Those New England residents who have had calls from IRS men have been very cooperative, Gallahan claims. He says many of them who have been found to have tax difficulties consider it a favor to have an agent come around and straighten the whole thing out.

Only a Few Are Indignant

Only a few agents have doors slammed in their faces by indignant householders who feel their rights are being trampled in this procedure. When it happens, the agent makes it a first order of business next day to check that person in the central file.

There have been isolated reports that IRS agents in other parts of the country have been intentionally even tough on taxpayers, with an eye to embarrassing the Republican administration. The story goes that these agents have said that their toughness was a specific order from the White House.

If this sort of thing was widespread in the service, the door-to-door canvass would lend itself very well to such a means of political sabotage. Service officials, however, while they admit having heard of such cases periodically during the past months, claim that it's not serious enough to wreck the canvass idea. Gallahan claims that there was no report of it in the New England test.

Gallahan's agents were pounding the pavement two days per month on this task. In the first go-round they collected $445,000 in delinquent taxes at a cost of $10,000. Succeeding tests collected proportionate revenue for cost.

The profit is obviously the big attraction.

'Unimpeachable Source' Gives Story of What Occurred Between President and Durkin

By DAVID LAWRENCE

Washington, Oct. 5—The true story of what happened between President Eisenhower and Martin Durkin, former Secretary of Labor, has been obtained by this correspondent from an unimpeachable source.

It would have been unnecessary to disclose all the facts concerning the circumstances that led to Mr. Durkin's resignation as Secretary of Labor if it had not been for the manner in which the American Federation og Labor's official publication, entitled "News Reporter," has just cast doubt on President Eisenhower's good faith in telling his press conference that he never in his life knowingly broke agreement with anybody.

The AFL's publication now says in its current issue that a speech made recently by Vice President Nixon at the AFL convention "fully confirmed the truth of Martin Dudkin's charges that the President had broken an agreement" with respect to the submission to Congress of a message on changes in the Taft-Hartley Act.

The AFL periodical selected as its "proof" a passage from Mr. Nixon's speech in which he said that he had nothing to do with the substance of te message but only with its "timing." From this the AFL publication infers that there was a "message," the text of which had been agreed upon by the President and Mr. Durkin, and that Mr. Eisenhower was dissuaded from sending the document to Congress one day at its last session only because of the death of Senator Taft and because it was deemed perhaps disrespectful to transmit such a message at that time. The claim is made by labor leaders that Mr. Eisenhower changed his mind about sending the message as it had been agreed upon and thereby broke his "agreement." What are the facts?

Fact number one: Mr. Eisenhower never saw or read the so-called "message" which was really a "working draft" admittedly prepared by members of his secretariat at the White House after various consultations with Mr. Durkin and others inside and outside the administration and Congress.

Fact number two: Vice President Nixon never saw or read the "message or any papers, drafts or memoranda pertaining to the message before the text of the so-called "message" was published in the newspapers.

Fact number three: Vice President Nixon did hear at Capitol Hill rumors that a message of some kind was being prepared about the Taft-Hartley Act and he did telephone a member of the White House staff to find out if it was true and, if so, to urge that such a message be held up for a while out of deference to Senator Taft who was one of the authors of the law about to be revised.

Fact number four: At the time Vice President Nixon talked over the phone to a member of the White House staff he did not know anything about the contents of the "message" and hence could not, as labor leaders allege, have argued against the transmission of the document on the ground that certain of its provisions were objectionable to him. It was to dispel such an accusation that Mr. Nixon mentioned the subject in his address to the AFL.

Fact number five: Mr. Durkin, immediately after his resignation as secretary of labor, told a press conference that he had no personal commitment from President Eisenhower concerning the proposed 19 amendments contained in the "message," but that he had had an "agreement" with members of the President's staff about them.

Fact number six: Mr. Durkin told the AFL convention subsequently that Mr. Eisenhower, in a personal meeting he had had with him in New York city, had agreed to send the "message" to Congress even after its text had been published and after various criticisms of its contents had reached the President.

Fact number seven: Mr. Durkin was closeted with the President alone in New York city for only about ten to fifteen minutes and there obviously was no time for a detailed discussion of the 19 amendments but only for some general ideas.

Fact number eight: Mr. Eisenhower assumed that Mr. Durkin knew that, of course, after the amendments had been fully studied by his associates and brought to him in final form the administration would naturally submit it to Congress. To this day, however, these studies and discussions have not been completed. There surely will be a message sent to the next session of Congress embodying the administration's views on the Taft-Hartley Act.

Fact number nine: Vice President Nixon familiarized himself with all the facts concerning the resignation of Mr. Durkin and told the American Federation of Labor convention that there had been a "misunderstanding." This was intended to be a tactful way of preventing the spread of any accusation that the President was questioning the good faith of Mr. Durkin.

Fact number ten: Mr. Durkin favored the draft of the "message" and wanted the administration to approve all 19 of the proposed amendments but the leaders of the AFL and the CIO now say they repudiate these same proposals as inadequate and unsatisfactory.

From the above set of facts it is plain that Messrs. George Meany and Walter Reuther, presidents of the AFL and CIO respectively, and the AFL in its weekly publication have deliberately for purposes of politics or legislative strategy impugned the good faith of the President of the United States by accusing him of breaking an "agreement" and hence now owe him a public apology.

In mentioning Dr. Kennedy coming to Kingston some half century ago and making his million right here in Rondout brought various responses from readers. One reader brought me a 1902 Kingston City Directory in which on Page 63 appears a full page advertisement which reads as follows: "Cal-cura Solvent dissolves and swiftly removes stone and gravel from the kidney or bladder, thus relieving the pain of kidney colic and avoiding the use of the surgeon's knife. AS PEGLER SEES IT

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Last spring, Dave Beck, the president of the Teamsters' Union, got away with a brazen stickup all over the United States in which practically all the freight trucks in the country were canvassed by his agents for the purpose of determining whether the drivers had joined his union. This was done under a pretext, which most of the press carelessly fell for, that this great labor statesman of a new and highly desirable type, was promoting safety on the highways.

The falsity of this propaganda was established last July 3 in Kansas City by testimony elicited from O. L. Ring, secretary of a council of teamsters' locals covering 12 states, president of a "joint council" and president also of Local 541 in Kansas City. Ring was responsible for a great tie-up of armament projects in that area which greatly delayed completion and retarded production of explosives for Korea and wings for planes.

Congressman Clare Hoffman, of Michigan, was examining Ring who, by the way, has since been indicted on charges of robbery, felonious assault and embezzlement. He was a high official of the union under Beck's command and the condition which he created by abuse of the power thus conferred on him was notorious. He terrorized officials and members of other unions as well as employers progressively until the whole area shut down.

Ring maintained that the purpose of the stoppage of the trucks was to determine whether the equipment was safe. However, he could not produce a single scrap of paper to prove this whereas Hoffman put into the record documentary evidence from the union's own correspondence showing that its interest stopped when the drivers had shown their union credentials and proof that they were paid up.

Hoffman showed Ring an official "check-card" which had blanks for a number of purposes including a space for the number of the driver's dues book, the number of his local and this item "dues? Okay——."

Ring was requested to read this card aloud and he did so.

"Obviously," Mr. Hoffman said, "there is not a single word which would give the ones who sent out the card any information about brakes, tires, anything that would have to do with safe operation, is there?"

Ring stalled and, when Hoffman insisted on a direct answer, said: "There was more to be made out which doesn't show there."

"Have you got one of those? Can you get one?"

"I don't know whether I could or not."

This was followed by an incoherent statement which revealed no information. Hoffman then called Ring's attention to the issue of the Teamsters' monthly magazine, published mostly to glorify Beck and other paid officials. He said it was strange that an official card bearing the blanks for the data to be taken from the drivers and inserted in the magazine did not carry any mention of safety.

Congressman Wint Smith, of Kansas, the chairman of the subcommittee, showed Ring a letter from Austin O. Morrison, secretary of Local 696, which went to a truck-owner. It said: "You are doubtless aware that under instructions from our National Trade Division we will check from coast to coast and border to border each driver of over-the-road and general trucking equipment to

Fire Movie Saved Her From Death In Flames

By NEA Service

Newington, Conn., (NEA) — A movie she'd seen months before saved the life of Marilyn Moore when the 10-year-old girl suddenly found herself a human torch.

It all happened very fast, but Marilyn had learned her lesson. She accidently backed into a lighted gas stove, and her flannel shirt burst into flames. If she'd succumbed to panic, she would have run screaming, and thus fanned the flames even more.

But Marilyn calmly wrapped herself in the kitchen rug, rolled on the floor and quickly smothered the fire. She escaped unscathed.

Later, she told her parents that she learned the life-saving trick in school, watching a movie. It was called "Friend or Foe," and is a 17-minute film produced by two insurance companies.

(Eds: FYI they are the Automobile Insurance Company and the Standard Fire Insurance Company).

Thousands of school children in every state have seen it, and thousands more will see it during Fire Prevention Week this year.

Marilyn Moore is only one child already saved by "Friend or Foe." There are other cases on record.

When fire raced through his home in Surrey, N. C., a young boy followed what he'd been taught in the movie. He lay on the floor and crept along the wall to the door.

And Pauline Callenback, 7, of Rabun County, Ga., saved her three little brothers when their mountain home caught fire. She was able to lead them to safety because of what she'd learned.

The movie, which is available without charge to any school or civic group for showing, makes 10 major points on preventing fires:

MARILYN MOORE gets closeup of film that saved her.

1. Check your home periodically, to eliminate fire hazards.
2. Check the chimney and heating unit in your home once a year.
3. Clean out old papers and rags from cellar and attic, to lessen the danger of spontaneous combustion.
4. Never smoke in bed, and be sure all cigarettes and matches are out and not left smoldering.
5. Don't use flammable liquids for cleaning.
6. Have a fire extinguisher.
7. Hold home fire drills, and learn what to do before the fire department arrives.
8. Learn how to report a fire to the fire department.
9. Remember to give as much warning as possible in case of fire. Your cry may save a life.
10. Remember to keep calm and avoid panic.

But it was the other part of the film that saved Marilyn Moore's life. She saw, graphically, how to save her life. It's a nice trick to know.

Fire Prevention Week Set for October 4-10

Proclaimed by President Eisenhower, Fire Prevention Week will be observed this year from October 4-10, Fire Chief Murphy announced today.

The chief said, "This year's campaign will emphasize human carelessness as the biggest fire hazard of all. The National Fire Protection Association, sponsor of this annual crusade against fire, reports a life loss of 12,535 and a property loss of $896,000,000 in 1952. And according to the NFPA, 90 per cent of the fires that are taking such a high toll of life and property could have been prevented.

"While losses were at an all-time high in 1952, fire statistics for the first six months of 1953 indicate that the U. S. will suffer an even greater loss this year," the chief continued. "Few people realize it, but everyone of us as individuals have to pay for this tragic and unnecessary loss. Everything we buy—food, clothing, the rent we pay—costs more because the price includes a heavy fire tax."

R. L. Sabin Will Manage WKNY-TV

The appointment of Robert L. Sabin as manager of television operations was announced today by Robert M. Peebles, vice president and general manager of Kingston Broadcasting Corporation, which owns and operates Radio Station WKNY and holds a construction permit for WKNY-TV.

Sabin joined the staff of WKNY a year ago as television consultant and announcer. He was appointed program director of the Kingston radio station last December.

He attended Williams College and has a background of 15 years in broadcasting, four of which were spent with the American Broadcasting Company in New York, Chicago and San Francisco as a network radio and television announcer. Sabin has served as commercial manager of Radio Stations KOAT, Albuquerque, New Mexico and KDB, Santa Barbara, California and as program director of Station WKON, Monterey-Silinas, California. Prior to coming to WKNY he was a partner in the radio consulting firm of Perry-Sabin.

Don't Keep Home Fires Burning

"Good engineering would have prevented half of the fires that attacked 336,000 homes in the United States in 1952," Fire Chief Joseph L. Murphy said today.

The chief explained that by "good engineering" he was referring to the avoidance of four structural hazards that the National Fire Protection Association says cause at least half of all home fires. "Now, when home owners are spending billions to bring their homes up-to-date is the time to make our homes structurally fire-safe."

The chief said the four structural hazards are:

1 HEATING PLANTS—Make sure the heating plant is properly installed with adequate safeguards. Enclose the heating plant in fire-resistant walls. Cover the joists above the furnace with plaster, gypsum board, asbestos, or some similar fire-resistant material.

2 CHIMNEYS—Have a mason check the chimney to be sure it is properly built and in good condition. The chimney should rest on the ground upon a good foundation. Don't allow wood work to be in contact with the chimney. Be sure the chimney is free—standing, not supported by or lending support to the house. Clean the heating plant and the chimney at least once a year.

3 ROOFS—Make sure the roof is of a spark-resistant material. When you remodel, recover a weather-worn combustible wood shingle roof with asphalt shingles or a similar fire-retardant roof covering.

4 WIRING SYSTEM — Many existing wiring systems originally were designed for operation of electrical lights and small appliances and are not adequate for dishwashers, ranges, ironers, freezers and dryers or other large appliances. Make sure the wiring system is of sufficient capacity to take care of present electrical needs. Have plenty of outlets installed and properly located to eliminate long extension cords.

"Let's not forget that 12,535 people died in fires in 1952," Chief Murphy said, "and more than half of them in their own homes. Elimination of these four structural hazards, plus a little care instead of a lot of carelessness, will save most of these lives and will quickly put the rising curve of fire losses into a tail spin."

Investor Forum

Harry C. France

Bill King has saved $1,000. In the words of Mr. Churchill, "sweat and tears" went into the accumulation of that money. Bill read one of these columns in 1950 in which systematic saving was stressed. The next morning he walked into a savings bank, planked down a five-dollar bill and opened an account.

That one act has transformed his economic life. "Tall oaks from little acorns grow." His smallest deposit has been three dollars, his largest $20. His letter to me was full of economic sense. "It would have been very easy," he declared, "to have allowed this thousand dollars to slip right through my fingers. It has taken me two and one-half years to save it. That's 130 weeks. If I'd spent a dollar a day more, I wouldn't now have this money."

Bill likes filet mignon. There's a place in his city where he can get such a dinner for five dollars. He goes there occasionally. After all, "Silas Marner" saving is unreasonable. But many are the nights he walks right past the five-dollar filet mignon place and on to the cafeteria where he can get a thick soup, a beef stew, a glass of milk and strawberry ice cream for $1.15.

Nights when he pays $1.15 for his dinner instead of five-dollars, he sets aside $3.85 to deposit in his savings bank account. Bill is not stingy; neither is he wasteful. A GI of World War 2, at 27 he has a well-ordered economic life. His spirit of thrift and saving is well coordinated with his vocational talents and abilities.

Now he has asked me to suggest some investments for his $1,000. I gave him 10 from which to choose. And in my letter I said, among other things, "Stockholders must always look into the risk and income elements of their prospective purchases. There is risk in everything. If every common and preferred stock investor would write 100 words or so about the risk resident in his shares, there would be fewer head and heart aches."

The stock he chose is a $3.75 cumulative preferred. He paid $918.50 for 10 shares. It is a very high grade stock. It cost $91¼ a share and there was a small tax and commission charge. These shares are callable at $104 each to November 1, 1956. And after that to November 1, 1961 at $103. Thus, the price risk is most favorable. It is most improbable that the shares will be called.

Now, how about the stability of income? He is promised $37.50 a year from his 10 shares. What is the record of this preferred for the years 1948-1952? Well, the dividend requirements for five years on 10 shares would have been $187.50. How were these requirements covered? Over 55 times. The earnings available for preferred dividends (on 10 shares) totalled $10,550!

So, with earnings enormously covering dividends and with call prices about $12 a share above cost, Bill, the enterprising and thrifty GI, hasn't anything to worry about when he puts $918.50 on the line for 10 shares.

Now, that is the kind of calculation an investor buying shares for the first time should engage in. He should ask himself: (1) What is the nature of the risk and (2) Is the promised income fully covered.

Bill has further plans. By adding six-dollars a year to his $37.50 yearly dividend, he can buy a $2,000 life insurance contract. So, very soon, out of the dollars he saved in the market places, he will have in his safety deposit box 10 shares of high grade preferred stock and a $2,000 life insurance contract.

That is what I call grass-roots thrift and saving. America needs millions of Bill Kings. The more there are the stronger our country will be; the fewer there are, the weaker.

Will trustees and managers of church, college, hospital, society and philanthropic endowment funds, fearful of investing 2 and 2½% money, look into situations like the one developed here? I know a social service executive who desperately needs a $50 a month salary boost. He is devoted to his work. As a consequence, his board of control can keep him economically tied down.

What can they do? Why, reinvest $37,000 of 2½% money into 4 per cent income by buying 400 shares of this $3.75 preferred where the dividend is covered 55 times over. The income would be increased $740 a year and an unhappy executive would become contented.

(Q) "What is behind this bear market? How low will stock prices go?"

(A) The Administration in Washington is trying to boil some of the inflation out of the economy. Inflation is like a sick person. Recovery leaves him weak and debilitated. But when his strength is renewed, his vigor shows itself again. I don't know how low stock prices will go. But those who needlessly sell sound shares will eventually be sorry.

Are Your Aged Living In Fire-Trap 'Homes'?

All nursing home operators in Kingston should immediately self-inspect their property for fire hazards to forestall any local repetition of the tragic nursing home fires that have occurred elsewhere in the country in recent months.

Fire Chief Murphy today addressed this special appeal to nursing home operators on the occasion of Fire Prevention Week which the community and the fire department are observing all this week.

"A nursing home can be the scene of disaster instead of a haven of comfort and rest if certain basic principles of fire protection and fire prevention are not understood and put into practice," Chief Murphy stated. "In case of fire, elderly people cannot always be counted upon to act quickly and patients confined to their beds cannot be expected to escape unaided."

Quoting from the fire record files of the National Fire Protection Week, Chief Murphy said that since January 1, 1950, there have been some 30 nursing home fires in the United States and Canada with a total loss of life of 143 persons. This record shows that many nursing home operators are not taking the safety of their charges sufficiently into account, but instead are exposing them to serious life-hazardous conditions—thereby defeating the very purpose of an institution supposedly offering sheltered care.

The chief said, "We do not want to contribute to this long list of nursing home disasters. I therefore urge all nursing home operators in this city to self-inspect their property during Fire Prevention Week with the following points in mind:

1—A building property designed and specifically built for a nursing home is better and safer than a large, old dwelling which has been converted.

2—One-story, fire-resistive construction is recommended, but a building of two or more floors is relatively safe if all stairways and other vertical openings such as elevator shafts, clothes chutes, and dumbwaiters are enclosed and other standard safeguards are provided.

3 — Combustible buildings are not safe above the first floor for patients who are unable to help themselves.

4—The hazard of large-area buildings can be reduced by putting up fire walls or smoke-stop partitions.

5—Automatic sprinklers to a large extent offset structural defects and can be installed in most existing buildings. Automatic sprinklers pay big dividends in fire safety and may lower insurance rates.

Chief Murphy pointed out that the NFPA Committee on Safety to Life is preparing an official building code standard for nursing homes. To fill immediate needs, though, the committee has prepared a pamphlet giving recommendations on fire-safe construction and suggestions covering exits for rapid evacuation of patients. The publication also treats control of fire hazards and alarm and extinguishing equipment. Copies are available to anyone interested in nursing home fire safety.

Fire takes a shocking toll . . . in property destroyed, homes devastated, futures blasted, bodies maimed, lives lost. The eerie whining of fire engine's siren grips every heart in the quick, chill terror of the question, "Could this be MY turn?"

Bitterly ironic is the fact that most fires could have been prevented. Fire feeds greedily on careless deeds. Fire can be stopped before it starts by care and caution . . . YOUR care and caution. Check that wiring system. Clean up that accumulation of waste material in the basement. Keep paints, oils and other combustibles in a fire-safe place. Watch that lighted match and cigarette butt. Don't smoke while working with inflammables. Don't smoke in bed . . . ever!

Put your family on guard against every fire hazard . . . not only during Fire Prevention Week (Oct. 4th to 10th) but every day and night of every week of every month. Fire prevention is a year 'round job for everyone. Its watch words are BE CAREFUL ALL WAYS!

If every home owner knew what every "burned out" family knows, every house and its contents would be FULLY protected by fire insurance. Consult any insurance agent listed here.

These shares are callable at $104 each to November 1, 1956. And after that to November 1, 1961 at $103. Thus, the price risk is most favorable. It is most improbable that the shares will be called.

Now, how about the stability of income? He is promised $37.50 a year from his 10 shares. What is the record of this preferred for the years 1948-1952? Well, the dividend requirements for five years on 10 shares would have been $187.50. How were these requirements covered? Over 55 times. The earnings available for preferred dividends (on 10 shares) totalled $10,550!

So, with earnings enormously covering dividends and with call prices about $12 a share above cost, Bill, the enterprising and thrifty GI, hasn't anything to worry about when he puts $918.50 on the line for 10 shares.

Now, that is the kind of calculation an investor buying shares for the first time should engage in. He should ask himself: (1) What is the nature of the risk and (2) Is the promised income fully covered.

Bill has further plans. By adding six-dollars a year to his $37.50 yearly dividend, he can buy a $2,000 life insurance contract. So, very soon, out of the dollars he saved in the market places, he will have in his safety deposit box 10 shares of high grade preferred stock and a $2,000 life insurance contract.

That is what I call grass-roots thrift and saving. America needs millions of Bill Kings. The more there are the stronger our country will be; the fewer there are, the weaker.

Will trustees and managers of church, college, hospital, society and philanthropic endowment funds, fearful of investing 2 and 2½% money, look into situations like the one developed here? I know a social service executive who desperately needs a $50 a month salary boost. He is devoted to his work. As a consequence, his board of control can keep him economically tied down.

What can they do? Why, reinvest $37,000 of 2½% money into 4 per cent income by buying 400 shares of this $3.75 preferred where the dividend is covered 55 times over. The income would be increased $740 a year and an unhappy executive would become contented.

(Q) "What is behind this bear market? How low will stock prices go?"

(A) The Administration in Washington is trying to boil some of the inflation out of the economy. Inflation is like a sick person. Recovery leaves him weak and debilitated. But when his strength is renewed, his vigor shows itself again. I don't know how low stock prices will go. But those who needlessly sell sound shares will eventually be sorry.

Combating Blindness

Precautions now taken to reduce the likelihood of blindness include the putting of nitrate of silver in a baby's eyes at birth, wearing of goggles in hazardous occupations, and use of non-shatterable glass for spectacles.

Are Your Aged Living In Fire-Trap 'Homes'?

All nursing home operators in Kingston should immediately self-inspect their property for fire hazards to forestall any local repetition of the tragic nursing home fires that have occurred elsewhere in the country in recent months.

Fire Chief Murphy today addressed this special appeal to nursing home operators on the occasion of Fire Prevention Week which the community and the fire department are observing all this week.

"A nursing home can be the scene of disaster instead of a haven of comfort and rest if certain basic principles of fire protection and fire prevention are not understood and put into practice," Chief Murphy stated. "In case of fire, elderly people cannot always be counted upon to act quickly and patients confined to their beds cannot be expected to escape unaided."

Quoting from the fire record files of the National Fire Protection Week, Chief Murphy said that since January 1, 1950, there have been some 30 nursing home fires in the United States and Canada with a total loss of life of 143 persons. This record shows that many nursing home operators are not taking the safety of their charges sufficiently into account, but instead are exposing them to serious life-hazardous conditions—thereby defeating the very purpose of an institution supposedly offering sheltered care.

The chief said, "We do not want to contribute to this long list of nursing home disasters. I therefore urge all nursing home operators in this city to self-inspect their property during Fire Prevention Week with the following points in mind:

1—A building property designed and specifically built for a nursing home is better and safer than a large, old dwelling which has been converted.

2—One-story, fire-resistive construction is recommended, but a building of two or more floors is relatively safe if all stairways and other vertical openings such as elevator shafts, clothes chutes, and dumbwaiters are enclosed and other standard safeguards are provided.

3 — Combustible buildings are not safe above the first floor for patients who are unable to help themselves.

4—The hazard of large-area buildings can be reduced by putting up fire walls or smoke-stop partitions.

5—Automatic sprinklers to a large extent offset structural defects and can be installed in most existing buildings. Automatic sprinklers pay big dividends in fire safety and may lower insurance rates.

Chief Murphy pointed out that the NFPA Committee on Safety to Life is preparing an official building code standard for nursing homes. To fill immediate needs, though, the committee has prepared a pamphlet giving recommendations on fire-safe construction and suggestions covering exits for rapid evacuation of patients. The publication also treats control of fire hazards and alarm and extinguishing equipment. Copies are available to anyone interested in nursing home fire safety.

Fire takes a shocking toll . . . in property destroyed, homes devastated, futures blasted, bodies maimed, lives lost. The eerie whining of fire engine's siren grips every heart in the quick, chill terror of the question, "Could this be MY turn?"

Bitterly ironic is the fact that most fires could have been prevented. Fire feeds greedily on careless deeds. Fire can be stopped before it starts by care and caution . . . YOUR care and caution. Check that wiring system. Clean up that accumulation of waste material in the basement. Keep paints, oils and other combustibles in a fire-safe place. Watch that lighted match and cigarette butt. Don't smoke while working with inflammables. Don't smoke in bed . . . ever!

Put your family on guard against every fire hazard . . . not only during Fire Prevention Week (Oct. 4th to 10th) but every day and night of every week of every month. Fire prevention is a year 'round job for everyone. Its watch words are BE CAREFUL ALL WAYS!

If every home owner knew what every "burned out" family knows, every house and its contents would be FULLY protected by fire insurance. Consult any insurance agent listed here.

Saugerties

Garden Society Plans October 28 Luncheon

Saugerties, Oct. 5—A meeting of the Saugerties Society of Little Gardens was held last week at the home of Mrs. Arthur Lamb, with several guests present. Mrs. Daniel Lamb reported for the committee on arrangements for the annual luncheon, and it was decided that the luncheon would be held at Leherb's, Kingston, Oct. 28. Members wishing to attend are asked to notify Mrs. Lamb.

Mrs. Herman Knaust gave an interesting talk on terrariums, showing one complete with winter planting. She also had various containers which may be used and told what materials are necessary and different plants suitable for growing in terrariums.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess and her committee.

The annual business meeting, the last one of the season, will be held Wednesday, Oct. 14, at the home of Mrs. John Nolan.

Saugerties, Oct. 5—The Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Saugerties Methodist Church was reorganized Sunday night at the first meeting of the young people this season. Mrs. Barbara Hildebrandt and Mrs. Grace Snyder, youth counselors of the group, welcomed the new members as well as former members.

Officers elected for the year were David Cunningham, president; Patricia Cunningham, vice-president; Robert Hanson, secretary-treasurer; Margaret Morgan, program chairman; Peggy Amend, publicity director.

Peggy Amend gave a report on her experiences at Youth Camp last summer. Five of the group decided to go to the weekend conference at Walton from Oct. 9 to 11 and all will go to the youth rally being held Saturday night at Phoenicia.

Meetings will be held on alternate Sundays from 6 to 7:30 p. m. and all young people from the seventh grade up are eligible for membership.

Town Notes

Saugerties, Oct. 5—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Alfred Zisko of Cedar Grove are the parents of a son, Joseph Allen, born Oct. 1 at Dale's Sanitarium.

Mr. and Mrs. John Silinovich of Barclay Heights, are the parents of a son born Sept. 29 at Dale's Sanitarium. The boby has been named Mark Stephen.

The annual card party sponsored by St. Mary's Rosary Guild will be held at the municipal auditorium at 8 p. m., Wednesday, Oct. 21.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Box of Lynbrook were weekend guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Thomson, Robinson street.

Mrs. C. Bartholme, John street has returned from New York where she attended the wedding of her niece.

Mrs. Ethel Humphrey of Ulster avenue, has returned from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Troy Sietz, in Norfolk, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy M. Abeel, Ulster avenue, have returned from a visit in Columbia, S. C., with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David E. Abeel and family.

Annual Open House Is Held by P-TA Group

Saugerties, Oct. 5—The annual open house sponsored by the Saugerties Parent-Teacher Association, which was held at the high school Wednesday night, was well attended.

Five instructors from New York State Teachers College were present for the meetings. They were Dr. Dorothy T. Hayes, director of elementary education; Miss Ruth Coon, John Deeb, Bruce Schlageter, and Dr. James Cooper all of the Campus School at New Paltz. The study groups consisted of five divisions. After the New Paltz instructors had spoken, a question period and general discussion followed at which subjects to be talked over at future meetings were formulated.

After the sessions, all assembled in the high school auditorium for refreshments which were served by a committee headed by Mrs. Kenneth Beadle.

HIGHLAND NEWS

Highland, Oct. 5 — The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Carpenter was christened Gail Marilyn Carpenter at the service in the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning by the pastor, the Rev. Stewart MacColl.

Several large bags of clothing and other useful items have been sent from the local churches through Church World Service to Korea and other areas of the world in desperate need of them. This will supplement the collection of household articles which will be sent from the Highland Council of Church Women on World Community day, Nov. 6. These helps for homes will include washcloths, towels, sheets, pillow cases, blankets, quilts, curtains, drapes and tablecloths. Church and other groups have been meeting to sew on these items and to pack the bags.

The Ladies' Aid Society will meet next Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Woolsey, Maple avenue. Assisting Mrs. Woolsey will be Mrs. R. J. Deyo and Mrs. Elton Tompkins.

Anthony Patrick is building an addition to his residence on the Milton road.

Mrs. May Trench, Wantagh, L. I., is spending this week with her sister, Mrs. Hubert Elting. Her son, Stewart, will drive here Sunday to take her home. Mrs. Trench was for several years a resident of Highland.

Friday, Nov. 20, has been selected by the high school junior class as the date of its annual class play. A committee consisting of Louis DiStasi, chairman, Cynthia Berean and Barbara Wright has been appointed to work with faculty adviser John Crowley on the selection of a play. A junior ring committee also was appointed with John Pampinella, chairman, and William Thompson, Michael Capozzi, Helen Fox and Dolores Giamportone as members. Officers of the junior class are: Co-presidents Janet Mills and Wilfred Relyea; vice-president, Patricia Prizzia; secretary, Ann Valli; treasurer, Elisa Angelille. Miss Eileen Kearney and John Crowley are faculty advisers.

At a party attended by more than 40 persons announcement was made by telegrams distributed by nine-year-old Nancy Sears of the engagement of Miss Jean Aldous, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Aldous, Washington avenue, to Klaus J. Stange, Pleasant Valley, son of Mrs. Charlotte Stange, San Francisco, Calif. The tea was held at the home of the bride-elect Sunday afternoon. Pouring were Mrs. John W. Jessup, Poughkeepsie and Mrs. Carl Jenke, Highland. Assisting were Mrs. Webster McDonald, New Paltz; Mrs. Delmar Ketcham, Fishkill. Mrs. Aldous received her guests in a pale blue gown wearing talisman roses and Miss Aldous wore black taffeta with a pink orchid corsage. Guests were from New Paltz, Poughkeepsie, Newburgh and Fishkill. Miss Aldous is an alumna of Albany State Teachers College and received her MA degree at Niagara University. She is guidance counselor at New Paltz High School. Mr. Stange studied in Berlin, Germany and is employed in the engineering laboratory at IBM.

In plainer words, some 5,000 agents acting under Beck's general power threatened to tie up expensive machinery and to interfere with interstate commerce with great financial loss to the owners if they did not take it upon themselves to compel American citizens to pay money to the union. The extent to which this threat was fulfilled will never be known of course. Mr. Smith pointed out that this letter made no reference to safety or equipment but he could not get Ring to admit that this was so.

In New York, someone slipped the same deception over on Mayor Impellitteri. On June 6 he signed a "proclamation" endorsing "Truck Week." Martin T. Lacey, the president of the Teamsters' Joint Council for the city, for four years had refused to bother with Beck's foible but this time he consented to get into the act. The New York papers were as gullible as the rest, giving Beck credit for high-minded purposes.

Later, the congressional committee took its show to Detroit where the witnesses included James Hoffa, a vice president under Beck and president of a number of state "councils" of teamsters' locals. He is "negotiating chairman" on highway and city transportation for 23 states. He enlightened the congressmen on the "reforms" wrought under Beck since Beck succeeded Dan Tobin, by stating that the posting of a financial statement on the bulletin board of a local constituted "circulation" of that document among the members as required by law. Hoffa refused to give a statement of his financial interests in the Test Fleet Corporation or any other company. He said 99 per cent of the drivers employed by 6,000 companies in 25 states were members of the union.

Beck has been put forward as a fit person to succeed Joe Ryan as commander of the longshoremen of the AF of L.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

Don't Marry a Stranger

I got a letter this morning from a young fellow who says he's thinking of getting married and wants my advice on how to make the marriage stick. Well, he sure has come to the right place. How to make a marriage stick, as all the sundry know, is the specialty of the house.

At the moment, however, I'm afraid I can't spare the time to give my correspondent a full answer to this question. My views on the subject would fill four matched volumes and consist largely, I imagine, of an attack on myself. All I have on hand right now are some random jottings on the back of old subpoenas, but on the off-chance they may do the young fellow some good, I'm going to pass them along. . . .

First, however, I think I ought to post the betting odds on any marriage lasting. According to the Bureau of Vital Statistics, one marriage out of every four in this country winds up in the divorce courts. This, though, is only part of the picture. It doesn't take into account the millions who stay married only because they have children, the millions who can't afford the luxury of a divorce, and the millions whose religion forbids it.

How do I explain this wholesale heartbreak? Well, if I were to list all the reasons, chances are there wouldn't be room left in this paper for the weather report. Moreover, only an idiot would pretend to know them all. However, I do know one reason, and I'm idiot enough to believe it's more important than all the others put together.

Here 'tis:

The principal reason there are so many divorces these days is that so many of us marry strangers. . . .

Let me explain. A "stranger," in my lopsided lingo, isn't necessarily a person you don't know. It's a person you don't know much about. And when it comes to picking a mate, it's my two-penny postulate that unless you know what's rolling around in your sweetie's head, you don't actually know your sweetie. To take it a step further, unless you know what her life was like before you got stuck on her, you can't possibly figure what your future together is going to be. In other words, in marriage as in horse racing, you can't make an intelligent bet until you know something about the past performance of the animal. . . .

The gentleman in the pork-pie hat is shaking his fist at me. He says it isn't feasible to demand a set of references. I know that, mister. It might not be a bad idea, though, to do a bit of quiet checking about your intended—to ask, let's say, half as many questions as one asks when engaging an office boy.

What type questions? Well, there's no point in my listing the obvious ones. You know them as well as I do. However, I would, for instance, find out a little something about the other person's habits—especially the good ones. A bad habit, as any skull doctor will tell you, isn't much of a problem—it can be condoned and, more often than not, corrected. A good habit, however, is something else again. There's nothing more irritating, I have found, than to live with a person who has a good habit you don't have yourself. . . .

As I make it out, the nub of the trouble with marriage nowadays is that the yardstick used by most of us in picking a partner has only three markings on it, "S," "E" and "X." And that we do our measuring when our eyes are so full of stars we can hardly see each other. Few of us stop to consider that sooner or later—generally sooner—the heat turns to ho-hum; and when it does we'll have to have something in common to keep the clock going.

It's then we find that, for the long pull, being able to talk to each other without yawning is more important than wavy hair or a pair of football shoulders. Alas for the morning when the young couple begin to talk—and realize they have darn little to say to each other. And double-alas for the evening when it develops that Mr. Stay-At-Home is married to Mrs. Do-The-Town, and that Another Drinkie is spliced to You've Had Enough!

The business of "opposites attracting," I maintain, works fine on the musical comedy stage where nothing lasts more than an act or two. But it rarely works out when people are sharing bed, board and benzedrine for keeps. I don't mean by this that our mores and mentalities have to coincide exactly. I do think, however, that a pair is in trouble unless their tastes complement each other. In other words, if wifey is interested in art galleries, or the migratory birds of the Upper Amazon, her hubby would do well not to spend all his time at the racetrack. Likewise, if I may make so bold, I think there are storm clouds ahead if a gent who adorers Mao Tse-tung gets hitched to a lady who is rooting for a speedy return of Herbert Hoover to office. Subtle sources of discord like these, I maintain, ought to be checked into first . . .

The wonder of it, I suppose, is that so many marriages, by per-adventure or paste, somehow remain stuck. Nevertheless, I tremble to think what would happen if we adopted the Mohammedan custom of permitting folks to shed their mates by facing the East and saying three times, "I thee divorce." It's my two-for-a-nickle hunch that the stores which sell compasses would be cleaned out the first hour . . .

But enough of this masterminding about marriage and its pitfalls. That old biological moon is shining down on Sixth Avenue tonight and I have a date with a girl. And make no mistake about it, I've checked her carefully. She's not only beautiful, she dances divinely.

Saugerties

Garden Society Plans October 28 Luncheon

Saugerties, Oct. 5—A meeting of the Saugerties Society of Little Gardens was held last week at the home of Mrs. Arthur Lamb, with several guests present. Mrs. Daniel Lamb reported for the committee on arrangements for the annual luncheon, and it was decided that the luncheon would be held at Leherb's, Kingston, Oct. 28. Members wishing to attend are asked to notify Mrs. Lamb.

Mrs. Herman Knaust gave an interesting talk on terrariums, showing one complete with winter planting. She also had various containers which may be used and told what materials are necessary and different plants suitable for growing in terrariums.

At the close of the meeting, refreshments were served by the hostess and her committee.

The annual business meeting, the last one of the season, will be held Wednesday, Oct. 14, at the home of Mrs. John Nolan.

Saugerties, Oct. 5—The Methodist Youth Fellowship of the Saugerties Methodist Church was reorganized Sunday night at the first meeting of the young people this season. Mrs. Barbara Hildebrandt and Mrs. Grace Snyder, youth counselors of the group, welcomed the new members as well as former members.

Officers elected for the year were David Cunningham, president; Patricia Cunningham, vice-president; Robert Hanson, secretary-treasurer; Margaret Morgan, program chairman; Peggy Amend, publicity director.

Peggy Amend gave a report on her experiences at Youth Camp last summer. Five of the group decided to go to the weekend conference at Walton from Oct. 9 to 11 and all will go to the youth rally being held Saturday night at Phoenicia.

Meetings will be held on alternate Sundays from 6 to 7:30 p. m. and all young people from the seventh grade up are eligible for membership.

Town Notes

Saugerties, Oct. 5—Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Alfred Zisko of Cedar Grove are the parents of a son, Joseph Allen, born Oct. 1 at Dale's Sanitarium.

Mr. and Mrs. John Silinovich of Barclay Heights, are the parents of a son born Sept. 29 at Dale's Sanitarium. The boby has been named Mark Stephen.

The annual card party sponsored by St. Mary's Rosary Guild will be held at the municipal auditorium at 8 p. m., Wednesday, Oct. 21.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilbur Box of Lynbrook were weekend guests of their son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Robert E. Thomson, Robinson street.

Mrs. C. Bartholme, John street has returned from New York where she attended the wedding of her niece.

Mrs. Ethel Humphrey of Ulster avenue, has returned from a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Troy Sietz, in Norfolk, Va.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy M. Abeel, Ulster avenue, have returned from a visit in Columbia, S. C., with their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. David E. Abeel and family.

Annual Open House Is Held by P-TA Group

Saugerties, Oct. 5—The annual open house sponsored by the Saugerties Parent-Teacher Association, which was held at the high school Wednesday night, was well attended.

Five instructors from New York State Teachers College were present for the meetings. They were Dr. Dorothy T. Hayes, director of elementary education; Miss Ruth Coon, John Deeb, Bruce Schlageter, and Dr. James Cooper all of the Campus School at New Paltz. The study groups consisted of five divisions. After the New Paltz instructors had spoken, a question period and general discussion followed at which subjects to be talked over at future meetings were formulated.

After the sessions, all assembled in the high school auditorium for refreshments which were served by a committee headed by Mrs. Kenneth Beadle.

HIGHLAND NEWS

Highland, Oct. 5 — The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Carpenter was christened Gail Marilyn Carpenter at the service in the Presbyterian Church Sunday morning by the pastor, the Rev. Stewart MacColl.

Several large bags of clothing and other useful items have been sent from the local churches through Church World Service to Korea and other areas of the world in desperate need of them. This will supplement the collection of household articles which will be sent from the Highland Council of Church Women on World Community day, Nov. 6. These helps for homes will include washcloths, towels, sheets, pillow cases, blankets, quilts, curtains, drapes and tablecloths. Church and other groups have been meeting to sew on these items and to pack the bags.

The Ladies' Aid Society will meet next Wednesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Wilbur Woolsey, Maple avenue. Assisting Mrs. Woolsey will be Mrs. R. J. Deyo and Mrs. Elton Tompkins.

Anthony Patrick is building an addition to his residence on the Milton road.

Mrs. May Trench, Wantagh, L. I., is spending this week with her sister, Mrs. Hubert Elting. Her son, Stewart, will drive here Sunday to take her home. Mrs. Trench was for several years a resident of Highland.

Friday, Nov. 20, has been selected by the high school junior class as the date of its annual class play. A committee consisting of Louis DiStasi, chairman, Cynthia Berean and Barbara Wright has been appointed to work with faculty adviser John Crowley on the selection of a play. A junior ring committee also was appointed with John Pampinella, chairman, and William Thompson, Michael Capozzi, Helen Fox and Dolores Giamportone as members. Officers of the junior class are: Co-presidents Janet Mills and Wilfred Relyea; vice-president, Patricia Prizzia; secretary, Ann Valli; treasurer, Elisa Angelille. Miss Eileen Kearney and John Crowley are faculty advisers.

At a party attended by more than 40 persons announcement was made by telegrams distributed by nine-year-old Nancy Sears of the engagement of Miss Jean Aldous, daughter of Mrs. Elizabeth Aldous, Washington avenue, to Klaus J. Stange, Pleasant Valley, son of Mrs. Charlotte Stange, San Francisco, Calif. The tea was held at the home of the bride-elect Sunday afternoon. Pouring were Mrs. John W. Jessup, Poughkeepsie and Mrs. Carl Jenke, Highland. Assisting were Mrs. Webster McDonald, New Paltz; Mrs. Delmar Ketcham, Fishkill. Mrs. Aldous received her guests in a pale blue gown wearing talisman roses and Miss Aldous wore black taffeta with a pink orchid corsage. Guests were from New Paltz, Poughkeepsie, Newburgh and Fishkill. Miss Aldous is an alumna of Albany State Teachers College and received her MA degree at Niagara University. She is guidance counselor at New Paltz High School. Mr. Stange studied in Berlin, Germany and is employed in the engineering laboratory at IBM.

John Jay Wadlin observed his 10th birthday Saturday afternoon by entertaining 10 of his friends.

Hostesses for the meeting of the WSCS Friday in the Methodist church parlor were Mrs. Lorin E. Osterhoudt, Mrs. R. H. Cummings, Mrs. Irene Phillips, Miss Elizabeth Rhodes, Mrs. Gordon E. Wilcox. A desert luncheon preceded the meeting which was led by Mrs. Luther Filkins.

Mrs. Alvin B. Smith, Wawarsing, is spending this week with her daughter, Mrs. Alvie Smith who is having a week's vacation from her position in the post-office.

A meeting was held Monday night in the Legion building for the organization of an Ulster County Beagle Club with George E. Muller, president; Charles Casaburo, vice-president; Anthony Lanzarone, treasurer; Walter Hyatt, secretary. A second meeting is called for approving the constitution and by-laws. Already the club has leased 170 acres near here for year around training and a field trial area.

The meeting of the Ganse Church School Society will be held Thursday, Oct. 8 with Mrs. Charles Baker at 8 p. m.

Mr. and Mrs. William Stevens have purchased a house in Centerville of Leonard Tantillo. Mr. and Mrs. Stevens have been located near the Patrick diner on 9W.

A group of laymen representing the Presbyterian and Methodist Churches met Monday night in the Methodist parsonage to plan a campaign for a religious census, similar to one taken six years ago. This meeting followed one in the Presbyterian manse the week before.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nace and daughter with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Nace, Clintondale, left Thursday for Gouverneur. They will return Monday.

Albert V. Roberts, game warden, will be the speaker at the meeting of the Lions Club Monday night at Hotel DiPrima.

Mrs. James Dowd entertained a foursome of bridge Thursday afternoon and on Monday Mrs. Victor Salvatore was hostess to a dessert bridge foursome.

The first of the family night suppers will be held in the Presbyterian Church hall Sunday night, Oct. 11. At this time Dr. and Mrs. Victor P. Salvatore will show pictures and give a travel talk on their trip to Alaska in August. The session of the church, their wives, assisted by the Mission Circle and Women's Club will assist in the supper.

Mrs. D. M. Warren, Mrs. James Dowd and Mrs. Thomas Sears were luncheon guests of Miss Marian Woolsey in Kingston Tuesday and the next day the same ladies were entertained in Milton.

The coaching conference of North River Presbyterial held Tuesday in the Presyterian Church was attended by approximately 40 women. Miss Emily Lent gave her report of the conference at Cazenovia, Mrs. Stringham and Mrs. Wing of the Silver Bay conference and echoes of Synodical at Clinton were given. Study books were discussed. The theme this year is Christian Education.

Going to Chatham Tuesday night to receive the sixth degree conferred by State Grange officers were: Mrs. Herbert Litts, Mrs. Virginia Meuser, Mrs. Frank Marx, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Nardone, Adelbert Martin and Mr. and Mrs. Levi Jansen of New Paltz. There was 205 Grangers in the class for the degree. Mr. and Mrs. Jack Nace were among those who attended. Mr. Nace is Master of the local Grange.

If your equipment is subject to delay because of any infraction of this good-standing clause, yours is the sole responsibility for any inconvenience caused."

In plainer words, some 5,000 agents acting under Beck's general power threatened to tie up expensive machinery and to interfere with interstate commerce with great financial loss to the owners if they did not take it upon themselves to compel American citizens to pay money to the union. The extent to which this threat was fulfilled will never be known of course. Mr. Smith pointed out that this letter made no reference to safety or equipment but he could not get Ring to admit that this was so.

In New York, someone slipped the same deception over on Mayor Impellitteri. On June 6 he signed a "proclamation" endorsing "Truck Week." Martin T. Lacey, the president of the Teamsters' Joint Council for the city, for four years had refused to bother with Beck's foible but this time he consented to get into the act. The New York papers were as gullible as the rest, giving Beck credit for high-minded purposes.

Later, the congressional committee took its show to Detroit where the witnesses included James Hoffa, a vice president under Beck and president of a number of state "councils" of teamsters' locals. He is "negotiating chairman" on highway and city transportation for 23 states. He enlightened the congressmen on the "reforms" wrought under Beck since Beck succeeded Dan Tobin, by stating that the posting of a financial statement on the bulletin board of a local constituted "circulation" of that document among the members as required by law. Hoffa refused to give a statement of his financial interests in the Test Fleet Corporation or any other company. He said 99 per cent of the drivers employed by 6,000 companies in 25 states were members of the union.

Beck has been put forward as a fit person to succeed Joe Ryan as commander of the longshoremen of the AF of L.

PITCHING HORSESHOES

By BILLY ROSE

Don't Marry a Stranger

I got a letter this morning from a young fellow who says he's thinking of getting married and wants my advice on how to make the marriage stick. Well, he sure has come to the right place. How to make a marriage stick, as all the sundry know, is the specialty of the house.

At the moment, however, I'm afraid I can't spare the time to give my correspondent a full answer to this question. My views on the subject would fill four matched volumes and consist largely, I imagine, of an attack on myself. All I have on hand right now are some random jottings on the back of old subpoenas, but on the off-chance they may do the young fellow some good, I'm going to pass them along. . . .

First, however, I think I ought to post the betting odds on any marriage lasting. According to the Bureau of Vital Statistics, one marriage out of every four in this country winds up in the divorce courts. This, though, is only part of the picture. It doesn't take into account the millions who stay married only because they have children, the millions who can't afford the luxury of a divorce, and the millions whose religion forbids it.

How do I explain this wholesale heartbreak? Well, if I were to list all the reasons, chances are there wouldn't be room left in this paper for the weather report. Moreover, only an idiot would pretend to know them all. However, I do know one reason, and I'm idiot enough to believe it's more important than all the others put together.

Here 'tis:

The principal reason there are so many divorces these days is that so many of us marry strangers. . . .

Let me explain. A "stranger," in my lopsided lingo, isn't necessarily a person you don't know. It's a person you don't know much about. And when it comes to picking a mate, it's my two-penny postulate that unless you know what's rolling around in your sweetie's head, you don't actually know your sweetie. To take it a step further, unless you know what her life was like before you got stuck on her, you can't possibly figure what your future together is going to be. In other words, in marriage as in horse racing, you can't make an intelligent bet until you know something about the past performance of the animal. . . .

The gentleman in the pork-pie hat is shaking his fist at me. He says it isn't feasible to demand a set of references. I know that, mister. It might not be a bad idea, though, to do a bit of quiet checking about your intended—to ask, let's say, half as many questions as one asks when engaging an office boy.

What type questions? Well, there's no point in my listing the obvious ones. You know them as well as I do. However, I would, for instance, find out a little something about the other person's habits—especially the good ones. A bad habit, as any skull doctor will tell you, isn't much of a problem—it can be condoned and, more often than not, corrected. A good habit, however, is something else again. There's nothing more irritating, I have found, than to live with a person who has a good habit you don't have yourself. . . .

As I make it out, the nub of the trouble with marriage nowadays is that the yardstick used by most of us in picking a partner has only three markings on it, "S," "E" and "X." And that we do our measuring when our eyes are so full of stars we can hardly see each other. Few of us stop to consider that sooner or later—generally sooner—the heat turns to ho-hum; and when it does we'll have to have something in common to keep the clock going.

It's then we find that, for the long pull, being able to talk to each other without yawning is more important than wavy hair or a pair of football shoulders. Alas for the morning when the young couple begin to talk—and realize they have darn little to say to each other. And double-alas for the evening when it develops that Mr. Stay-At-Home is married to Mrs. Do-The-Town, and that Another Drinkie is spliced to You've Had Enough!

Community Center To Offer Classes

The teen-age youth of the Kingston Jewish Community Center acted as host to youth delegates from Jewish Centers in the major cities along the lower Hudson Valley Sunday, Sept. 27. The purpose of the meeting was to evaluate last year's inter-city program of social and athletic events between the various centers and to draw up a schedule of inter-city teen-age dances for the forthcoming season. Cities represented included Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Hudson, Middletown and Beacon as well as Kingston.

As a result of the success of last year's inter-city social program, it was agreed to increase the number of dances to a minimum of one each month from October through June and accordingly the following schedule was drawn up:

Oct. 24, Poughkeepsie; Nov. 28, Newburgh; Dec. 26, Kingston; Jan. 23, Newburgh; Feb. 27, Kingston; March 20, Hudson; April (Easter holiday), Beacon; May 8, Middletown; June 26, Poughkeepsie.

The meeting was concluded with a dance at which refreshments were served by a committee under the chairmanship of Miss Frieda Cohen, president of the B'nai B'rith Girls in Kingston.

Woman's Society Will Sponsor Annual Fair

The Woman's Society of Christian Service of the Clinton Avenue Methodist Church will hold its annual fair Wednesday and Thursday, Oct. 14 and 15.

Dedication Service Slated for Tuesday By Shandaken Church

DR. D. GEORGE DAVIES

Dedication of six memorial windows and other recent gifts to the Shandaken Methodist Church will be dedicated at the church Tuesday during a special dedicatory service starting at 8 p. m., the Rev. James H. Cox, pastor, has announced.

Dr. D. George Davies, district superintendent of the Kingston District of the Methodist Church, will deliver the dedicatory address and officiate at the service. He will be assisted by the Rev. Mr. Cox.

Choir to Sing

The choir of the church, under the direction of Mrs. George L. Marinor, Jr., will sing two special anthems, The Gospel of Love by Stewart Landon and Come, Let Us Worship, by Ira B. Wilson.

During the service there will be the dedication of the six memorial windows which were given by Mrs. Emily Ward Cutter in memory of her son, Charles Edwin Ward; Mr. and Mrs. Clarence C. Dunham, in memory of their son, Ward J. Dunham; Mrs. Fred Osterhoudt in memory of her husband, Fred S. Osterhoudt; Mrs. Elsie Rider Schultz in memory of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John W. Rider; Mrs. Elsie Rider Schultz in memory of her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. John B. Rider and Mrs. Gordon O. Yerry in memory of her husband, Gordon C. Yerry.

Other Gifts

In addition the memorial windows, there will be the dedication of the new communion ware and baptismal font which were given by the choir of the church, new offering plates, given by Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Todd and new white altar scarves given by Mr. and Mrs. George L. Marinor, Jr.

These gifts will be presented by Amasa J. Herdman, chairman of the board of trustees, to Frank P. Platz, church lay leader.

The Shandaken church has invited its members, friends and neighboring churches to unite during this special service.

New York Resident to Wed Psychologist at Wallkill

New York — The approaching marriage of Miss Mildred Louise Jones, of 110 East 87th street, New York, here to Howard Cohen, clinical psychologist of Wallkill, was revealed here when they obtained a license to wed at the City Clerk's office.

Miss Jones was born in Waycross, Ga., the daughter of Willis T. and Mattie Fendt Jones. Her fiance, the son of Bernard L. and Gertrude Stecker Cohen, is a native of Brooklyn.

The couple said that they would be wed in New York Sunday, by the Rev. Martin Savitt.

Miss Dolores McGrane Is Bride in Ceremony At St. Mary's Church

Miss Dolores Kathleen McGrane, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas R. McGrane, Sr., of 22 Tietjen avenue, became the bride of Thomas J. Crowley, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas J. Crowley, Sr., of Port Jervis, Sunday, Sept. 27 at 2 p. m., in St. Mary's R.C. Church with the Rev. Edward I. Farrelly, pastor of the church, officiating.

Theodore Riccobono accompanied the soloist, Martin Kelly, on the organ in the selections, Prayer Perfect and Ave Maria. The church was decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums.

Escorted by her father, the bride wore a waltz length gown with a bouffant skirt of nylon tulle paneled with imported Chantilly lace, and a matching jacket. Her bonnet, trimmed with pearls and sequins secured a fingertip illusion veil. She carried a white orchid with streamers of greens on a white prayer book.

Miss Catherine Roach of Kingston was the maid of honor. She wore a rose mauve ballerina length gown of nylon tulle with inserts of satin binding, and a matching feather bonnet. She carried a colonial bouquet.

The attendants, Miss Patricia Crowley, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Sarah Claire Raftery of Union Center, wore aqua gowns of identical styling to that of the maid of honor.

Thomas Miller of Port Ewen was best man. Joseph McGrane, brother of the bride, and Michael Lisman, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, of Port Ewen, were ushers. James Crowley, brother of the bridegroom, of Port Ewen, served as altar boy.

Immediately following the ceremony, a reception was held for 200 guests. For their wedding journey to Pocono mountains, Pa., the bride chose a soldier blue suit-dress ensemble with black accessories and a white orchid.

Upon their return, the couple will make their home at 540 Albany avenue.

The bride is a graduate of Kingston High School and the Benedictine Hospital School of Nursing, class of 1952, and is a member of the nursing staff at this hospital.

The bridegroom served with United States Navy during World War 2 and is now employed by Ronald McDermott and Son.

RISING FOR A MAN

Today a letter explains: "I have recently been promoted to buyer for a large manufacturing company. The company has one other woman buyer. This woman is in the habit of rising from her chair when a salesman enters her office and shaking hands with him. I realize that this is a friendly gesture, but it does not seem right to me for a woman to rise for a man. I do so much want to do the right thing and would appreciate your telling me just what is proper in greeting these men."

You are in the position of a hostess and a hostess always rises to greet a guest—man or woman.

Going to See Friends

Dear Mrs. Post: Some friends of ours have recently bought a new house and have moved to the suburbs. My husband has wanted to drive out there several times to visit them but I have refused to go because I think it is up to them to invite us to their new house the first time. Of course my husband does not share my point of view, so for the sake of peace I have decided to write to you to settle this question.

Answer: To go to see them is entirely proper. It might be well to telephone and ask if they will be at home that afternoon!

Guest Book

Dear Mrs. Post: I have been asked to take charge of the guest book at a friend's wedding and I am a little puzzled as to whether the members of the bridal party and also the bride's and groom's parents should be asked to sign the book. Will you please help me out?

Yes, you ask them all to sign; first his parents, then her parents, then her bridesmaids and then his ushers all on the first page. Then the other guests as you happen to encounter them.

Eating Fried Eggs

Dear Mrs. Post: Is it correct, when eating a soft-fried egg, to put a small piece of bread on the end of the fork and dip it into the yolk and continue doing this until the yolk is dried up?

Answer: Certainly.

Alumni Association Of Pratt Institute Holds Area Meeting

Superintendent of Public Works Ernest Steuding of 93 Lucas avenue was toastmaster at a meeting of the Pratt Institute Mid-Hudson Valley Alumni Association which met at the Twaalfskill Golf Club with 35 members present.

Those attending were alumni from Westchester to the Hudson counties area. Harry F. Hostetter, director of alumni activities at Pratt Institute, was the representative of the school at the dinner. He mentioned that new developments were taking place at Pratt Institute in Brooklyn such as the construction of new dormitories, athletic buildings and field as well as a swimming pool.

The principal speaker of the evening, Attorney Fred Stang of 111 Madison avenue, elaborated on the advantages of Ulster county by way of historical background, the beauty of the countryside, and the industry in the area.

Also present was William E. Powers of 192 Albany avenue, who was formerly Dean of Evening School of Science and Technology at Pratt Institute. He is now an engineer with Hiltebrant Drydock Co., in Kingston.

The meetings of the Alumni Association are rotated each year to various member towns. Mr. Steuding was in charge of arrangements for this year's meeting. Next year, the association will meet in Newburgh to continue their work.

Mrs. Robert Baker Is Guest of Station WOR For Letter to Program

Mrs. Robert Baker of 31 Oak street and Mrs. Bernice Shoemaker spent Monday in New York as guests of Station WOR. A letter written by Mrs. Baker to the Wonderful City program, was chosen as the best submitted at that time.

She said in her letter that as she had been ill for some time and that her wish was for her mother to visit her. Her wish was granted by the radio program, and her mother, Mrs. Hudspeth and brother, Journdell, were brought to New York from Rolla, Mo., to appear on the program with Mrs. Baker.

They were presented with the golden keys to the city, took a sightseeing trip to Chinatown and to other interesting parts of the city, and had dinner at Holland House as guests of the program.

Mrs. Hudspeth is now spending two weeks visiting her daughter with all expenses of travel paid as a result of the choice of the letter. Mrs. Hudspeth was "thrilled and excited" as was her son who is 16, visiting New York for the first time. Mrs. Baker finds that wishes do come true, with the aid of such programs as Wonderful City.

Miss Patricia Ann Hartfuer Is United In Marriage to Robert James Hastie

The wedding of Miss Patricia Ann Hartfuer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph K. Hartfuer of West Hurley, to Robert James Hastie, son of Mrs. Helen Hastie of Woodstock and the late Walter Hastie, took place Saturday, at St. Joan of Arc Chapel in Woodstock at 10 a. m. The Rev. James L. Riordan, pastor of the church, officiated at the double ring ceremony.

O Promise Me and Because were played on the organ for the ceremony. The church was decorated with white pompons.

Given in marriage by her father the bride wore a floor-length gown of blush pink satin fashioned with a bodice of pink satin with fischu neckline of pleated tulle trimmed with iridescent pearls. The double overskirt of nylon tulle, embroidered with satin and iridescent pearls, had a pleated footing of nylon tulle edging each skirt draping into a bustle back. A tiara crown of blush pink silk illusion secured a scalloped circular elbow length veil and a scalloped modesty veil. She carried a cascade of blush pink pompons, with an orchid in the center.

Miss Bonnie Hartfuer was her sister's maid of honor. She wore a gown of DuBarry pink iridescent taffeta styled with a pleated and tucked bodice terminating in a long full skirt. She wore an ivy headdress and carried a colonial bouquet of pale pink pompons.

Mrs. Alan Bonito of New York and Mrs. A. J. Gibson, Jr., of Woodstock, sisters of the bride, and Mrs. Joseph Holdridge, Jr., of Woodstock, sister of the bridegroom, were the attendants. They wore gowns identical to that of the maid of honor, ivy headdresses and carried cascade bouquets of deeper pink pompons.

The best man was James Kinna of Woodstock. Ushers were Roger Cashdollar of Wittenberg, Grant Gavin of Woodstock, and Joseph Holdridge, Jr., brother-in-law of the bridegroom, also of Woodstock.

A reception was held at Deanie's in Woodstock immediately following the ceremony. For the wedding journey to the New England states, the bride wore a charcoal gray suit with a red hat, black accessories and an orchid corsage.

The couple will make their home in Woodstock upon their return.

Church Women Plan Activities to Aid Families Overseas

At a recent meeting of the board of managers of the Kingston Council of Church Women plans were made for the observance of World Community Day, Thursday, Nov. 5 at the Church of the Comforter.

A round table discussion with Harry Rigby as chairman will head the program. Gift offerings that are to be sent abroad are helps for homes such as towels, wash cloths, sheets and pillow cases, lightweight blankets, comforters, curtains and tablecloths. These are contributed by churches which are council members and individuals who are interested in helping those less fortunate people overseas.

The stocking project is to be continued. Old nylon stockings are collected to be sent to the women of Japan where they are to be unraveled and rewoven into useful articles. This provides employment for the women, many of whom are widows with several dependents to support. The fellowship aspect is as important as the material value of this project.

Women of Kingston who would like to help in this project of sending stockings to the women of Japan are urged to call Mrs. C. V. Gunther—telephone 5754-R. Mrs. Gunther is general chairman of the program.

The sixth biennial assembly will be held in Atlantic City from Oct. 5-8 with a program of prominent speakers including President Eisenhower, Tuesday, Oct. 6. Those interested in attending should contact Mrs. Harry Van Wagenen, phone 812.

Mrs. Van Wagenen, president of the Kingston Council, announced that a filmstrip entitled, Women United for a Christian World, is available. Any society can use this filmstrip free of charge by reserving it for a specific time through calling Mrs. Van Wagenen.

Missionary Workers Will Train Natives To Carry On Alone

At the first meeting of the season of the Women's Society of Christian Service of St. James Methodist Church, Mrs. Thomas W. Reynolds spoke on Alcohol and Christian Responsibility to the morning session.

The guest speaker of the afternoon session was Mrs. Raymond DuBois of New Paltz whose daughter and son-in-law are missionaries stationed at Akobo in the southern part of the Sudan in Africa.

Among her observations was the fact that the natives are friendly not warlike and are interested in trying to learn new things. Their schools correspond roughly to eight grades of the public schools here. However, a boy has to walk a distance of 100 miles to enter a school, depending on the villagers along the way to feed him.

There has been little education regarding storing of food, hence food is scarce. Mrs. DuBois added that although the four Gospels had been translated into the language of the people, the process of teaching them to read the books is a slow one. Reading rooms are supplied to provide materials for the people who have mastered reading.

Mrs. DuBois concluded with the remarks that the number of missionaries at the center will decrease as the natives are trained to carry on their work alone.

Tea was served, following the lecture and showing of colored slides, by Mrs. Ralph Houston.

Helena Rubinstein's New Lanolin-Vitamin Formula

For the first time in beauty history, Helena Rubinstein combines two modern miracle ingredients in her new Lanolin-Vitamin Formula — copies nature's way to help your skin look YOUNGER, SMOOTHER, SOFTER!

VITAMIN A for beauty from without . . . Vitamin A, recognized by medical science as the Skin Vitamin, works on the surface to melt away and actually prevent dryness and flaking.

BEAUTY FROM WITHIN . . . Lanolin, the beauty boon most closely resembling natural skin oils, works below the surface for all-important moisture to plump out skin, smooth out wrinkles, revive a younger look.

LANOLIN-VITAMIN FORMULA . . . is so readily absorbed, so grease-free you'll apply it to your skin daytimes under make-up and overnight without leaving a trace on face or pillow. For speed, for ease, for fabulous results you'll say you've never used anything like it in your life!

NOTE AMBER BOTTLE: It guards high vitamin content against destructive light, preserves effectiveness for you.

Community Center To Offer Classes

The teen-age youth of the Kingston Jewish Community Center acted as host to youth delegates from Jewish Centers in the major cities along the lower Hudson Valley Sunday, Sept. 27. The purpose of the meeting was to evaluate last year's inter-city program of social and athletic events between the various centers and to draw up a schedule of inter-city teen-age dances for the forthcoming season. Cities represented included Poughkeepsie, Newburgh, Hudson, Middletown and Beacon as well as Kingston.

As a result of the success of last year's inter-city social program, it was agreed to increase the number of dances to a minimum of one each month from October through June and accordingly the following schedule was drawn up:

Oct. 24, Poughkeepsie; Nov. 28, Newburgh; Dec. 26, Kingston; Jan. 23, Newburgh; Feb. 27, Kingston; March 20, Hudson; April (Easter holiday), Beacon; May 8, Middletown; June 26, Poughkeepsie.

The meeting was concluded with a dance at which refreshments were served by a committee under the chairmanship of Miss Frieda Cohen, president of the B'nai B'rith Girls in Kingston.

Women of Kingston who would like to help in this project of sending stockings to the women of Japan are urged to call Mrs. C. V. Gunther—telephone 5754-R. Mrs. Gunther is general chairman of the program.

The sixth biennial assembly will be held in Atlantic City from Oct. 5-8 with a program of prominent speakers including President Eisenhower, Tuesday, Oct. 6. Those interested in attending should contact Mrs. Harry Van Wagenen, phone 812.

Mrs. Van Wagenen, president of the Kingston Council, announced that a filmstrip entitled, Women United for a Christian World, is available. Any society can use this filmstrip free of charge by reserving it for a specific time through calling Mrs. Van Wagenen.

Missionary Workers Will Train Natives To Carry On Alone

At the first meeting of the season of the Women's Society of Christian Service of St. James Methodist Church, Mrs. Thomas W. Reynolds spoke on Alcohol and Christian Responsibility to the morning session.

The guest speaker of the afternoon session was Mrs. Raymond DuBois of New Paltz whose daughter and son-in-law are missionaries stationed at Akobo in the southern part of the Sudan in Africa.

Among her observations was the fact that the natives are friendly not warlike and are interested in trying to learn new things. Their schools correspond roughly to eight grades of the public schools here. However, a boy has to walk a distance of 100 miles to enter a school, depending on the villagers along the way to feed him.

There has been little education regarding storing of food, hence food is scarce. Mrs. DuBois added that although the four Gospels had been translated into the language of the people, the process of teaching them to read the books is a slow one. Reading rooms are supplied to provide materials for the people who have mastered reading.

Mrs. DuBois concluded with the remarks that the number of missionaries at the center will decrease as the natives are trained to carry on their work alone.

Tea was served, following the lecture and showing of colored slides, by Mrs. Ralph Houston.

Helena Rubinstein's New Lanolin-Vitamin Formula

For the first time in beauty history, Helena Rubinstein combines two modern miracle ingredients in her new Lanolin-Vitamin Formula — copies nature's way to help your skin look YOUNGER, SMOOTHER, SOFTER!

VITAMIN A for beauty from without . . . Vitamin A, recognized by medical science as the Skin Vitamin, works on the surface to melt away and actually prevent dryness and flaking.

BEAUTY FROM WITHIN . . . Lanolin, the beauty boon most closely resembling natural skin oils, works below the surface for all-important moisture to plump out skin, smooth out wrinkles, revive a younger look.

LANOLIN-VITAMIN FORMULA . . . is so readily absorbed, so grease-free you'll apply it to your skin daytimes under make-up and overnight without leaving a trace on face or pillow. For speed, for ease, for fabulous results you'll say you've never used anything like it in your life!

NOTE AMBER BOTTLE. It guards high vitamin content against destructive light, preserves effectiveness for you.

The Skillypot Will Dramatize Crossing Of Kingston Vessel

Kingston's famous Skillypot is the theme of an original musical comedy written and to be produced by members of the Patroon Club of the Old Dutch Church in Bethany Hall at the end of October.

The title of the production is The Skillypot or Rondout River Showboat. All of the action takes place aboard the vessel and depicts the last crossing in October 1910 from Sleightsburg to Kingston.

The book and lyrics were written by Charles M. Rinschler and the action is in one act with three scenes. Six original songs have been composed by Donald Romme, minister of music at the First Dutch Reformed Church. Mr. Romme is also directing the vocal effects, which include solo, duet, quartet, sextet and chorus. The titles of the songs are: All Aboard for Kingston, Sunset in the Catskills, Ruby from Ruby, Betrothal Waltz, the Fountain in Hasbrouck Park, and Old Skillypot Blues.

Mrs. Arthur E. Oudemool is directing the production and is rehearsing the cast of 32 people who make the crossing. Mrs. Oudemool points out that while the work is fictional and no attempt has been made to be historically accurate, many old timers will readily grasp many references such as the one relative to the rivalry between Rondout and Kingston.

The Patroon Club is a newly organized group with membership open to all members and couples of the First Dutch Church who desire to meet in fellowship and fun each month, and who are willing to assist in an annual dramatic or musical undertaking in order to raise funds for church school, adult choir and missionary programs of the church.

Teen Age Barn Performers Will Be On Stage of Kingston Municipal Auditorium

The Frigidaire Teen-Age Barn television program will appear in person for Kingston audiences Wednesday, Oct. 14 at the municipal auditorium under the auspices of the Lake Katrine Rod and Gun Club.

Produced and directed by Tommy Sternfeld, this show, which originates from WRGB-TV Schenectady every Friday night, places emphasis on youthful talent drawn from the upstate area. The Teen-Age Barn program has been the stepping stone for many talented youngsters. Some of the graduates of the program are at Juilliard School in New York with scholarships for musical study, others are at Syracuse University, Eastman School, also on scholarships, and one is in Hollywood. Others appear in clubs and on other TV programs.

Because of the success of the Teen-Age Barn, as a television show, the producer, Mr. Sternfeld, decided to send units on the road. These shows have been very successful. Praise for the performers, both on television and personal appearances, has come from civic leaders, the clergy and educators throughout upstate New York and New England states.

Tickets may be obtained from any member of the organization, at the Shanty Store, corner Fair and North Front streets, or at the door the night of the performance. Children's tickets will be available only at the door.

History Association During Annual Visit Sees Hawk Migration

The John Burroughs' Natural History Association made its annual two-day pilgrimage to Hawk Mountain Sanctuary at Kempton, Pa. Here, along a high ridge of the Kittatinny Mountains, the hawks migrate southward in great numbers, taking advantage of the lifting power of westerly winds deflected upward along the slope.

This 1800 acre tract is a wildlife sanctuary now and at this season the summit lookout is a gathering place for hundreds of bird students and watchers, and the chief aim of the Hawk Mountain Association is to combat the wanton illegal shooting of hawks which still continues at other points along this ridge and elsewhere.

The group from Kingston joined about 200 others, each armed with binoculars and a bird guide book to watch the amazing spectacle. Henry Dunbar, publicity chairman of the organization, described the event. "The hawks sailed past singly or in groups, and at one time a flock of over 70 Broadwings were seen to rise up and up, circling on outstretched and rarely flapping wings suggesting leaves in a whirlwind. Having finally exhausted the advantage of the locally upward wind movement, they peeled off one after another like airplanes on maneuver and sailed off to the south and were soon lost to view."

The curator, Dr. Maurice Broun, periodically made announcements to the group, who were hardly distracted by picnic lunches in their enthusiasm for picking out new bird arrivals.

Members from this area participating in the trip were Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Hayes, Mr. and Mrs. H. F. Dunbar, R. Lethbridge, and Dr. and Mrs. A. M. Cragin. The group also visited the new sanctuary museum and lecture hall and called upon the curator and his wife in their reconditioned stone farm house, before returning to Kingston.

After the Scottish rebellion of 1745, Acts of Parliament prohibited the wearing of kilts in Scotland.

Mom's Ice Box

By FRANK TRIPP

Yes sir, we sure have it tough, the present generation. Our hardships are heartbreaking; such as having to defrost the refrigerator or wind the thermostat clock. Life is just one dreary drill of dull drudgery.

Our plight suggests the relativity of things. We stay satisfied with our comforts until comes an improvement in them, and the Joneses get one; some new gadget that saves a little more work. The refrigerator is a good example.

Remember the old ice box? The first one I saw was just an oblong wooden chest, stuffed with sawdust between a lumber jacket and a zinc lining. It opened al across the top. A hunk of ice, 50 to 100 pounds, was dropped in it by the ice man, who left his tracks and drippings across the porch and kitchen floor. Mother followed him with a mop.

Every time before he came the ice box had to be emptied and scoured of the grit and grime of the last filling of roily ice, cut from a polluted stream in which the kids, rats, snakes and bullfrogs had spent the summer.

MOTHER WAS wild about her ice box just the same. It was such an improvement over packing the butter and milk in a bucket and lowering them into the well; and lugging fruit, vegetables and leftovers from the cold cellar.

The "pond ice" reigned until came the marvel of the age; manufactured ice in clean, clear cakes that left no mess behind them. But that was around 60 cents a hundred, compared to 40 for the natural.

It took months to sell pop on the expenditure. He fell when his pals told about dropping hunks of the new ice right into the water pitcher—or maybe it wasn't the water pitcher.

The ultimate had arrived, ice that could be safely and palatably eaten by others than the street gamins who stalked the ice wagons. And a vertical ice box had appeared that actually had shelves, like the pantry. Things were getting mighty modern.

YET ALL ice melts, and the die-hards claimed the artificial melted faster; "wasn't as cold." So the drip pan still was under the ice box and had to be emptied once a day, twice in hot spells.

Then what do you think? Out comes an ice box that makes its own cold, freezes ice right in your kitchen. Unbelievable, still there is was; the Joneses had one. By then Fanny and I were married, but couldn't have the new contraption. We had gas lights, no electricity.

Suddenly emptying the ice pan became unbearable drudgery, fit for no woman. And somehow an awful lot of food began to spoil in "that woman killer of ours."

So we went in hock for electric wiring and one of those electric ice makers; which to this day every woman will tell you is the last electrical apparatus with which she'd part.

THE PONDEROUS generator was in the cellar, piped upstairs to a unit put in our wooden ice box where the ice cakes had been. It cost within $100 what our Model T cost.

Marvelous! No ice man, no tracked floors, no drip pan to empty. All we need do was defrost every few days, which the ads said is "no trick at all, really a pleasure; just turn this switch and empty this handy glass tray. No fishing underneath for an overflowing drip pan." The thing worked swell for some 12 years.

WE'VE HAD others since, each with new wonders to behold. We never wore one out. Every change has been because the foxy producer added something to make women dissatisfied with what they had.

Right now it's automatic defrosting that we're shy. If the guys who write the ads will spend one defrosting day at our house they'll get enough ideas to last 'em a year. I've heard so many arguments on "why we need" that I'm hanging on the ropes, about to take the count.

I'm trying to stave it off till they turn out a model that freezes Scotch sour cubes in one tray, Alka Seltzer in another, and has a screeching burglar alarm that will spray Paris green over pilfering offspring when the door is opened.

Announce New Way To Shrink Painful Piles

Find Healing Substance That Does Both—Relieves Pain—Shrinks Hemorrhoids

New York, N. Y. (Special)—For the first time science has found a new healing substance with the astonishing ability to shrink hemorrhoids and to stop bleeding—without surgery.

In one hemorrhoid case after another, "very striking improvement" was reported and verified by doctors' observations.

Pain was relieved promptly. And, while gently relieving pain, actual reduction or retraction (shrinking) took place.

And most amazing of all—this improvement was maintained in cases where doctors' observations were continued over a period of many months!

In fact, results were so thorough that sufferers were able to make such astonishing statements as "Piles have ceased to be a problem!" And among these sufferers were a very wide variety of hemorrhoid conditions, some of 10 to 20 years' standing.

All this, without the use of narcotics, anesthetics or astringents of any kind. The secret is a new healing substance (Bio-Dyne®)—the discovery of a world-famous research institution. Already, Bio-Dyne is in wide use for healing injured tissue on all parts of the body.

Now this new healing substance is offered in ointment form for hemorrhoids under the name *Preparation H. The price is only 98¢ a tube including an applicator. The name to ask for is Preparation H—at all drug stores. And remember—if not entirely satisfied—your money will be refunded promptly. *Trade Mark.

Thompson and Smith Capture Laurels in Senior Golf Tourney

Veteran Posts Net Score 33 in Class A. Group

Smith Leads Field With Gross of 74

Frank W. Thompson, Sr., fired a nine-hole score of 33 to capture Class A honors in the first annual Ulster County Seniors golf tournament Sunday at Twaalfskill Golf Club.

Louis J. Smith won the first shingle on the Jay Rifenbary Memorial plaque with low gross of 74. He spliced a pair of 37s.

Thirty-five players competed in the tournament, with all contestants except Class A shooting the regulation 18 holes.

Players with low gross and low net in each of the six divisions were awarded trophies at a dinner following the matches. Dr. George C. Rifenbary presented the memorial plaque to Lou Smith. According to the rules, it will remain at Twaalfskill Golf Club for the next year.

While Thompson's 46 led the gross division of Class A, Rodney B. Osterhoudt was awarded a trophy for his low net of 35.

Playing under a brilliant Indian summer sun, the greybeards turned in excellent scores in each division.

Roy Vogt, who rebounded with 35 from an outgoing 41, tied with Edward Remmert for second low gross in Class E. Burt Haver and Robert Umpleby carded net 66s and will receive duplicate trophies.

Bruff Olin and Anton Otto Fischer completed the four-man Class A contingent, the former shooting 50-13-37 and Fischer posting 56-13-43. Eugene Speicher, favorite in Class A, was unable to play because of a business appointment.

King Nets 61

Harold F. King turned in the lowest net score for the 18-hole players, a sparkling 61. He had an 85 aggregate and 24 handicap. Ed Tongue's 84 led the gross and he picked up a trophy for his net 67.

Gus Schrowang fired a spectacular 79 in Class C where low net honors went to Ernest Le Fevre with 69.

Frank X. McCahill, of Woodstock, led the Class D group with 78 and Fred Ertel took home the net trophy with 82-16-66.

Yanks Take 3-2 Lead In HR Brawl

McDonald's Stint Boosts Yankee Hopes

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—It's almost a sure thing these days that the two World Series teams will play themselves one awful game along about midway, the shortage of really good pitchers being what it is, and the Yankees and Dodgers turned theirs in yesterday.

If you didn't see it you are that much ahead. The final score was 11-7 in favor of the Yankees, which means that the American Leaguers went into today's sixth and possibly final game leading by three victories to two in the annual baseball circus.

The four-time straight world champions were back in their own park in the Bronx, full of beans and with their crack young lefthander, Whitey Ford, on the mound. The Dodgers needing desperately to win this one, were relying on their new World Series strikeout king, Carl Erskine.

Considering his brilliant exploit of only three days ago, when he fanned 14 Yankees and beat them by 3-2 on Roy Campanella's eighth inning homer, Erskine looked like a very good bet to knot the playoff at 3-3 and send it into its seventh and binding game tomorrow. But Charlie Dressen, the Brooklyn manager, was ready to shoot the works.

Roe Ready, Too

"If he's needed, Preacher Roe will be ready to relieve," he said last night. "I would like to save him to start the seventh game, but I won't be saving anybody when these games are playing out the way they are now. I worked him with three days rest not long ago, thinking about this, and the Preach looked all right."

Ford lasted only one inning when he started for the fourth game at Ebbets Field. The Dodgers climbed aboard him for three runs, and even though there was a tainted double by Junior Gilliam in the barrage that drove him out, it was plain that the young portsider wasn't happy.

Dressen had his righthanded explosive planted again today, with Jackie Robinson hitting third and Roy Campanella fourth. Duke Snider, left-handed hitting jewel, was down in the sixth slot, below Gil Hodges. Charlie was very confident that this right-hand array would knock Ford loose.

Six home runs were hit in all yesterday. The early ones pretty exciting, but there is some doubt that any one of them would have been a homerun in Yankee Stadium, where there is room for balls to travel in left field.

Errors Hurt Podres

It was a sloppy contest. Each club made six earned runs. The Yankees scored five times in the third inning after they should have been out and Johnny Podres, the juvenile who started pitching for the Dodgers, should have been out of trouble.

With two Yanks away, Podres got Collins, the first-baseman to slap a ball sharply down the right line. Gill Hodges muffed it beautifully, letting a run across. The Dodger pitcher proceeded to hit the next batter and then walk the bases full.

Podres was relieved by temperamental Russ Meyer, who had been warming up since the game began.

Meyer came in overhand with his first pitch. Mickey Mantle, who had been hit on his throwing hand and sorely hurt in pre-game batting practice, knocked it far and away into the upper deck in left field. That made the score 6-1, and whatever happened after that was pretty much lost in the shuffle.

Yanks Lead By 10-2

By the end of the seventh inning the Yanks were leading 9-2, partly on the strength of Billy Martin's two-run homer in that chapter. They were 10-2 by the time the Dodgers finally laid into Jim McDonald for four runs in the last of the eighth, mainly Billy Cox's three-run, line drive homer just over the left barrier.

In the last of the ninth, Junior Gilliam led off with another punch over the left railing, leaving the Dodgers four runs behind. Pee-wee Reese followed with a fly out to left, but Snider punched a clean single to right.

That brought Casey Stengel bow-legging it out from the bench and waving toward the Yankee bullpen. In came Allie Reynolds to pitch to Jackie Robinson. The Chief missed a couple outside, and then came in with one that Robby smashed viciously toward Billy Martin at second. Billy got right down on the ground to take it, tossed to Phil Rizzuto to start a double play and the game was over.

Trio of Hardy Golf Perennials

Ulster county's first Seniors golf champion, Frank W. Thompson, Sr. on the right is shown with two of the four competitors in Class A, reserved for those 70 years and older. Left is Bruff Olin of Woodstock and center Rodney B. Osterhoudt of Wiltwyck Golf Club. Thompson won the 9-hole event with a net 33. He also has a hole-in-one to his credit. (Wagenfohr Photo).

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—Maybe it was because they sensed the extra cash which goes to the winners but regardless of the reason the New York Yankees were a different ball club after beating the Brooklyn Dodgers 11-7 and taking a 3-2 lead in the World Series.

For the first time since the 50th World Series started last Wednesday, there was real excitement in the Yankee dressing room after yesterday's triumph.

There were smiles and yelps of joy as the players filed into their quarters. And as the door closed for the customary five minute "cooling" period, a few wild shouts could be heard by those grouped outside.

"Pretty good," Stengel muttered as he wormed through the crowd. Then a few minutes later, he confessed he felt optimistic about the outcome of the series.

But before naming today's pitcher he consulted pitching coach Jim Turner. Finally after a brief huddle, Casey shouted "Ford."

"First day we've hit," he continued. "McDonald did a real good job (Jim McDonald was the Yankee pitcher most of the way). He fielded his position good, and saved us some trouble. Reynolds (Allie Reynolds got the Dodgers out on a double play in the ninth) had good stuff. Maybe he'll come in handy tomorrow or the next day."

McDonald himself said he ran out of breath on his seventh-inning double, which drove in a run. The young right hander said he wanted very much to finish the game but knew he had lost his stuff when Billy Cox hit a "high fast ball with nothing on it" for a three-run homer in the eighth.

Reynolds, who injured his back in the first game, said "I can still feel it" in answer to queries as to his physical condition but added he probably could go a couple of innings today and tomorrow, if necessary.

Different Mantle

Mickey Mantle, whose third inning bases loaded homer broke the game wide open, said he hit "a belt high curve — the same kind of a ball they were throwing me the other day." He referred to Friday when he fanned four times on Carl Erskine's pitches.

Over in the Dodgers dressing room, Russ Meyer agreed with Mantle as to the kind of pitch the young Yankee centerfielder hit.

"It was one of my best pitches," said Meyer. "Erskine had been telling me—and we had been noticing it. Mantle has been running away from the pitches. So I fed him a low overhand curve — a beauty, just the kind Carl was giving him Friday. But this time he stepped into it like he was mad at somebody and murdered it."

Charlie Dressen didn't hesitate in naming his pitcher for the sixth game.

"Our backs to the wall again and it's up to Erskine," he said. "He's pitched with two days rest before and done okay."

Erskine himself said he welcomed the opportunity to face the Yanks for the third time but added soberly:

"I haven't pitched with two days rest this year and I don't know how good my stuff will be. This is sure. I think I can do as well in Yankee Stadium as in Ebbets Field. I don't think a ball park means anything to a pitcher."

SPORTS

By CHARLES J. TIANO
Freeman Sports Editor

But for serious financial implications, this department would not hesitate to recommend the abolition of night football games at Kingston High.

It has long been our feeling that high school athletics should be played in the daylight. The game should be removed from the eerie shadows of temptation in darkened corners of stadiums where some young folks get false courage and cast a blight on the reputation of an entire school through their misfeasances and indiscretions.

Poughkeepsie and Newburgh Academy have supported football without arclight contests for years. Why not Kingston?

Coach G. Warren Kias, who as athletic director of Kingston, makes athletic policy at the local school, does not feel that abolition of nocturnal football is the solution.

"But," he is frank to admit, "if it becomes evident that dropping night football is the final solution, I would not hesitate to recommend it, regardless of the cost. . . ."

Kias points out that football attendance would suffer heavily on an all-daylight basis. But the Maroon's AD would be willing to settle for it, everything else having failed to curtail incidents such as those that caused a rupture of relations between Kingston and Highland.

It seems to us that the Board of Education, the high school faculty, parents, the police department and the entire student corps of KHS has something very vital at stake in the matter.

If proper police protection for night games cannot be arranged by mutual arrangements between the Board of Education and the police department, at reasonable rates for the hire of extra police, the responsibility for maintaining order falls upon the Board of Education.

There is a sharp division of opinion among many people on two vital aspects of the current football dilemma at Kingston High:

1. Do high school athletics fall under the strict heading of private enterprise.

2. Since the municipal stadium is situated on city property what is the proper role of the police department in the overall picture.

The student body itself, led by the Senior Class, should make a determined effort to rid itself of the troublemakers who are ruining the reputation of the school and bringing it close to the brink of total and enforced abstinence from organized athletics. The police department faces a grave responsibility to determine when, how and through whom intoxicating beverages are channelled to high school students.

School appointed marshalls and student police groups never have been overly successful in efforts to impose reasonable discipline on other members of the student body. But a vigorous and renewed effort must be made in the future.

We cannot escape the fact that Kingston High's reputation has steadily declined in recent years. The out of town newspapers made tremendous capital of Kingston's misfortunes. That sort of thing need not exist nor ever happen again. You must agree with Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk's observation that, when the time comes that an unrealistic number of police are needed to maintain order at high school athletic contests, then there is something tragically wrong with the whole idea.

Drinking and brawling have been part and parcel of high school football for many decades. It is a phase of autumnal Americana that never will be completely separated from us. But it can be held to a reasonable minimum, and doing so is a responsibility that all persons in official capacity should not and cannot escape. And the parents can make a vital contribution to renewed efforts.

We think the chances are much better in daylight football.

Percy Gazlay New Dartball Chairman

Percy W. Gazlay of Patroon Grange, 1519, of Accord has been named chairman of the county granges dartball league for the 1952-53 season. He will be assisted by Leslie Rathbun and Lyle Woods.

Nine granges competed in last year's league, among them New Paltz, Highland, Rosendale, Ulster Park, Mt. Tremper, Patroon, Lake Katrine, Asbury and Plattekill.

Each grange had ladies' and men's teams and a set of three games were played by both teams on scheduled dates. A meeting of all interested granges will be held at Patroon Grange hall, on Route 209, Accord, on Sunday, Oct. 11, at 2 p. m., to arrange a schedule for the first half of the league schedule.

Stephen Foster's first composition, written when he was 14, was designed for a chorus of flutes.

Home-Run Day at Ebbets Field

Homers were flying all over the ball park in Sunday's slug-fest of the fifth World Series game. But here's the one that really counted as Mickey Mantle crosses the plate in the third inning after driving home Joe Collins (15), Hank Bauer (9) and Yogi Berra (8). Dodger Catcher Roy Campanella and Umpire Bill Grieve watch the big parade, which kept rolling too fast for the Dodgers to catch up. Yanks won, 11-7.

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—Maybe it was because they sensed the extra cash which goes to the winners but regardless of the reason the New York Yankees were a different ball club after beating the Brooklyn Dodgers 11-7 and taking a 3-2 lead in the World Series.

For the first time since the 50th World Series started last Wednesday, there was real excitement in the Yankee dressing room after yesterday's triumph.

There were smiles and yelps of joy as the players filed into their quarters. And as the door closed for the customary five minute "cooling" period, a few wild shouts could be heard by those grouped outside.

"Pretty good," Stengel muttered as he wormed through the crowd. Then a few minutes later, he confessed he felt optimistic about the outcome of the series.

But before naming today's pitcher he consulted pitching coach Jim Turner. Finally after a brief huddle, Casey shouted "Ford."

"First day we've hit," he continued. "McDonald did a real good job (Jim McDonald was the Yankee pitcher most of the way). He fielded his position good, and saved us some trouble. Reynolds (Allie Reynolds got the Dodgers out on a double play in the ninth) had good stuff. Maybe he'll come in handy tomorrow or the next day."

McDonald himself said he ran out of breath on his seventh-inning double, which drove in a run. The young right hander said he wanted very much to finish the game but knew he had lost his stuff when Billy Cox hit a "high fast ball with nothing on it" for a three-run homer in the eighth.

Reynolds, who injured his back in the first game, said "I can still feel it" in answer to queries as to his physical condition but added he probably could go a couple of innings today and tomorrow, if necessary.

Different Mantle

Mickey Mantle, whose third inning bases loaded homer broke the game wide open, said he hit "a belt high curve — the same kind of a ball they were throwing me the other day." He referred to Friday when he fanned four times on Carl Erskine's pitches.

Over in the Dodgers dressing room, Russ Meyer agreed with Mantle as to the kind of pitch the young Yankee centerfielder hit.

"It was one of my best pitches," said Meyer. "Erskine had been telling me—and we had been noticing it. Mantle has been running away from the pitches. So I fed him a low overhand curve — a beauty, just the kind Carl was giving him Friday. But this time he stepped into it like he was mad at somebody and murdered it."

Charlie Dressen didn't hesitate in naming his pitcher for the sixth game.

"Our backs to the wall again and it's up to Erskine," he said. "He's pitched with two days rest before and done okay."

Erskine himself said he welcomed the opportunity to face the Yanks for the third time but added soberly:

"I haven't pitched with two days rest this year and I don't know how good my stuff will be. This is sure. I think I can do as well in Yankee Stadium as in Ebbets Field. I don't think a ball park means anything to a pitcher."

Roe Ready, Too

"If he's needed, Preacher Roe will be ready to relieve," he said last night. "I would like to save him to start the seventh game, but I won't be saving anybody when these games are playing out the way they are now. I worked him with three days rest not long ago, thinking about this, and the Preach looked all right."

Ford lasted only one inning when he started for the fourth game at Ebbets Field. The Dodgers climbed aboard him for three runs, and even though there was a tainted double by Junior Gilliam in the barrage that drove him out, it was plain that the young portsider wasn't happy.

Dressen had his righthanded explosive planted again today, with Jackie Robinson hitting third and Roy Campanella fourth. Duke Snider, left-handed hitting jewel, was down in the sixth slot, below Gil Hodges. Charlie was very confident that this right-hand array would knock Ford loose.

Six home runs were hit in all yesterday. The early ones pretty exciting, but there is some doubt that any one of them would have been a homerun in Yankee Stadium, where there is room for balls to travel in left field.

Errors Hurt Podres

It was a sloppy contest. Each club made six earned runs. The Yankees scored five times in the third inning after they should have been out and Johnny Podres, the juvenile who started pitching for the Dodgers, should have been out of trouble.

With two Yanks away, Podres got Collins, the first-baseman to slap a ball sharply down the right line. Gill Hodges muffed it beautifully, letting a run across. The Dodger pitcher proceeded to hit the next batter and then walk the bases full.

Podres was relieved by temperamental Russ Meyer, who had been warming up since the game began.

Meyer came in overhand with his first pitch. Mickey Mantle, who had been hit on his throwing hand and sorely hurt in pre-game batting practice, knocked it far and away into the upper deck in left field. That made the score 6-1, and whatever happened after that was pretty much lost in the shuffle.

Yanks Lead By 10-2

By the end of the seventh inning the Yanks were leading 9-2, partly on the strength of Billy Martin's two-run homer in that chapter. They were 10-2 by the time the Dodgers finally laid into Jim McDonald for four runs in the last of the eighth, mainly Billy Cox's three-run, line drive homer just over the left barrier.

That brought Casey Stengel bow-legging it out from the bench and waving toward the Yankee bullpen. In came Allie Reynolds to pitch to Jackie Robinson. The Chief missed a couple outside, and then came in with one that Robby smashed viciously toward Billy Martin at second. Billy got right down on the ground to take it, tossed to Phil Rizzuto to start a double play and the game was over.

McDonald's Stint Boosts Yankee Hopes

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—It's almost a sure thing these days that the two World Series teams will play themselves one awful game along about midway, the shortage of really good pitchers being what it is, and the Yankees and Dodgers turned theirs in yesterday.

If you didn't see it you are that much ahead. The final score was 11-7 in favor of the Yankees, which means that the American Leaguers went into today's sixth and possibly final game leading by three victories to two in the annual baseball circus.

The four-time straight world champions were back in their own park in the Bronx, full of beans and with their crack young lefthander, Whitey Ford, on the mound. The Dodgers needing desperately to win this one, were relying on their new World Series strikeout king, Carl Erskine.

Considering his brilliant exploit of only three days ago, when he fanned 14 Yankees and beat them by 3-2 on Roy Campanella's eighth inning homer, Erskine looked like a very good bet to knot the playoff at 3-3 and send it into its seventh and binding game tomorrow. But Charlie Dressen, the Brooklyn manager, was ready to shoot the works.

But for serious financial implications, this department would not hesitate to recommend the abolition of night football games at Kingston High.

It has long been our feeling that high school athletics should be played in the daylight. The game should be removed from the eerie shadows of temptation in darkened corners of stadiums where some young folks get false courage and cast a blight on the reputation of an entire school through their misfeasances and indiscretions.

Poughkeepsie and Newburgh Academy have supported football without arclight contests for years. Why not Kingston?

Coach G. Warren Kias, who as athletic director of Kingston, makes athletic policy at the local school, does not feel that abolition of nocturnal football is the solution.

"But," he is frank to admit, "if it becomes evident that dropping night football is the final solution, I would not hesitate to recommend it, regardless of the cost. . . ."

Kias points out that football attendance would suffer heavily on an all-daylight basis. But the Maroon's AD would be willing to settle for it, everything else having failed to curtail incidents such as those that caused a rupture of relations between Kingston and Highland.

It seems to us that the Board of Education, the high school faculty, parents, the police department and the entire student corps of KHS has something very vital at stake in the matter.

If proper police protection for night games cannot be arranged by mutual arrangements between the Board of Education and the police department, at reasonable rates for the hire of extra police, the responsibility for maintaining order falls upon the Board of Education.

There is a sharp division of opinion among many people on two vital aspects of the current football dilemma at Kingston High:

1. Do high school athletics fall under the strict heading of private enterprise.

2. Since the municipal stadium is situated on city property what is the proper role of the police department in the overall picture.

The student body itself, led by the Senior Class, should make a determined effort to rid itself of the troublemakers who are ruining the reputation of the school and bringing it close to the brink of total and enforced abstinence from organized athletics. The police department faces a grave responsibility to determine when, how and through whom intoxicating beverages are channelled to high school students.

School appointed marshalls and student police groups never have been overly successful in efforts to impose reasonable discipline on other members of the student body. But a vigorous and renewed effort must be made in the future.

We cannot escape the fact that Kingston High's reputation has steadily declined in recent years. The out of town newspapers made tremendous capital of Kingston's misfortunes. That sort of thing need not exist nor ever happen again. You must agree with Mayor Oscar V. Newkirk's observation that, when the time comes that an unrealistic number of police are needed to maintain order at high school athletic contests, then there is something tragically wrong with the whole idea.

Drinking and brawling have been part and parcel of high school football for many decades. It is a phase of autumnal Americana that never will be completely separated from us. But it can be held to a reasonable minimum, and doing so is a responsibility that all persons in official capacity should not and cannot escape. And the parents can make a vital contribution to renewed efforts.

We think the chances are much better in daylight football.

Percy Gazlay New Dartball Chairman

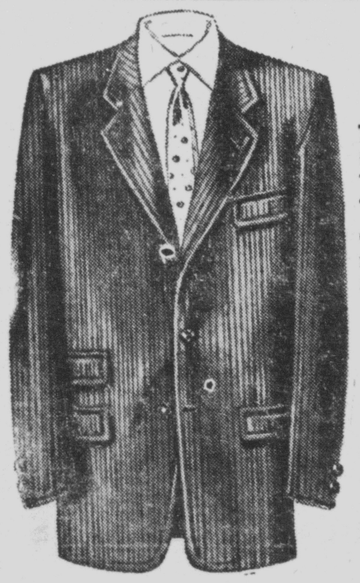

Percy W. Gazlay of Patroon Grange, 1519, of Accord has been named chairman of the county granges dartball league for the 1952-53 season. He will be assisted by Leslie Rathbun and Lyle Woods.

Nine granges competed in last year's league, among them New Paltz, Highland, Rosendale, Ulster Park, Mt. Tremper, Patroon, Lake Katrine, Asbury and Plattekill.

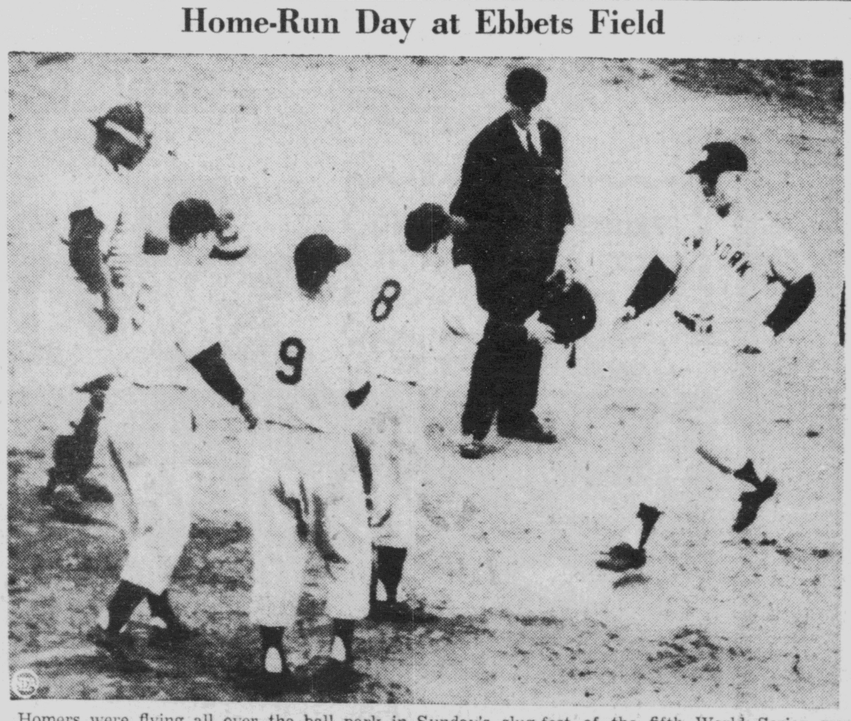

Each grange had ladies' and men's teams and a set of three games were played by both teams on scheduled dates. A meeting of all interested granges will be held at Patroon Grange hall, on Route 209, Accord, on Sunday, Oct. 11, at 2 p. m., to arrange a schedule for the first half of the league schedule.

Stephen Foster's first composition, written when he was 14, was designed for a chorus of flutes.

Charlie Gruenwald Sets New HVBL Record With 743 Series

Jones Dairy Sub Fires Scores of 249, 279, 215

High Total Betters Dick Rhea's 733

Charlie Grunenwald, the No. 6 man in the Jones Dairy lineup, raised the Hudson Valley League's high individual series record for the season to 743 Saturday night in a strike spree against Rapp's Express at the Bowlodrome.

Substituting for the absent Larry Weishaupt, the veteran ace knocked off successive solos of 249, 279 and 215 for his whopping 743. The old mark of 733 was set a week ago by Dick Rhea of Poughkeepsie.

New High Solo

Grunenwald's 279 is also a new solo record, eclipsing the 259 held by his teammate, Dick Howard. In the big series, top effort of his career, Grunenwald amassed a total of 27 strikes and had only one open frame—a 6-pin miss in the third game.

The hefty series, particularly the big 279 helped Jones Dairy salvage a 2-1 triumph over the scrappy Rapp's Express combine, who rolled 1110 and still lost the middle set, after taking the first 1005-1002. The Dairymen won the third, 928-891.

Joneses trailed by six marks going into the tenth frame of the middle game but pulled the set out of the fire when Manfro, Grunenwald and Howard struck out in succession. They totalled 3056 with slams of 1002, 1126 and 928 to 3008 on 1007, 1110 and 891 by Rapp's.

Four of the Expressmen climbed over the "600" mark, Frank "Boots" Leskie scoring sallies of 223-220-200 for 643. Ken Joseph posted 224-209-606, Eddie Heins 243-603 and Mickey Kahrs 205-240-603.

Schryvers Win Three

Larry Petersen, Jr., fired 223-200-613 and George Shufeldt 203-223-571 for Schryvers. Tom Carlino paced Elstons with 229-201-615.

Frisco Upsets The Rams, 31-30

New York, Oct. 15 (AP) — The National Football League's two undefeated, untied Western Conference teams clash in the No. 1 game of the week this Sunday when the Detroit Lions entertain the San Francisco 49ers.

Both have won two games. The defending champion Lions will be favored, but the 49ers are fresh from one upset and will be gunning for another. Yesterday, 'Frisco upended the Los Angeles Rams, 31-30, just six seconds before the end on a field goal by Gordon Soltau.

In other league action yesterday, the Cleveland Browns defeated the Chicago Cardinals, 27-7, and the Chicago Bears turned back the Green Bay Packers, 17-13.

The powerful Browns sit atop the Eastern Conference with two victories and no losses and the Philadelphia Eagles don't figure to cause them any undue worry this Saturday.

The Browns stopped the Cards with almost effortless precision as Otto Graham tossed a touchdown pass on the first play from scrimmage. He threw two more and that was the game.

The Bears were faced with the same situation as the 49ers — they too had to come from behind at the end. Trailing 13-10 with three minutes to go, George Blanda hit Jim Dooley with a 16-yard pass in the end zone to wrap it up for the Bears.

One-Way Record

Avalon, Catalina Island, Calif., Oct. 5 (AP)—Jose Cartinas, 36, of Cuba didn't break any speed marks when he swam the Catalina Channel over the weekend but he did establish a direction record. He was the first person to swim the distance, 22 miles, from the mainland to the island. Several others have made it from the island to the mainland, choosing that direction because of more favorable currents.

PHS Routs NFA, 41-14

Just as everybody suspected, the powerful Blues of Poughkeepsie are the team to beat in the 1953 DUSO League football race.

If there was any doubt about it, Coach Sam Kalloch's worthies removed it Saturday afternoon when they crushed Newburgh Academy's defending champions, 41 to 14, at the NFA gridiron.

In handing the Goldbacks one of the worst defeats in their football history, the Blues ran up a 34-8 lead at halftime.

Bob Angevine, an end, scored three TDs, two on passes from Ronnie Bub and another on an interception. Poughkeepsie moved 66 yards to score from the opening kickoff and the outcome was never in doubt.

The best long gainer was a 83-yard scoring pass play from Bub to end Bob Dahowski.

They play Kingston High on Oct. 24 at Poughkeepsie.

Haber's, Angels Capture Openers In Autumn Loop

Haber's Grill finished with a 21-point fourth quarter to defeat Lincoln Park Inn, 68-56, while Harry's Angels romped over Victory Bakery, 76-47, in Y Autumn "A" opening basketball action Saturday night at the YMCA.

Big Jack Doyle was individual scoring ace with 22 points and Dick Bezemer, who figures largely in KHS plans this season, rimmed 20.

Other first night sharpshooters were Champ Holstein 18, Big Bill East 16; Bill Kleine and Skipper Brodhead 15 apiece.

Tuesday Schedule

In Tuesday games in the "B" League, Waterous Lumber meets J & E Milk Bar at 7:15 p. m., with Back Cedaraps meeting the 50 Club an hour later.

Village Rest plays Rapp's Express Wednesday at 7:15, and Accord meets Angel Juniors at 8:15. Next Saturday's "A" clashes pair Haber's Grill and Harry's Angels at 7:15 and Lincoln Park Inn and Victory Bakery at 8:15.

Grid Fatality

Syracuse, Oct. 5 (AP)—An autopsy has disclosed that John Pappas, 19-year-old Boston University football player, injured in Friday night's game with Syracuse University, died of a mid-brain hemorrhage. Dr. Edward Swift, Syracuse team physician, performed the autopsy. The 205-pound lineman from Worcester, Mass., died in a hospital here Saturday morning. Dr. Swift said the injury that took Pappas' life "must have happened during the game certainly."

Edelman on TV

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—Marvin Edelman of Philadelphia and Jimmy Herring of New York, a couple of hard hitting middleweights, collide tonight in the top ten rounder at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena. Herring has scored 24 knockouts in 69 pro fights. Edelman has a .500 kayo average, 17 KOs in 34 scraps. Dumont will telecast the 10 p. m., EST, bout to some parts of the country.

Three Share High Score Honors in Tenpin Loops

Paul Khederian and two other members of the Central Rec Mixed League shared tenpin honors in last night's action on local lanes.

Khederian pounded high solo of 242, two pins higher than Irving Passer's 240, while Vern Van Dusen and John Bechtold of the same circuit tied with 572 for high series honors.

John Brady (220) and Dick Howard (565) were top shooters in the Ferraro Mixer. Ferrell McElrath's 562 led the Tavern Association.

This Kept It From Being Worse

Brooklyn's Billy Cox drops to the ground to make a sensational stop of Hank Bauer's grounder with bases loaded with Yankees in the sixth inning of the fifth World Series game at Ebbets Field. A second later Cox rolled over to touch third, forcing out Phil Rizzuto and ending the inning. It didn't completely stop the Yanks, though; they finished out front, 11-7.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By JOE STETSON
(Dog Editor)

"I'm settled on the breed I want," said Jed, "but what about sex? I can't make up my mind whether to get a dog or a bitch."

This age-old argument always starts a flurry of controversial comment. But let's look at the thing sensibly. Not in terms of the dogs of either sex that we might own or remember, but from the hard cold facts. No one is trying to belittle your prize possessions because of their respective gender.

There are good, fair and poor dogs and the same be said of the distaff side of dogdom. The only thing that you can do is consider the qualities positive and negative that belong generally to each sex and then decide, as a matter of individual choice, which set of qualities you prefer to have in your home for the job at hand—or in the case of those whose hunting dogs double as house pets, both.

You will find that people who own only one dog, and who have rarely had more than one dog around at a time, usually prefer males. Dog breeders and folks who have had a lot of dogs around and have had ample opportunity to compare, almost always prefer females.

But it's not quite as simple as that and if we outline the pros and cons, it will be easy to see exactly why.

Bitches are usually quieter than dogs and more sensitive. They are usually gentler and they are not inclined to roam. They are cleaner in their habits and house break easier. They do not mess in shrubbery and are less inclined to scrape up lawns.

They are not so inclined to fight and, as guard dogs, they will warn and yet are more inclined to keep out of reach of an intruder, who by getting closer to them, can stop their warning effort.

"That's good enough reason for preferring bitches, isn't it?" said Jed insistently.

You must remember, though, that it is the folks who have a great deal of dog experience who know, how to contend with a bitch's bi-annual season problem. If they have facilities and know-how, they are glad to do it. Some folks just aren't set up for it.

I've seen a lot of dog flesh working in gunning cover or at field trials and there was one every now and then I'd like to have taken home, though it would have been over the owner's dead body. As far as sex is concerned, the honors were pretty even.

Why We Say--

This slang expression actually means, "In a glance." However it is most often used today to mean that something will be done quickly. "Jiffy" is derived from the old word gliff, which is just a glance.

MEMO TO ADVERTISERS

AUDITED PAID CIRCULATION
ABC

The Hallmark of Circulation Value

In the same way that STERLING on silver signifies a standard of known value, so is the A.B.C. emblem a symbol of integrity for the circulation of newspapers and periodicals. It means that circulation so identified is measured according to the rules and standards of the AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS.

The A.B.C. is a cooperative and non-profit association of 3,450 publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies. Organized in 1914, these buyers and sellers of advertising brought order out of advertising chaos by setting up standards for paid circulation and establishing rules and methods for measuring, auditing and reporting circulations.

Therefore, the work of the A.B.C., of which this newspaper is proud to be a member, provides you with a direct and valuable service. You can buy advertising as you would make any other sound business investment—on the basis of well known standards, known values.

At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. The results of this exacting audit show: How much circulation we have; where our circulation goes; how it was obtained; and many other FACTS that you need in order to know just what you get for your advertising dollars. This audited information is published by the Bureau in easy-to-read A.B.C. reports which are available to our advertisers on request. Ask for a copy of our latest A.B.C. report.

A. B. C. REPORTS — FACTS AS A BASIC MEASURE OF ADVERTISING VALUE

Charlie Gruenwald Sets New HVBL Record With 743 Series

Jones Dairy Sub Fires Scores of 249, 279, 215

High Total Betters Dick Rhea's 733

Charlie Grunenwald, the No. 6 man in the Jones Dairy lineup, raised the Hudson Valley League's high individual series record for the season to 743 Saturday night in a strike spree against Rapp's Express at the Bowlodrome.

Substituting for the absent Larry Weishaupt, the veteran ace knocked off successive solos of 249, 279 and 215 for his whopping 743. The old mark of 733 was set a week ago by Dick Rhea of Poughkeepsie.

New High Solo

Grunenwald's 279 is also a new solo record, eclipsing the 259 held by his teammate, Dick Howard. In the big series, top effort of his career, Grunenwald amassed a total of 27 strikes and had only one open frame—a 6-pin miss in the third game.

The hefty series, particularly the big 279 helped Jones Dairy salvage a 2-1 triumph over the scrappy Rapp's Express combine, who rolled 1110 and still lost the middle set, after taking the first 1005-1002. The Dairymen won the third, 928-891.

Joneses trailed by six marks going into the tenth frame of the middle game but pulled the set out of the fire when Manfro, Grunenwald and Howard struck out in succession. They totalled 3056 with slams of 1002, 1126 and 928 to 3008 on 1007, 1110 and 891 by Rapp's.

Four of the Expressmen climbed over the "600" mark, Frank "Boots" Leskie scoring sallies of 223-220-200 for 643. Ken Joseph posted 224-209-606, Eddie Heins 243-603 and Mickey Kahrs 205-240-603.

Schryvers Win Three

Schryver Lumber ground out three straight wins over Elstons Sport Shop in a low-scoring duel at the Central Recs with a modest 2810 series. Elstons totalled 2700 on the nose.

Larry Petersen, Jr., fired 223-200-613 and George Shufeldt 203-223-571 for Schryvers. Tom Carlino paced Elstons with 229-201-615.

Frisco Upsets The Rams, 31-30

New York, Oct. 15 (AP) — The National Football League's two undefeated, untied Western Conference teams clash in the No. 1 game of the week this Sunday when the Detroit Lions entertain the San Francisco 49ers.

Both have won two games. The defending champion Lions will be favored, but the 49ers are fresh from one upset and will be gunning for another. Yesterday, 'Frisco upended the Los Angeles Rams, 31-30, just six seconds before the end on a field goal by Gordon Soltau.

In other league action yesterday, the Cleveland Browns defeated the Chicago Cardinals, 27-7, and the Chicago Bears turned back the Green Bay Packers, 17-13.

The powerful Browns sit atop the Eastern Conference with two victories and no losses and the Philadelphia Eagles don't figure to cause them any undue worry this Saturday.

The Browns stopped the Cards with almost effortless precision as Otto Graham tossed a touchdown pass on the first play from scrimmage. He threw two more and that was the game.

The Bears were faced with the same situation as the 49ers — they too had to come from behind at the end. Trailing 13-10 with three minutes to go, George Blanda hit Jim Dooley with a 16-yard pass in the end zone to wrap it up for the Bears.

One-Way Record

Avalon, Catalina Island, Calif., Oct. 5 (AP)—Jose Cartinas, 36, of Cuba didn't break any speed marks when he swam the Catalina Channel over the weekend but he did establish a direction record. He was the first person to swim the distance, 22 miles, from the mainland to the island. Several others have made it from the island to the mainland, choosing that direction because of more favorable currents.

PHS Routs NFA, 41-14

Just as everybody suspected, the powerful Blues of Poughkeepsie are the team to beat in the 1953 DUSO League football race.

If there was any doubt about it, Coach Sam Kalloch's worthies removed it Saturday afternoon when they crushed Newburgh Academy's defending champions, 41 to 14, at the NFA gridiron.

In handing the Goldbacks one of the worst defeats in their football history, the Blues ran up a 34-8 lead at halftime.

Bob Angevine, an end, scored three TDs, two on passes from Ronnie Bub and another on an interception. Poughkeepsie moved 66 yards to score from the opening kickoff and the outcome was never in doubt.

The best long gainer was a 83-yard scoring pass play from Bub to end Bob Dahowski.

Led by their galloping ghost, Charlie Johnson, the Blues racked up 228 yards rushing and picked up 200 more in the air.

They play Kingston High on Oct. 24 at Poughkeepsie.

Haber's, Angels Capture Openers In Autumn Loop

Haber's Grill finished with a 21-point fourth quarter to defeat Lincoln Park Inn, 68-56, while Harry's Angels romped over Victory Bakery, 76-47, in Y Autumn "A" opening basketball action Saturday night at the YMCA.

Big Jack Doyle was individual scoring ace with 22 points and Dick Bezemer, who figures largely in KHS plans this season, rimmed 20.

Other first night sharpshooters were Champ Holstein 18, Big Bill East 16; Bill Kleine and Skipper Brodhead 15 apiece.

Tuesday Schedule

In Tuesday games in the "B" League, Waterous Lumber meets J & E Milk Bar at 7:15 p. m., with Back Cedaraps meeting the 50 Club an hour later.

Village Rest plays Rapp's Express Wednesday at 7:15, and Accord meets Angel Juniors at 8:15. Next Saturday's "A" clashes pair Haber's Grill and Harry's Angels at 7:15 and Lincoln Park Inn and Victory Bakery at 8:15.

Grid Fatality

Syracuse, Oct. 5 (AP)—An autopsy has disclosed that John Pappas, 19-year-old Boston University football player, injured in Friday night's game with Syracuse University, died of a mid-brain hemorrhage. Dr. Edward Swift, Syracuse team physician, performed the autopsy. The 205-pound lineman from Worcester, Mass., died in a hospital here Saturday morning. Dr. Swift said the injury that took Pappas' life "must have happened during the game certainly."

Edelman on TV

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—Marvin Edelman of Philadelphia and Jimmy Herring of New York, a couple of hard hitting middleweights, collide tonight in the top ten rounder at Brooklyn's Eastern Parkway Arena. Herring has scored 24 knockouts in 69 pro fights. Edelman has a .500 kayo average, 17 KOs in 34 scraps. Dumont will telecast the 10 p. m., EST, bout to some parts of the country.

Three Share High Score Honors in Tenpin Loops

Paul Khederian and two other members of the Central Rec Mixed League shared tenpin honors in last night's action on local lanes.

Khederian pounded high solo of 242, two pins higher than Irving Passer's 240, while Vern Van Dusen and John Bechtold of the same circuit tied with 572 for high series honors.

John Brady (220) and Dick Howard (565) were top shooters in the Ferraro Mixer. Ferrell McElrath's 562 led the Tavern Association.

This Kept It From Being Worse

Brooklyn's Billy Cox drops to the ground to make a sensational stop of Hank Bauer's grounder with bases loaded with Yankees in the sixth inning of the fifth World Series game at Ebbets Field. A second later Cox rolled over to touch third, forcing out Phil Rizzuto and ending the inning. It didn't completely stop the Yanks, though; they finished out front, 11-7.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By JOE STETSON
(Dog Editor)

"I'm settled on the breed I want," said Jed, "but what about sex? I can't make up my mind whether to get a dog or a bitch."

This age-old argument always starts a flurry of controversial comment. But let's look at the thing sensibly. Not in terms of the dogs of either sex that we might own or remember, but from the hard cold facts. No one is trying to belittle your prize possessions because of their respective gender.

There are good, fair and poor dogs and the same be said of the distaff side of dogdom. The only thing that you can do is consider the qualities positive and negative that belong generally to each sex and then decide, as a matter of individual choice, which set of qualities you prefer to have in your home for the job at hand—or in the case of those whose hunting dogs double as house pets, both.

You will find that people who own only one dog, and who have rarely had more than one dog around at a time, usually prefer males. Dog breeders and folks who have had a lot of dogs around and have had ample opportunity to compare, almost always prefer females.

But it's not quite as simple as that and if we outline the pros and cons, it will be easy to see exactly why.

Bitches are usually quieter than dogs and more sensitive. They are usually gentler and they are not inclined to roam. They are cleaner in their habits and house break easier. They do not mess in shrubbery and are less inclined to scrape up lawns.

They are not so inclined to fight and, as guard dogs, they will warn and yet are more inclined to keep out of reach of an intruder, who by getting closer to them, can stop their warning effort.

"That's good enough reason for preferring bitches, isn't it?" said Jed insistently.

You must remember, though, that it is the folks who have a great deal of dog experience who know, how to contend with a bitch's bi-annual season problem. If they have facilities and know-how, they are glad to do it. Some folks just aren't set up for it.

I've seen a lot of dog flesh working in gunning cover or at field trials and there was one every now and then I'd like to have taken home, though it would have been over the owner's dead body. As far as sex is concerned, the honors were pretty even.

Why We Say--

This slang expression actually means, "In a glance." However it is most often used today to mean that something will be done quickly. "Jiffy" is derived from the old word gliff, which is just a glance.

Week-End Sports

(By The Associated Press)

Baseball

New York — The New York Yankees defeated the Brooklyn Dodgers 11-7 to take a 3-2 lead in the best-of-seven World Series.

Golf

Virginia Water, England — The United States barely retained the Ryder Cup with a 6½-5½ victory over a determined British team.

Racing

New York—William G. Helis, Jr., announced that Spartan Valor, one of the leading handicap horses in the past few years, has been retired to stud.

New York — Porterhouse ($16.10) ran away from 13 rivals in the $117,575 Belmont Futurity at Belmont Park.

Four Ulster Men Join Navy; Now in Training

Four Ulster county men, including three from Kingston, enlisted in the navy during August and September, it was announced today by the Poughkeepsie Naval Recruiting officer.

The Kingston enlistees included Edward J. Feldman, Box 318; William C. Atkins, 78 Wynkoop Place and Alexander O. Larsen, 94 Hurley avenue.

The county enlistee was Arthur S. Stafford of 24 Jane street, Saugerties.

The palace of King Minos in ancient Crete was as large as Buckingham Palace in London.

ABC

The Hallmark of Circulation Value

In the same way that STERLING on silver signifies a standard of known value, so is the A.B.C. emblem a symbol of integrity for the circulation of newspapers and periodicals. It means that circulation so identified is measured according to the rules and standards of the AUDIT BUREAU OF CIRCULATIONS.

The A.B.C. is a cooperative and non-profit association of 3,450 publishers, advertisers and advertising agencies. Organized in 1914, these buyers and sellers of advertising brought order out of advertising chaos by setting up standards for paid circulation and establishing rules and methods for measuring, auditing and reporting circulations.

Therefore, the work of the A.B.C., of which this newspaper is proud to be a member, provides you with a direct and valuable service. You can buy advertising as you would make any other sound business investment—on the basis of well known standards, known values.

At regular intervals one of the Bureau's large staff of experienced circulation auditors makes a thorough audit of our circulation records. The results of this exacting audit show: How much circulation we have; where our circulation goes; how it was obtained; and many other FACTS that you need in order to know just what you get for your advertising dollars. This audited information is published by the Bureau in easy-to-read A.B.C. reports which are available to our advertisers on request. Ask for a copy of our latest A.B.C. report.

Man Finds Sister, Missing 52 Years, Through Want Ad

W. F. Dover, of Turlock, Calif., got pleasingly speedy action from a Classified Ad placed in a Jackson (Miss.) newspaper seeking whereabouts of his sister, from whom he'd been separated in Box, Okla., 52 years before when their parents died and different families adopted them. Very next day he had an answer from his sister, Mrs. Mary Permenter, of Laurel, Miss.

Seven More County Men Join Marines

Technical Sergeant Charles C. Awkerman, loca l Marine Corps recruiter, announced the enlistment of five county men and two Kingston men in the Marines for September. County: Harry W. Beeck, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Beeck, Malden; Francis M. Avery, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Avery, Box 50, Connelly; Gregory Silva, Jr., 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Silva, Box 217, Stone Ridge; Albert J. Gallo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Gallo, Box 190, Napanoch; and John R. Napolitano, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Aplustill, Route 2, Saugerties.

City; Lewis J. Singer, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Singer, 118, Foxhall avenue; and John E. Bridge, 17, son of Mr. Ralph C. Bridge, 45 Murray street. All the enlistments were for three years except Pvt. Bridge, who enlisted for a four-year period. These new Marines were assigned to take 10 weeks "boot" training at Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C.

Pvts. Bridge, Singer and Silva attended Kingston High School. Gallo attended Ellenville High School and Napolitano attended Saugerties High School.

Pvt. Beeck entered the marines on the non-citizen program, being in this country only a short time. He was born in Braunschweig, Germany, and attended school in the same place. He is a former employe of Peter Pohler, Cairo.

Brother in Navy

Pvt. Bridge has an older brother, Clifford, serving in the U. S. Navy aboard the aircraft carrier USS Saipan. Following Singer's graduation from Kingston High School in 1952, he attended Milford Prep School, Milford, Conn., for one year.

On completion of basic training these marines will receive the customary 10-day recruit leave given all men out of Parris Island.

Navy's New Plane

preceding the sonic barrier. Officials awaited a hot day because the speed of sound increases approximately ¾ M.P.H. with each degree and thus the plane could reach a higher speed before reaching that high drag rise area.

During the 20 minutes between takeoff and landing at El Centro auxiliary NMGE 3 kilometer runs, Verdin turned on his afterburners, in effect an extra engine carried in the after part of the plane for short bursts of speed.

"There was a real boot when I turned those afterburners on," said the pilot. "Everything was wide open. I couldn't tell exactly, but I believe I was flying between 100 and 200 feet (altitude) on each pass."

Innocent Verdict Given

A city court jury today returned a verdict of innocent following trial of Geraldine Ray, 25, of 57 Van Buren street, before Special City Judge Harry Gold, on a charge of third degree assault. She was arrested Sept. 25 on complaint of Muriel Irvis, of 65 Van Buren street. Attorney Sherwood E. Davis appeared for the defendant and John Wilkie represented the district attorney's office.

In the storybooks, the virtuous always triumph and the wicked always come to an unpleasant end. At the bridge table, alas, the reverse sometimes happens, as today's hand shows.

Nobody in his right mind would cast South as a hero. To jump to four spades with five-worthless cards in the enemy's bid suit is to invite disaster, and no hero should stick his neck out as deliberately as all that. But South did it and got away with it.

West opened the king of diamonds, groaned when he saw what a marvelous dummy South had been lucky enough to find, and shifted at the second trick to a club. Declarer won in dummy with the ace of clubs, cashed the ace of hearts, and ruffed a heart. He then ruffed a diamond in dummy and returned to his hand by ruffing another heart.

When South next led the seven of diamonds, West knew that he could accomplish nothing by ruffing. Hence he discarded a club, and dummy ruffed. South got back to his hand by ruffing a heart for the third time. He was doing a flourishing business with small trumps.

Now declarer led his last diamond. West discarded, and East won. By this time South and West were each down to four trumps, and South needed three more tricks to make his contract. When East led a high diamond, South merely ruffed low, allowing West to over-ruff with the nine.

West then had to lead away from his queen of trumps, allowing South to take the last three tricks with the ace-king-jack of spades.

West probably deserved a little sympathy, but he doesn't need it. If he just plays against South often enough, he'll get many chances to double; and South won't always be as lucky as he was this time. On a particular hand, even a foolish bid may work out well; but in the long run the foolish bids lose thousands of points.

Incidentally, West could have defeated the contract in today's hand if he had been a mind-reader. He has to open a trump! He gets in with the first diamond and leads a second trump! This defense limits South to seven trumps and two acres. But nobody finds that kind of defense, even in the storybooks.

It is believed that eyeglasses were invented in Florence, Italy, about 1285.

Wicks to Wagner:

Gov. Wicks, of persons who had visited Fay at Sing Sing.

Following the disclosure, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey told newsmen he believed any public official who called upon Fay owed the public a complete explanation.

'Nothing to Hide'

Wicks replied that he had "nothing to hide" and said that "it is public knowledge" that although Fay was in prison after conviction for extortion in connection with labor affairs, "he is still a power in labor circles." Wicks declared that his visits to Fay were made in the interest of persons in his Senatorial district in the public interest in order to prevent labor trouble on major projects in his district.

The explanation brought demands from Democrats, led by Wagner and Balch, for Wicks' resignation. Meanwhile, Gov. Dewey had ordered Fay transferred to Clinton State Prison at Dannemora.

Other Repercussions

Aside from the intense local interest centering around the charges and counter-charges involving Lt. Gov. Wicks, Ulster county Republican chairman, the case has had repercussions throughout New York and New Jersey.

The Associated Press reported that the Fay case became a factor in the New Jersey gubernatorial race when Paul L. Troast, Republican candidate, admitted Friday night he had sent a letter to Gov. Dewey in 1951 urging clemency for Fay.

But he said he knew the one-time construction labor boss only as "a business connection and never socially," Troast said he saw "nothing improper" in the letter. His name did not appear on the visitor's list.

His Democratic opponent, Robert B. Meyner, called the admission "shocking."

Troast's headquarters noted that the names of several Democratic leaders including Mayor John V. Kenny of Jersey City appeared on the Fay visiting list. Kenny said he went to Sing Sing with a friend who suggested the visit.

Fay has been a power in labor circles for more than 20 years, particularly in the New York-New Jersey area. He achieved a high position in the AFL International Union of Operating Engineers, which deals with big construction jobs.

Fay was convicted in 1945 with James Bove, another official of the AFL union, of extorting $368,000 from contractors on New York city's Delaware aqueduct water supply project.

One of those listed among Fay's visitors was William F. Condon, Republican state senator from Westchester county. The New York Times on Saturday quoted Condon as saying he never visited Fay personally or on business but accompanied AFL President George Meany on a visit about a year ago. Condon said Meany talked to Fay but that he did not know what they talked about.

The New York Times, in a story from Los Angeles, reported today that Meany acknowledged making two visits to Sing Sing in 1949 and 1950 to confer with Fay only about the convict's desire to obtain a pardon or commutation of sentence. Meany said he went to the prison at Fay's request.

Meany Friend of Family

Meany was quoted by the Times as saying he made the trips as a friend of Fay's family without condoning the offenses for which Fay had been imprisoned. The Times added:

"While the AFL official did not go into detail about the talks, he indicated that the upshot of them had been that there was not much that could be done to help Fay."

The Times said Meany said he called on Condon to find out if he could go to Sing Sing in such a way that his visit would not count against the quota of family visitors allowed a prisoner. Meany was reported to have said that Condon informed him this could be done and offered to go with him to Sing Sing.

Meany was unable to explain why Condon's name appeared in the prison records but his own had not, the Times said.

Huben Is Elected

county area has taken great strides in recent years with the development of numerous ski areas and in particular the great Belleayre ski center by the State of New York. Completion of the new ski center building, addition of the new T Bar lift and continued operation of the chair lift at that center has led thousands of visitors to come to that area both in winter for winter sports and also during the summer season to take advantage of the view from the center and from the chair lift. The new T bar lift will be completed for the winter season as well as the new shelter.

Among the topics which were discussed at the Lake Placid conference were the effect of the new New York State Thruway on winter sports; classification of ski resort areas according to the facilities offered and the prospects of snow in the areas as predicted by the weather bureau from statistics available.

Ernest Johnson, director of the Albany Weather Bureau, discussed the prospects of snow in this area. Contrary to belief that this area is gradually going out of the snow belt, he presented statistics and facts to the effect that there were good prospects for continued snow fall and he said that while the area had been going through a cycle of light winter snows for a time, prospects according to the statistics were brighter and he predicted the area would continue to have heavy snows and good ski weather.

An interesting talk was given by Jacques Brunel of Beacon on "synthetic snow." All manner of things have been tried on ski slopes to augment natural snow but the latest thing to come up is a synthetic snow made from the by-product of plastic buttons. Snow machines, borax, pine needles and various substitutes have been used but plastic waste is a cheap and plentiful substitute which has been used with great success.

Roger Langley, executive secretary of the National Ski Association of America, also spoke and there was a discussion on skiing in the schools, directed by a State Department of Education representative. Public relations in winter sports and plans of the New York State Department of Commerce in promotion of the ski areas and winter sports areas of the state also were discussed.

The trend of the discussions was that the State of New York by reason of the excellent facilities offered and the easy access from the large metropolitan area is placing New York state ski areas and winter sports centers rapidly in the foreground.

Club Notices

SPCA

This is a regular monthly meeting and all members and committee members are urged to attend. Interesting information about the new animal shelter will be available and projects for the Fall and Winter season will be discussed.

Catholic Daughters

Catholic Daughters of America, Court Santa Maria, 164, will have the regular monthly business meeting Wednesday at 8 p. m. at 14 Henry street. Members are to bring fancy gift wrapped box lunches.

Bishop Sherill Returns

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—The Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherill, presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church, returned early today from a six-week tour of church missions in the Far East. Bishop Sherrill said a full report on the 23,000-mile journey—through Alaska, Japan, Korea, Okinawa and the Philippines—will be made on Oct. 14 at a quarterly meeting of the National Council of Protestant Eiscopal Churches in Greenwich, Conn.

Track Licenses

the licensee obtained a franchise; complete financial histories, including loans and from whom they were obtained; what precautions the track operators have taken to keep persons with criminal records off their payrolls; and, where employes' fingerprints have been taken under the new regulations, who did the job and how thoroughly was it performed.

The questionnaires call for detailed information on all financial matters; information about stockholders, directors and officers, stock transfers and land transactions.

The commission is reported hopeful that the questionnaires will save it considerable time in its investigations. The commission plans to complete the inquiry before re-licensing time in December.

Main angles of the Yonkers Raceway probe are the employment of men with criminal records from a list supplied by an AFL union, and payments of more than $150,000 to "trouble-shooters" to preserve labor peace. Thirty-five men with criminal records have been fired since the current probe began.

Features of the Roosevelt Raceway probe are reports that AFL labor leaders extorted up to $345,000 a year from track employes in a pay kickback racket, and that large sums of concession receipts were split up in a peculiar manner.

William C. DeKoning, head of AFL construction unions on Long Island and a union power at Roosevelt Raceway, said after his return to his home at Uniondale on Long Island Saturday night that he was ready to go before the Grand Jury any time. "I welcome an investigation," he said. "I have nothing to conceal." DeKoning, accompanied by his wife, returned by auto from Florida. Gulotta said he would not call DeKoning before the Grand Jury "until we are ready with our case."

GOP Unity Cracks

lowing the rules laid down by Congress itself.

In some quarters the Bridges complaint was interpreted as reflecting animosity on the part of some Republican Appropriations Committee members toward Stassen. In previous appearances before the group, Stassen has been subjected to rather unsympathetic questioning by members of his own party.

Is Grooming Himself

There is some feeling among congressional Republicans that Stassen is grooming himself to run again for the Republican presidential nomination. He probably could count on the support of only Sen. Thye (R-Minn.) among the 12 Republican Appropriations Committee members in any such venture.

Although Knowland said he docsn't believe the Capehart proposal involves any attack upon the Californian's leadership, many other senators regard it as an oblique move to trim Knowland's power and distribute it, in part, among senators who did not back Eisenhower for the GOP presidential nomination.

Eisenhower's friends believe he will stand solidly behind Knowland if the issue comes to a showdown. They expect the President to make his views known, at least privately, to GOP senators who may be undecided on how to vote.

The President's associates obviously would like to soft pedal any controversy between Stassen and Republican Appropriations Committee members. They can be expected to suggest quietly that the Republicans have enough trouble ahead in dealing with the Democrats without fighting openly among themselves.

Will Enforce Ruling

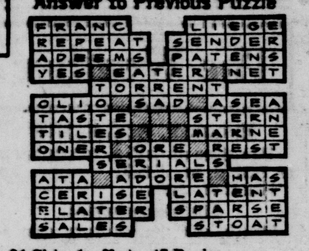

Tehran, Iran, Oct. 5 (AP)—Iran's government warned today it is going to enforce the four-year-old outlawing of the Communist Tudeh party—with the death penalty if necessary. The tough anti-Red talk came from Chief Prosecutor Hossein Azemodeh, whose forces yesterday made public a 20-page indictment that could bring the death by hanging of the Communists' former tacit ally, ex-Premier Mohammed Mossadegh.

Seven More County Men Join Marines

Technical Sergeant Charles C. Awkerman, loca l Marine Corps recruiter, announced the enlistment of five county men and two Kingston men in the Marines for September. County: Harry W. Beeck, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Richard E. Beeck, Malden; Francis M. Avery, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. Francis M. Avery, Box 50, Connelly; Gregory Silva, Jr., 18, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gregory Silva, Box 217, Stone Ridge; Albert J. Gallo, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert R. Gallo, Box 190, Napanoch; and John R. Napolitano, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Aplustill, Route 2, Saugerties.

City; Lewis J. Singer, 19, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Singer, 118 Foxhall avenue; and John E. Bridge, 17, son of Mr. Ralph C. Bridge, 45 Murray street. All the enlistments were for three years except Pvt. Bridge, who enlisted for a four-year period. These new Marines were assigned to take 10 weeks "boot" training at Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S. C.

Pvts. Bridge, Singer and Silva attended Kingston High School. Gallo attended Ellenville High School and Napolitano attended Saugerties High School.

Pvt. Beeck entered the marines on the non-citizen program, being in this country only a short time. He was born in Braunschweig, Germany, and attended school in the same place. He is a former employe of Peter Pohler, Cairo.

Brother in Navy

Pvt. Bridge has an older brother, Clifford, serving in the U. S. Navy aboard the aircraft carrier USS Saipan. Following Singer's graduation from Kingston High School in 1952, he attended Milford Prep School, Milford, Conn., for one year.

On completion of basic training these marines will receive the customary 10-day recruit leave given all men out of Parris Island.

Navy's New Plane

preceding the sonic barrier. Officials awaited a hot day because the speed of sound increases approximately ¾ M.P.H. with each degree and thus the plane could reach a higher speed before reaching that high drag rise area.

During the 20 minutes between takeoff and landing at El Centro auxiliary NMGE 3 kilometer runs, Verdin turned on his afterburners, in effect an extra engine carried in the after part of the plane for short bursts of speed.

"There was a real boot when I turned those afterburners on," said the pilot. "Everything was wide open. I couldn't tell exactly, but I believe I was flying between 100 and 200 feet (altitude) on each pass."

Innocent Verdict Given

A city court jury today returned a verdict of innocent following trial of Geraldine Ray, 25, of 57 Van Buren street, before Special City Judge Harry Gold, on a charge of third degree assault. She was arrested Sept. 25 on complaint of Muriel Irvis, of 65 Van Buren street. Attorney Sherwood E. Davis appeared for the defendant and John Wilkie represented the district attorney's office.

In the storybooks, the virtuous always triumph and the wicked always come to an unpleasant end. At the bridge table, alas, the reverse sometimes happens, as today's hand shows.

Nobody in his right mind would cast South as a hero. To jump to four spades with five worthless cards in the enemy's bid suit is to invite disaster, and no hero should stick his neck out as deliberately as all that. But South did it and got away with it.

West opened the king of diamonds, groaned when he saw what a marvelous dummy South had been lucky enough to find, and shifted at the second trick to a club. Declarer won in dummy with the ace of clubs, cashed the ace of hearts, and ruffed a heart. He then ruffed a diamond in dummy and returned to his hand by ruffing another heart.

When South next led the seven of diamonds, West knew that he could accomplish nothing by ruffing. Hence he discarded a club, and dummy ruffed. South got back to his hand by ruffing a heart for the third time. He was doing a flourishing business with small trumps.

Now declarer led his last diamond. West discarded, and East won. By this time South and West were each down to four trumps, and South needed three more tricks to make his contract. When East led a high diamond, South merely ruffed low, allowing West to over-ruff with the nine.

West then had to lead away from his queen of trumps, allowing South to take the last three tricks with the ace-king-jack of spades.

West probably deserved a little sympathy, but he doesn't need it. If he just plays against South often enough, he'll get many chances to double; and South won't always be as lucky as he was this time. On a particular hand, even a foolish bid may work out well; but in the long run the foolish bids lose thousands of points.

Incidentally, West could have defeated the contract in today's hand if he had been a mind-reader. He has to open a trump! He gets in with the first diamond and leads a second trump! This defense limits South to seven trumps and two acres. But nobody finds that kind of defense, even in the storybooks.

It is believed that eyeglasses were invented in Florence, Italy, about 1285.

Wicks to Wagner:

Gov. Wicks, of persons who had visited Fay at Sing Sing.

Following the disclosure, Gov. Thomas E. Dewey told newsmen he believed any public official who called upon Fay owed the public a complete explanation.

'Nothing to Hide'

Wicks replied that he had "nothing to hide" and said that "it is public knowledge" that although Fay was in prison after conviction for extortion in connection with labor affairs, "he is still a power in labor circles." Wicks declared that his visits to Fay were made in the interest of persons in his Senatorial district in the public interest in order to prevent labor trouble on major projects in his district.

The explanation brought demands from Democrats, led by Wagner and Balch, for Wicks' resignation. Meanwhile, Gov. Dewey had ordered Fay transferred to Clinton State Prison at Dannemora.

Other Repercussions

Aside from the intense local interest centering around the charges and counter-charges involving Lt. Gov. Wicks, Ulster county Republican chairman, the case has had repercussions throughout New York and New Jersey.

The Associated Press reported that the Fay case became a factor in the New Jersey gubernatorial race when Paul L. Troast, Republican candidate, admitted Friday night he had sent a letter to Gov. Dewey in 1951 urging clemency for Fay.

But he said he knew the one-time construction labor boss only as "a business connection and never socially," Troast said he saw "nothing improper" in the letter. His name did not appear on the visitor's list.

His Democratic opponent, Robert B. Meyner, called the admission "shocking."

Troast's headquarters noted that the names of several Democratic leaders including Mayor John V. Kenny of Jersey City appeared on the Fay visiting list. Kenny said he went to Sing Sing with a friend who suggested the visit.

Fay has been a power in labor circles for more than 20 years, particularly in the New York-New Jersey area. He achieved a high position in the AFL International Union of Operating Engineers, which deals with big construction jobs.

Fay was convicted in 1945 with James Bove, another official of the AFL union, of extorting $368,000 from contractors on New York city's Delaware aqueduct water supply project.

One of those listed among Fay's visitors was William F. Condon, Republican state senator from Westchester county. The New York Times on Saturday quoted Condon as saying he never visited Fay personally or on business but accompanied AFL President George Meany on a visit about a year ago. Condon said Meany talked to Fay but that he did not know what they talked about.

The New York Times, in a story from Los Angeles, reported today that Meany acknowledged making two visits to Sing Sing in 1949 and 1950 to confer with Fay only about the convict's desire to obtain a pardon or commutation of sentence. Meany said he went to the prison at Fay's request.

Meany Friend of Family

Meany was quoted by the Times as saying he made the trips as a friend of Fay's family without condoning the offenses for which Fay had been imprisoned. The Times added:

"While the AFL official did not go into detail about the talks, he indicated that the upshot of them had been that there was not much that could be done to help Fay."

The Times said Meany said he called on Condon to find out if he could go to Sing Sing in such a way that his visit would not count against the quota of family visitors allowed a prisoner. Meany was reported to have said that Condon informed him this could be done and offered to go with him to Sing Sing.

Meany was unable to explain why Condon's name appeared in the prison records but his own had not, the Times said.

Huben Is Elected

county area has taken great strides in recent years with the development of numerous ski areas and in particular the great Belleayre ski center by the State of New York. Completion of the new ski center building, addition of the new T Bar lift and continued operation of the chair lift at that center has led thousands of visitors to come to that area both in winter for winter sports and also during the summer season to take advantage of the view from the center and from the chair lift. The new T bar lift will be completed for the winter season as well as the new shelter.

Among the topics which were discussed at the Lake Placid conference were the effect of the new New York State Thruway on winter sports; classification of ski resort areas according to the facilities offered and the prospects of snow in the areas as predicted by the weather bureau from statistics available.

Ernest Johnson, director of the Albany Weather Bureau, discussed the prospects of snow in this area. Contrary to belief that this area is gradually going out of the snow belt, he presented statistics and facts to the effect that there were good prospects for continued snow fall and he said that while the area had been going through a cycle of light winter snows for a time, prospects according to the statistics were brighter and he predicted the area would continue to have heavy snows and good ski weather.

An interesting talk was given by Jacques Brunel of Beacon on "synthetic snow." All manner of things have been tried on ski slopes to augment natural snow but the latest thing to come up is a synthetic snow made from the by-product of plastic buttons. Snow machines, borax, pine needles and various substitutes have been used but plastic waste is a cheap and plentiful substitute which has been used with great success.

Roger Langley, executive secretary of the National Ski Association of America, also spoke and there was a discussion on skiing in the schools, directed by a State Department of Education representative. Public relations in winter sports and plans of the New York State Department of Commerce in promotion of the ski areas and winter sports areas of the state also were discussed.

The trend of the discussions was that the State of New York by reason of the excellent facilities offered and the easy access from the large metropolitan area is placing New York state ski areas and winter sports centers rapidly in the foreground.

Bishop Sherill Returns

New York, Oct. 5 (AP)—The Rt. Rev. Henry Knox Sherill, presiding bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Church, returned early today from a six-week tour of church missions in the Far East. Bishop Sherrill said a full report on the 23,000-mile journey—through Alaska, Japan, Korea, Okinawa and the Philippines—will be made on Oct. 14 at a quarterly meeting of the National Council of Protestant Eiscopal Churches in Greenwich, Conn.

Track Licenses

the licensee obtained a franchise; complete financial histories, including loans and from whom they were obtained; what precautions the track operators have taken to keep persons with criminal records off their payrolls; and, where employes' fingerprints have been taken under the new regulations, who did the job and how thoroughly was it performed.

The questionnaires call for detailed information on all financial matters; information about stockholders, directors and officers, stock transfers and land transactions.

The commission is reported hopeful that the questionnaires will save it considerable time in its investigations. The commission plans to complete the inquiry before re-licensing time in December.

Main angles of the Yonkers Raceway probe are the employment of men with criminal records from a list supplied by an AFL union, and payments of more than $150,000 to "trouble-shooters" to preserve labor peace. Thirty-five men with criminal records have been fired since the current probe began.

Features of the Roosevelt Raceway probe are reports that AFL labor leaders extorted up to $345,000 a year from track employes in a pay kickback racket, and that large sums of concession receipts were split up in a peculiar manner.

William C. DeKoning, head of AFL construction unions on Long Island and a union power at Roosevelt Raceway, said after his return to his home at Uniondale on Long Island Saturday night that he was ready to go before the Grand Jury any time. "I welcome an investigation," he said. "I have nothing to conceal." DeKoning, accompanied by his wife, returned by auto from Florida. Gulotta said he would not call DeKoning before the Grand Jury "until we are ready with our case."

GOP Unity Cracks

lowing the rules laid down by Congress itself.

In some quarters the Bridges complaint was interpreted as reflecting animosity on the part of some Republican Appropriations Committee members toward Stassen. In previous appearances before the group, Stassen has been subjected to rather unsympathetic questioning by members of his own party.

Is Grooming Himself

There is some feeling among congressional Republicans that Stassen is grooming himself to run again for the Republican presidential nomination. He probably could count on the support of only Sen. Thye (R-Minn.) among the 12 Republican Appropriations Committee members in any such venture.

Although Knowland said he docsn't believe the Capehart proposal involves any attack upon the Californian's leadership, many other senators regard it as an oblique move to trim Knowland's power and distribute it, in part, among senators who did not back Eisennower for the GOP presidential nomination.

Eisenhower's friends believe he will stand solidly behind Knowland if the issue comes to a showdown. They expect the President to make his views known, at least privately, to GOP senators who may be undecided on how to vote.

The President's associates obviously would like to soft pedal any controversy between Stassen and Republican Appropriations Committee members. They can be expected to suggest quietly that the Republicans have enough trouble ahead in dealing with the Democrats without fighting openly among themselves.

Will Enforce Ruling

Tehran, Iran, Oct. 5 (AP)—Iran's government warned today it is going to enforce the four-year-old outlawing of the Communist Tudeh party—with the death penalty if necessary. The tough anti-Red talk came from Chief Prosecutor Hossein Azemodeh, whose forces yesterday made public a 20-page indictment that could bring the death by hanging of the Communists' former tacit ally, ex-Premier Mohammed Mossadegh.

The Weather

MONDAY, OCT. 5, 1953

Sun rises at 5:45 a. m.; sun sets at 5:20 p. m., E.S.T.
Weather, rain.

The Temperature

The lowest temperature recorded on The Freeman thermometer during the night was 53 degrees. The highest figure recorded up to noon today was 53 degrees.

Weather Forecast

New York city and vicinity—Mostly cloudy this afternoon, tonight and Tuesday with chance of some light rain; cooler this afternoon than yesterday with highest temperatures in upper 60's. Cooler tonight with lowest temperatures around 50 degrees and highest Tuesday again in the 60's. Gentle to moderate north to northeast winds this afternoon and tonight, becoming moderate east to southeast early Tuesday and shifting to northwest late Tuesday.

Eastern New York — Partly cloudy tonight and Tuesday. Not much change in temperature. Low tonight, 36 to 44.

The city engineer's weather report at 10 a. m. today: High temperature 52 degrees, barometric pressure 29.99 inches, wind NE at 6 MPH. Yesterday's high temperature 79 at 3 p. m., 53 at 6 a. m. Mean 66, normal 56. Relative humidity 96 per cent at 8 a. m., 61 at 3 p. m. Barometric pressure 30.21 at 12:30 p. m. and 29.95 at 6.

Warehouse Destroyed

Edgewater, N. J., Oct. 5 (AP)—Fire, punctuated with blasts, destroyed a big storage warehouse of the Falk Oil Co., early today and caused damage estimated at $300,000. Fire units from eight communities pitched in to battle the flames that rampaged out of control for almost two hours in the Cargill vegetable oil division of Falk Quality Products Co. Eight firefighters were hurt, none seriously. The spectacular fire in the 800 by 500-foot building on River road could be seen clearly from both sides of the Hudson river.
